INADEQUATE PIPING

Antiquated Lines Major Worry Of Water District

By JOANNE GRANT

(Second of two articles)

OUT OF SERVICE—Badly deteriorated water pipe is inspected by Ted Harrington, a water district corrosion technician. This pipe, of cast iron, is from a marshy area. There are dozens of others at district offices, samples of other kinds kinds of corrosion and age. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Marin Municipal Water District, well aware of the small, old and corroded pipes that abound in its territory, nevertheless contends it is providing sufficient, safe water for domestic use — all it is required to do.

Regardless of the problems that face fire departments and the residents they serve, the district does not have to provide water to fight fires, although several water districts operating under similar circumstances have accepted it as a moral responsibility.

Marin Municipal is working on it. All new areas are required to have a minimum pipe size of six inches and be otherwise designed for fire protection.

And, the district has set up a program by which fire districts can improve the distribution system for fire protection, in effect at their own expense.

Fire districts are responsible for installation and maintenance of fire hydrants, but must also pay a monthly "standby" fee to the water district for maintenance of a short piece of pipe between the hydrant and the main water line.

The fee paid by the city, usually $1.50 per month per hydrant, is "saved" by the water district. When enough accumulates to make it worthwhile, the district returns what the fire district has paid, providing the fire district matches it, to make improvements to the distribution system.

Fire chiefs complain that while the water district claims credit under this scheme for contributing to improvements, it is actually fire district or city money that is used for this purpose with the water district putting out not a penny.

The district also routinely increases the size of water lines when it is forced to relocate them for street improvements.

The district has also taken steps to prevent corrosion of the pipes, a control program that has been in effect for five years and is effective, according to district officials.

But improvements are slow when they must be spread over the 760 miles of pipe in the system.

District figures show 63.9 miles of two-inch pipe, the smallest there is. J. Dietrich Stroeh, a district engineer, said the bulk of the small pipe is in the San Geronimo Valley.

There is 196.6 miles of four-inch pipe, much of it installed "right around the turn of the century" and most of it in Sausalito, Ross, San Anselmo and San Rafael, Stroeh said.

Most of the smaller pipe was installed before there was a Marin Municipal Water District.

However, pipe is designed to last a long time, 100 to 150

New Offer Ties Up Land Sale

San Rafael City Council last night received a higher offer for corporation yard property along Francisco Boulevard and held up sale for another two weeks. (Other San Rafael City Council stories on page 28.)

The latest offer came from two automobile dealers reportedly willing to pay $541,359, without any deduction for a real estate broker's commission.

Up for approval was a contract to sell to two other automobile dealers for $523,869, less a broker's fee, giving the city a lower net return.

NEW OFFER

Attorney James M. Kennedy made the new offer in behalf of two automobile dealers already in the vicinity, Leon Felton, Volkswagen dealer at 601 Francisco Boulevard, and E. F. Sweeney of British Motors, 439 Francisco Boulevard.

Councilmen had agreed verbally March 17 to sell to two other automobile dealers, George Dexter, who proposed to move his Toyota agency from Larkspur, and Hercules Viglienzone, who planned to move his Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury agency from its present location at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue.

The original offer from Dexter and Viglienzone was to purchase 3.25 acres at $425,478 and lease an additional acre, but this was revised to a purchase of 4.25 acres at $523,896.

BROKER'S FEE

Kennedy contended that with a broker's fee of about $26,000, the city's net would be about $497,000 under the Dexter-Viglienzone proposal.

He outlined the terms of the Sweeney-Felton proposal, $75,000 down, $150,000 by the end of this year and the balance by the end of 1971. After this year, they would pay 7 per cent interest on the unpaid balance, Kennedy reported.

Felton and Sweeney would pay $3.10 a square foot, the equivalent of $3.26 a square foot if a broker's commission was involved, he said.

With Mayor C. Paul Bettini absent, Councilman Harry A. Barbier said he would prefer to postpone action on the sale until all councilmen were present. Those present voted unanimously to put the matter over until May 19.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. advised the city to retain the pumping plant site. He said the city is due to receive $56,500 from the state for it when it is taken for Highway 101 widening.

The council's handling of the sale was rapped by Richard M. Sangster of 192 Duran Drive,

ELIZABETH BLODGETT

Overweight Gym Teacher Loses Fight

Elizabeth R. Blodgett, Redwood High School's overweight gym teacher, today lost her year-long battle against the Tamalpais High School District despite a sympathetic judge who indicated he doesn't think she is too fat to teach physical education.

In ruling against Miss Blodgett, who has asked that the district rehire her, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court described the case as "troublesome."

Judge Wilson said that he had difficulty in setting aside his own view of the evidence and what he thought should have been the decision, in order to consdier only the questions presented by the mandate proceeding.

The judge said he was confined to ruling whether or not Miss Blodgett had a fair trial and whether or not her firing was for cause under the law.

Although the judge blasted school officials for advertisements and petitions which appeared at the time of Miss Blodgett's hearing last May, he said he could not rule that she did not have a fair hearing.

Furthermore, he said that although evidence showed Miss Blodgett's skill as a teacher, there was "also substantial evidence that her weight problem did have an adverse effect upon her teaching ability."

Miss Blodgett was not rehired last spring as a gym teacher because Redwood High School Principal Donald E. Kreps said her weight gave her the wrong image for a physical education teacher.

A hearing officer from the state Department of Education conducted a hearing and upheld the district in releasing her.

Since that time, Miss Blodgett who once tipped the scales at 253 pounds but had dropped to 211 by last June, has worked only infrequently as a substitute teacher in districts outside Marin.

She has said that other school

Navy Tosses Out Pueblo Charges

Admirals' Findings: Trials For Officers

LLOYD M. BUCHER
'Suffered enough already'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Navy Secretary John H. Chafee announced today he has rejected a recommendation by a naval court of inquiry that the skipper and another officer of the USS Pueblo be court-martialed. He said everyone involved in the incident had suffered enough.

Chafee said recommendations also were dismissed or reprimands against a third officer of the intelligence ship, seized by North Korea in January, 1968, and an admiral and a captain who had a hand in setting up its mission.

"I am convinced . . . that neither individual discipline nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident," Chafee said in a statement.

Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, of San Diego, captain of the ship, and the officer in charge of its so-called research detachment, Lt. Stephen R. Harris of Jacksonville, Fla., were recommended to be tried by general court martial by the inquiry court which conducted lengthy hearings earlier this year in Coronado, Calif.

In addition, the board of admirals recommended a "letter of admonition" to the ship's executive officer, Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., of San Diego, and "letters of reprimand" to Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, Newport, R. I., then U. S. naval commander in the Japan area, and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, Greenville, Tex., who was director of the Pacific naval security group at the time.

The inquiry followed release last December of the 82 surviving members of the original crew of 83 taken prisoner when the ship was captured and forced into a North Korean port.

The court's charges against Johnson and Gladding specified failure to anticipate the Pueblo incident, but Chafee said:

"This basic, general accusation, however, could be leveled in various degrees at responsible superior authorities in the chain of command and control and in the collateral support structure.

"The major factor which led to the Pueblo's lonely confrontation by unanticipatedly bold and hostile forces," Chafee said, "was the sudden collapse of a premise which had been assumed at every level of responsibility and upon which

Sausalito Rail Link Abandonment Hit

SAN FRANCISCO—The California Public Utilities Commission has appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission to overrule a recommendation that rail service to Southern Marin be abandoned.

The California commission, in a 20-page statement of exceptions to the recommendation by an ICC examiner, asserted that the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co., contrary to its allegations of substantial losses, "has and will not experience any significant loss from the Sausalito Branch operation, but in fact operated at a profit for 1966, 1967 and nine months of 1968."

The statement, written by commission attorney Vincent V. MacKenzie of Ross, also cited decisions of the federal commission and federal courts that "the test of public convenience and necessity does not require that the Sausailto Branch be financially self-sufficient."

Even if "at worst, only minimal loss has occurred," the branch "was shown to be vitally necessary to the shippers in Sausalito, the City of Sausalito and the people of Marin County through its transit district."

The PUC statement, noting that the railroad's net income figures were not available at the ICC hearing on the matter in San Francisco last November, requested the ICC to "take official notice" that the company had a net income of $1,171,388 in 1968.

The line also should be kept in service because it figures in the planning of the Marin County Transit District, the PUC statement said.

A decision by the ICC on the railroad's application to abandon the 7.5-mile line is not expected for several months.

Youths Clash Again With Madison Police

COMBINED AP & UPI

MADISON, Wis. — Rebellious youths and police clashed for a third time last night, but arrests and injuries declined sharply as hippies and students diluted their strength by roving over a wider section of town.

Rock-throwing bands took to the streets moments after booing down an hour-long appeal for calm by Mayor William Dyke, who earlier in the day had declined to impose a curfew on youths in the "hippie haven" area near the University of Wisconsin campus.

Sporadic vandalism—including the firebombing of the office of the state insurance commissioner — continued for several hours. But early today police reported the situation was considerably calmer than the previous two nights, when more than 100 were arrested and about 66, including 18 policemen, were injured.

One policeman was admitted to Madison General Hospital Monday night and was in satisfactory condition after apparently being hit with a rock.

The most serious incident was the firebombing of the office of Insurance Commissioner Robert Haase. Firemen quickly extinguished a small blaze but there was smoke damage.

Police said two 19-year-old youths were in custody and would be charged with arson.

Dyke, 32, who has been in office two weeks, spoke to the youths for about one hour from in front of a grocery store. Moments after he finished about 150 youths erected a street barricade and set it aflame.

About a half dozen additional arrests were made bringing to 110 the total arrested since police broke up a hippie block party last Saturday. Hospitals treated five persons for injuries or the effects of irritant gas, including a 6-month-old child exposed to tear gas.

Rain helped to curb the disorder by 2:30 a.m. today.

Centennial At Purdue; 229 Arrests

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Campus police at Purdue University arrested 229 students at a "camp-in" today—Purdue's 100th anniversary—five hours before Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch was to speak.

At the City College of New York, the school was open for its 20,000 students for the first time since April 22, after black and Puerto Rican students ended a campus occupation.

In Montgomery, Ala., police yesterday arrested 365 Negro students from Alabama State College as they demonstrated outside the State Capitol.

At Purdue, Frederick L Hovde, university president, ordered an end to the "camp-in," saying he feared a violent counter- protest. The "camp-in" began last Wednesday as part of a protest against a tuition increase next fall.

About 20 uniformed campus policemen, wearing white helmets and face shields and armed with pistols and mace spray weapons, booked many of the students.

City College President Buell G. Gallagher had said he would not call police to clear demonstrators from the campus.

Bill Would Lengthen Lawmakers' Terms

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill increasing the terms of state senators and assemblymen by two years was approved today by the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee.

The bill by Assemblyman L. E. Townsend, D-Torrance, would extend the present four-year term of senators to six years. Assemblymen, who now serve for two-year terms, would be elected for four years.

Fortas Fee Brings GOP Demand For Justices To Report Income

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a direct reference to the Abe Fortas controversy, Republican congressional leaders said today that Congress should consider legislation to require Supreme Court justices to make public sources of all outside income.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House Leader Gerald R. Ford made the suggestion following a conference with President Richard M. Nixon at the White House.

They said the controversy involving disclosure that Justice Fortas accepted —and later returned —a fee of $20,000 from the family foundation of a convicted financier was discussed briefly during the meeting with Nixon.

Ford said the "argument is persuasive" that members of the high court be required to divulge their income from sources other than the federal payroll.

The Michigan congressman said the Fortas case and its implications were serious and they should be considered by the Congress on a nonpartisan basis to "see what proper course of action might be taken."

In a related proposal, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who led the 1968 battle against President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of Fortas to be chief justice, said the Senate Judiciary Committee might serve as a forum for Fortas to fully explain the case.

There were scattered calls for Fortas to resign, and Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, even called for his impeachment. The reactions came yesterday after Fortas admitted receiving but later returning a fee from the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson, now serving a one-year sentence for stock manipulation.

As an associate justice, Fortas is now paid $60,000 a year. There is, however, no regulation prohibiting him or the other members of the court from engaging in activities that would bring in additional income. The canons of judicial ethics, prescribed by the American Bar Association, apply to all judges but do not have the force of law.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the Senate Judiciary Committee should "make itself available" if Fortas desires a forum to answer questions raised in this week's issue of Life magazine.

The Life article said the fee was $20,000 and Fortas held it for 11 months before returning it. Fortas, in a statement Sunday, mentioned neither the amount nor how long he had the fee nor exactly what services he would have rendered. But he said flatly he has "not accepted any fee or emolument" from Wolfson since becoming a member of the court.

Reagan's Tax Reform Plans Face Another Open Hearing

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax reform program, already picked over by the state's administrative tax experts, today faced another inspection by public and private agencies who would be affected by the proposed changes.

The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee last night heard a highly technical discussion by tax experts on the effects of the governor's tax package. It was evident the legislation—at present sketchily outlined toward long-range goals—faces major amending.

Chairman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said purpose of the special night hearings was to consider the effects of the entire package.

Tonight's hearing will be carried live by KQED (Channel 9), beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"We are doing our arithmetic," he told the committee.

The governor's tax package is two-pronged—to shift part of the burden of taxation from property to income and to provide more state aid for schools.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, sponsor of the Reagan tax plan, said it "is simply that we increase income tax and decrease the property tax."

He said the program also "attacks the education gap between high wealth and low wealth school districts."

Caspar W. Weinberger, director of finance, said the long-range goal was to increase the state's share of school support from the present 34 per cent to 80 per cent.

Both Weinberger and Biddle insisted the plan would nearly

HAYAKAWA DANCES

Ellington's Jazz Calms College

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Not all the stomping at San Francisco State is the kind that is aimed at hurting somebody.

There was some of the happy brand of stomping on campus yesterday as Duke Ellington played a concert for 3,000 cheering on-lookers, which wound up with many of them dancing to the Duke's jazz beat.

One of the dancers was the irrepressible acting president S. I Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, who drew a lot of cheers and a scattering of boos when he made a few remarks and then did an impromptu dance with a coed.

Hayakawa, a jazz buff, arranged the concert personally and called it a "fantastic success."

"We needed some kind of happy event that everyone could enjoy after months of disturbance and misery," Hayakawa said.

But, as usual, there was controversy, too.

A group of religious leaders at the campus ecumenical house had tried to get the concert called off and appealed to Ellington not to participate because he was being used as "a political pawn" by Hayakawa.

Hayakawa shot back a telegram to the leaders that the implication that Ellington "who I have known as a friend for many years could be duped into being made "a tool of a racist political scheme' is an insult to his intelligence and character."

But Ellington, whose 70th birthday was honored last week at a White House party, seemed able to heal wounds with ease.

He announced that the program was being dedicated to those who want to see a better black studies program at the school.

Draft Laws Overhaul Sought By Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell today proposed an overhaul of the draft which would broaden the basis for conscientious objection to include young men opposed to the Vietnam War.

The New York Republican said the test should be whether a man's "objection to war in its present historical context is truly based upon conscience, upon a profound moral repugnance against killing."

Goodell said in a statement it is unrealistic to require a conscientious objector to say what his attitude would have been toward long-past wars.

"No man can honestly say what his conscience dictates except in the situation with which he is actually confronted," the senator said.

Goodell's proposal comes in the wake of a U.S. District Court Ruling in Boston last month that the current Selective Service Act is unconstitutional as applied to nonreligious conscientious objectors. Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. said the law violates the First Amendment because it does not allow for atheists or agnostics to claim exemption from military duty on grounds they oppose killing in Vietnam.

Justice Department attorneys have given notice they will appeal in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Goodell also proposed a lottery system for the selection of draftees. He said 19 year olds should be the prime selection group, with their main exposure to the draft limited to that one year. In recent years men generally have been apt to be drafted up to age 26.

The senator advocated abolition of student deferments.

"The draft system should not be used as an incentive for higher education," he said. "Any automatic student deferment tends to discriminate against the less educated and less affluent."

Despair Cited In Army Sitdown

FORT ORD (AP)—Overcrowding and the shooting death of a prisoner tended to increase emotional stress and a sense of despair in the San Francisco Presidio stockade, a psychiatrist has testified in the mutiny court-martial of 14 men.

Dr. Henry Werdegar of San Francisco made the statement yesterday at the military trial of 14 of the 27 prisoners who staged a singing sitdown protest Oct. 14.

Werdegar said the defendant he examined, Pvt. Francis Schiro, 21, of St. Petersburg, Fla., suffered from "inadequate personality" and "chronic depression," through he was not psychotic.

U.S. Soldiers Withstand Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops struck back today against the massive American air and ground campaign along the Cambodian border with two attacks that killed 13 Americans and wounded 84. But the Americans from the 1st Air Cavalry Division killed at least 138 of the attackers and another 33 surrendered, the U.S. Command reported.

In the heaviest enemy attack since the border war flared anew two months ago, more than 1,000 North Vietnamese troops stormed out of the bamboo jungles about 2 a.m. behind a 50-round mortar barrage and slammed into patrol base Carolyn.

The base in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, was defended by 200 Air Cavalrymen with eight artillery guns. The attackers seized six of the base's bunkers and held them for about an hour before they were driven back.

The North Vietnamese finally fled to the north after four hours of fighting, beaten back by artillery guns firing at point-blank range, helicopter gunships firing rockets and fighter-bombers.

U.S. spokesmen said at least 130 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and another 33 surrendered, many of them wounded, after they were surrounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

At the same time, other North Vietnamese troops made a 150-round mortar attack and light ground probe against another patrol base of the 1st Air Cavalry 20 miles to the south. Four air cavalrymen and eight North Vietnamese were reported killed there and 25 air cavalrymen wounded.

The U.S. Command announced two more American helicopters were shot down and destroyed by enemy ground fire yesterday, raised to 2,597 the total reported lost in the war.

The American Association of Museums lists 4,595.

Officials Ask To Lift Bans At Stanford

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University administrators have eased slightly their tough stand against 39 student dissidents placed on temporary suspension last week after they broke into Encina Hall and occupied it for more than six hours.

The university yesterday asked Santa Clara County Superior Judge Stanley Evans to amend a restraining order keeping the students off campus. Under terms of the amended order, the suspended students would be permitted to remain in campus dormitories and use recreational and auditorium facilities.

FACE TRIALS

The students are still to be banned, however, from "any classroom, laboratory, library or other academic building or any administrative building" until they are tried by the student judicial council.

The temporary restraining order will be argued next Tuesday morning.

Local 1816 of the American Federation of Teachers has written Stanford President Kenneth Pitzer protesting suspension of three of its members as a result of the Encina Hall occupation.

The letter said the court injunction in effect terminated the teachers' employment. The union warned that the issues must be negotiated regarding the three teachers or strike sanction would be sought from the Santa Clara County Labor Council.

INSTITUTE

The activists are protesting war-related research both on campus and off campus at the big Stanford Research Institute in nearby Menlo Park. Some 150 students, most of them of the militant April 3rd Movement, met with heads of the institute yesterday for what was billed as a "community dialogue."

And last night, the April 3rd Movement held another in its series of "tactics sessions" with some 250 in attendance.

Bennett Seeks Court Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former Public Utilities Commission member is petitioning the State Supreme Court for a review of a $6.8 million gas rate increase granted the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

William M. Bennett, of Kentfield, the one-time commissioner, identified himself as a "consumer spokesman."

He said the PUC granted the increase although the hearing examiner, Carol T. Coffey, wrote commissioners he did not believe PG&E was entitled to the boost.

He also said his request for the subpoena of corporation officers was not granted and that the hearings were conducted "in an arbitrary, unfair manner."

Senate Approves Nixon's Choices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed President Nixon's nomination of two men to sensitive civil rights posts ir the areas of schools and industry.

Allen

James E. Allen Jr. was approved as U.S. commissioner of education by a 55-15 vote over objections of Southern senators who objected to his policy while New York state commissioner of education of busing children to achieve racial balance in schools. Allen also will serve as assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Voice-vote confirmation was given to William H. Brown, a Negro attorney from Philadelphia, as a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission after Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., withdrew his unexplained objections.

Brown

Sharp debate preceded the vote on the nomination of Allen who had testified at a Senate hearing on his nomination that a good education for every child can best be provided in an integrated setting.

Among the Southerners attacking Allen's appointment on the Senate floor were Sens. James B. Allen, D-Ala., Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Bus Depot Blast

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion ripped a Chicago Transit Authority bus refueling depot last night, injuring almost 70 persons and destroying four buses.

Six of the injured remained hospitalized overnight, two in critical condition. The others were treated and released, mostly for cuts caused by glass which showered over an area a block beyond the garage on the West Side.

Fire department officials blamed the blast on leaking propane fuel in a refueling shed adjacent to the bus depot. There was no indication what caused the fuel to ignite.

Abernathy's Plans

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference says it will move a Mother's Day civil rights march Sunday from Washington to Charleston, where the SCLC is leading demonstrations for striking Negro hospital workers.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the SCLC, also announced plans yesterday for a sympathy demonstration Saturday in another large South Carolina city — Greenville, 200 miles to the north & to support the Charleston strikers.

Abernathy said he will lead both marches.

Vote On Greeks

LONDON (AP) — The Council of Europe's committee of ministers voted today to defer a decision whether to expel the Greek military-backed regime from the organization.

The committee voted 14-2 with 2 abstentions to postpone action until its next session in December. Greece and Cyprus voted against the motion and France and Switzerland abstained.

Meat Costs Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the rising cost of meat, a major factor in the unexpected jump in this year's food prices, comes at a time when there are abundant supplies of livestock.

"The strength in livestock and meat prices in the face of larger supplies is due to rising consumer incomes, unusually low unemployment rates and increases in population," the department said yesterday.

Officials indicated, in effect, that higher prices on both the wholesale and retail level, are the result of more people willing to pay more money to eat more beef.

Senator Warns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sugar substitute cyclamate is a potentially serious health hazard and products that use it should not be sold—except on prescription, says Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

In a statement yesterday, Nelson said there is scientific evidence that cyclamate can cause a variety of ailments, including high blood pressure, liver disease and skin irritation.

"Tens of millions of children and adults across the nation are unwittingly being exposed to potentially serious health hazards by the unnecessary consumption of cyclamate-sweetened soft drinks, cereals desserts and sugar-coated pills," Nelson said.

Army Doctors Unveil Meningitis Vaccine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP) —Army medical researchers have announced a new vaccine to prevent spinal meningitis, a serious disease that periodically erupts at military bases in epidemic proportions.

The vaccine "reduces the transmission of spinal meningitis from person to person" doctors from the Department of Bacterial Diseases at Walter Reed Army Hospital's Institute of Research in Washington reported yesterday to the American Society of Clinical Investigation meeting here.

Dr. Emil C. Gotschlich, who headed the discovery team, said the vaccine is "quite a way" from public use and still is in the experimental stages at army camps.

Dr. Gotschlich said it is not known if the vaccine can prevent spinal meningitis in persons who are susceptible to it and have been exposed, although it produces antibodies to the disease.

Spinal meningitis is a contagious disease passed by human breath. Although it begins like a cold the patient may go into a high fever, convulsions, a coma and possibly die.

Each year from 200 to 500 military recruits contact spinal meningitis and of those about 40 die, said Dr. Gotschlich, now an assistant professor at Rockefeller University in New York.

Some 3,000 civilians also contract the disease each year and of these about 900 die, he said.

All testing of the vaccine which took six years to develop has been at military camps across the nation during the past two years.

Dr. Gotschlich said the vaccine is "perfectly safe" and that no adverse reactions have occurred in the "several thousand volunteers" tested so far.

Lebanese Army Planning Crackdown On Guerrillas

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Angered by three attacks on its men, the Lebanese army says it will crack down on the Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon. But its announcement did not specify whether the "retaliatory measures" would include preventing commando raids across the border into Israel.

One soldier was killed and three army trucks were destroyed in the clashes during the weekend, the army said.

The army blamed Al Saika, a guerrilla group affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party, for the recent incidents.

It was the first official admission of a widening split between the army and the guerrillas, who want to use Lebanon as a base for raids against Israel. Lebanon is half Christian and half Moslem, and the government has opposed giving the guerrillas free rein, fearing Israel would retaliate with strikes against Lebanon.

Jose Trujillo Dies In Puerto Rico Home

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Jose A. Trujillo, brother of the late dictator of the Dominican Republic, Rafael L. Trujillo, died early today of heart failure. He was 73.

Trujillo, who lived in Carolina, near San Juan, recently had a heart attack while visiting Spain. Survivors include his widow, Candida Garcia de Trujillo.

Price Reelected Belvedere Mayor

Price, of 7 West Shore Road, is president of Price Building Specialities Inc., San Francisco.

He is serving his second term on the Belvedere City Council, has served on the Reed School District board and as president of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

He and his wife, Jeanne, have two children.

Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel was elected vice mayor, succeeding Mrs. Sally Mathews.

Drechsel, 54, is a regional editor of U.S. News and World Report. He has served on the council since 1964.

Belvedere's TV Cable Fuss Nearing An End

Belvedere's long standing quarrel with its cable television franchise holder appeared near an end last night as City Mgr. William L. Cavalli reported telephone poles would be available to the firm in about a week.

The council has repeatedly criticized the firm for its slowness in providing cable service to all of the city, while Robert Lewis of Cable Television of Marin has blamed Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the delays.

However, the council denied Lewis' request to place an antenna near the intersection of Beach Road and Belvedere Avenue, the tip of Belvedere.

Lewis had made the request so he could provide two Sacramento channels to subscribers as required in his franchise, William Rafter, secretary of the city's planning commission, reported.

He said the planning commission turned down the request after it received a petition signed by 108 persons opposing it and because the 20-foot antenna would interrupt the view of the William Booths.

"It was felt the two Sacramento stations weren't worth it," said Rafter.

Councilman John R. Moore commented, "It doesn't seem to me we should be making a decision on whether we should get Sacramento stations."

And Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel speculated that people on the other side of Belvedere would sign a petition for the antenna if it would improve their reception.

Cavalli reported Lewis said the new antenna would not provide a better quality signal than is now being received on the channels provided.

Joseph Sheeks, representing Mr. and Mrs. William Booth, told the council Lewis represents to the county that he has an antenna site in the unincorporated area of Tiburon.

The council agreed to deny the request and review it in six months.

In other business, the council received the first draft of an ordinance aimed principally at controlling houseboats.

The ordinance provides any houseboat owner who wishes to moor in approved anchorage areas must obtain a permit from the city, must have access to public roads and must be connected to the city's sewer system.

The council agreed to study the ordinance until the next meeting.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

BEAUTIFICATION—Received a letter from Roberta Ferguason asking the council to form a committee to find ways of preserving the natural beauty of Belvedere so nothing like Tamalpais Creek occurs in Belvedere. Mayor Thomas S. Price said he believes the parks and recreation commission serves that purpose.

DUMP — Heard a complaint from residents of Lagoon Road that the area along Lagoon Road which the council approved for use as temporary storage of garden clippings by the Belvedere Land Co. was actually being used as a construction yard and the council agreed to investigate.

ARK — Agreed it "would not be adverse" to supporting a park and recreation plan to permit teen-agers to work on the ark for a coffee house this summer instead of having an organized recreation program.

BCDC — Approved a resolution urging the legislature to continue the existance of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission until a permanent successor organization has been created.

CLEANUP — Set the week of May 22 as spring cleanup week and announced extra pickups would be made on the days of regular garbage collection.

Church Must Undergo Repairs

There is no immediate hazard in terms of occupation of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

This was reported to the church's congregation Sunday following an engineering survey revealing the building at Fifth Avenue and E Street does not meet present day earthquake resistance standards.

Preliminary studies made by an architect and engineer show a general deterioration in the chancellery walls as well as in the mortar and exterior stone facing in the 65-year-old edifice. This points up the need for corrections, according to senior pastor Charles C. Griffin.

Griffin said that no cost estimates for repairs or alternatives were presented at the meeting but that definite recommendations are expected to be ready by July.

Reed School Board To Consider Budget

Needed staff reductions to balance the 1969-70 budget will be discussed when the Reed School District Board meets at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

The board also will hear a report and recommendations for action from the drug abuse committee.

Handicapped Meeting Is Set

The Marin Chapter of the California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children will hold its last meeting of the school year at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Bahia Vista School library, San Rafael.

Richard O. Pancoat, executive director of Sunny Hills in San Anselmo will discuss the normal adolescent and ways to deal with teen-agers.

New officers will be installed, including Harrold R. Cochran, president; Mrs. J. V. Holm, first vice presdient; John I. Arena, second vice president; Mrs. John Taylor, secretary, and Mrs. John Marshall, treasurer.

Oil Firms Hit Proposed Ordinance

The Petaluma City Council last night agreed it will pass an ordinance regulating the proximity of service stations, after dismissing objections lodged by a representative of major oil companies.

The ordinance stipulates that no more than two service stations may be located at any intersection and that others must be a minimum of 500 feet apart. It also requires that the stations be at least 350 feet away from a school, playground, park or place of public gathering.

The ordinance, as approved by the planning commission in meetings with local service station operators, received general council approval, but wording in several places was changed to make canopy provisions permissive rather than mandatory. The ordinance will be posted again and brought up for adoption at the May 19 meeting.

Virgil McNab, of the Western Oil Gas Distributors, said the ordinance was "highly discriminatory."

Councilman Robert S. Lipman spoke in favor of the ordinance, saying that local service station operators had favored the measure.

The council may, however, later consider amending the ordinance to grant exceptions to service stations at highway interchanges.

The Petaluma City Council also:

BOAT LAUNCHING — Received approval from the state Public Utilities Commission to construct Petroleum Avenue at a grade crossing of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for an access road to the boat launching facility

ENBANKMENT — Awarded contract for a roadway embankment project on Magnolia Avenue to the Argonaut Construction Co. at a low bid of $3,580.

SCHOOL MEETING — Agreed to attend a joint meeting with the Petaluma Board of Education and Old Adobe School District board to discuss the development of city parks adjacent to school sites, educational parks and greenbelt areas.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE — Agreed to consider naming a representative to the citizen's advisory committee of the Petaluma Board of Education to study the possibility of developing an ducational park in East Peraluma.

ELECTIONS — Adopted ordinances calling for a bond election and election of public officers to city council and board of education on June 10

Petaluma Budget Up; Tax Rate To Remain

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last night presented a preliminary budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year of $2,866,858, including recommendation to the city council that the tax rate of $1.65 be continued for the fifth consecutive year.

Meyer said that with utilization of $48,000 in reserves from the 1967-68 fiscal year, the general fund budget would be balanced.

He warned, however, that expanded services due to the rapid growth of the city will be needed before January and urged the council to investigate other sources of revenue for the general fund.

The largest increase in the budget was under personal services at $149,424 or more than 16 per cent higher than last year. Meyer said this was caused by the $72,000 committed to employee salary increases last January and with the addition of new employees.

The new employees included two firemen, two police officers, a civil engineering associate and steno-clerk in the planning department, a building inspector, a librarian and a maintenance man for parks and recreation. The department heads had originally requested 16 additional employees, Meyer told the council.

Meyer reminisced that the tax rate was set at $1.81 per $100 Assessed valuation when he became city manager in 1962. The following year it was reduced to $1.79 and in 1965 to the present $1.65 rate. He said the reduction came from a reduction of bond service needs in the city.

The tax rate includes $1.50 general fund taxes and 15 cents in debt service.

Following the usual procedure, Meyer said the new major capital outlay requests will be considered in September when the 1968-69 budget has been balanced.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked Meyer to schedule a series of public hearings on the proposed budget.

By department, the preliminary budget recommendations (with this year's budget in parenthesis) are: city clerk, $15,588 ($14,365); finance, $54,671 ($52,267); city attorney, $20,360 ($18,876); city manager, $31,817 ($31,538); planning, $29,600 ($26,000); city council, $5,049) ($4,881); retirement, insurance and nondepartmental, $216,477 ($197,063);

Police, $281,216 ($265,313); fire, $270,525 ($256,372); ambulance, $16,672 ($14,500); animal control, $13,490 ($16,349); inspection, $24,818 ($24,282); engineering, $76,050 ($71,388); weed abatement, $12,128 ($11,957); streets, $170,161 ($169,778); building maintenance, $30,905 ($31,055); corporation shop, $13,801 ($13,358);

Recreation and parks, $96,362 ($97,208); library, $67,070 ($65,009); swimming pool maintenance, $22,600 ($23,950); recreational and instructional swimming, $16,905 ($17,288); general reserve, $20,000 ($31,000); building abatement fund, $10,000 ($10,000); parking meter, $24,760 ($31,428);

Sanitary sewer, $150,090 ($133,963); water division, $136,344 ($131,573); water department well pumping, $17,628 ($17,038); water treatment, $11,173 ($11,009); water transmission distribution, $73,411 ($69,148); water division, customer records, $51,531 ($51,424); water division, administration, $106,318 ($95,976).

every other aspect had been based —freedom of the high seas."

The court of inquiry faulted Harris for failure to tell Bucher "of a certain deficiency" in the "classified support capabilities" of the ship's "research detachment" and failing to see that all the intelligence material was destroyed before the North Koreans took over the ship.

Murphy also was accused of failing to organize and lead the crew on the day of the seizure, especially in destruction of classified material.

While recommending that Bucher be tried, Chafee said, the court did find that he upheld morale in a superior manner, provided leadership and contributed to the ability of the crew to hold together during the agony of their 11 months in prison.

The U. S. Pacific area commander declined to accept the court's recommendations for trial of Bucher and Harris, but recommended letters of reprimand instead. The chief of Naval operations upheld the Pacific commander's view.

The court had recommended that Bucher be tried on five charges:

Permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist.

Failure to take "immediate and aggressive protective measures" when his ship was attacked.

Complying with orders of the North Korean gunboats to follow them into the port of Wonsan.

"Negligently" failing to destroy classified material aboard the Pueblo and permitting some to fall into North Korean hands.

"Negligently" failing to insure in advance that his officers and crew were prepared for emergency destruction of classified material.

Instructor Raps Administrators: Support Gap

It was not "difficulty in the classroom," but lack of support from the Sausalito school administration which led him to ask for reassignment, teacher Bruce Shaw said today.

Shaw, hired by the Mill Valley School District, was assigned to an eighth grade class at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito under the Mill Valley-Sausalito exchange program, but after seven weeks on the job he asked for a transfer.

Shaw said his professional opinions weren't backed up enough by the Sausalito administration for him to be effective. He said there was a difference in concept of the way the class should be handled, and "my side wasn't adequately supported."

Mill Valley Supt. James A. Collins said last week Shaw "had some difficulty in the classroom" and asked for the reassignment. Shaw said today that was not the case.

Shaw, who was a long-term substitute teacher at Martin Luther King, is being assigned as a long-term substitute in Mill Valley schools. Another teacher is being hired for the Martin Luther King class.

Bay-Delta Sewage Plan Held Useless

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A proposed $2 billion regional sewage system throughout the Bay Area and Delta will not work because salt and fresh waters cannot mix fast enough, the state Water Resources Control Board was told yesterday by a Santa Venetia engineer.

The result of discharging huge quantities of sewage waste — from a few regional treatment plans will be that the waste will float on top of the salt water, and pollute ocean and bay beaches, according to Fred J. Brooks of 67 Vendola Drive.

Instead, the state board should consider returning treated waste water to the water table via channels "through many available hills."

Brooks also cautioned that the proposed regional plan would be vulnerable to "emergency breakdown, overload, disaster and sabotage."

The board, which concluded its final hearing yesterday on the proposal, drawn by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland, will make its recommendations on a regional sewage system next month to the Legislature.

TAX

balance out with no overall increase in taxes statewide.

"There would not be any way the state can make any money out of this," Weinberger said.

The principal elements in the governor's plan are to increase property tax exemptions, resubstitute personal exemptions for tax credits in figuring income taxes and further reduce the business inventory tax.

In the second stage, a flat 1 per cent tax on income would be levied along with a statewide $3.50 per $100 assessed value property tax on business property only.

Revenue from these measures would be returned to school districts on a flat school population basis, abandoning present equalization formulas.

Biddle said he was already thinking of abandoning the governor's proposal to shift from tax credits to personal exemptions in the income tax. He said perhaps a combination of exemptions and credits would be fairer.

He reacted to a study by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post that showed a return to personal exemptions would raise taxes for those with incomes of $10,000 or less and lower them for persons in brackets above $10,000.

Post and the other tax experts were critical of the school financing plan.

Post said the flat 1 per cent income tax for schools penalized lower income families and was "progressive in reverse."

Bagley, noting the state Franchise Tax Board estimated full withholding would increase state revenues $115 million a year, asked why the Reagan administration publicly claimed it would produce only around $20 million.

"There's a technical and a policy level on withholding and sometimes they don't fit," Post quipped.

Reagan has steadfastly opposed full withholding.

pus this morning. Gallagher said: "There are basic injustices in American society, and as long as these are not vigorously attacked, they will continue to have repercussions on campuses all over the country."

The spreading practice of seeking a court order to end campus disturbances, Gallagher added, is "a lot better than calling the police. When honored, it is more effective."

The city's Board of Higher Education had ordered City College reopened, but it did not until about 200 black and Puerto Rican students took down their barricades after a court order banning disruptions had been read.

The student protestors at CCNY were demanding a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies and a change in enrollment to match the ethnic makeup of city high schools, which are about 40 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

Neither demand was met, but the Board of Higher Education, governing unit of the 165,000-student City University, said it would negotiate with the students once they ended their occupation.

Queens College, another city university branch, remained closed today. The board ordered President Joseph McMurray to open the 25,000-student school, and he said he would meet with police to work out plans. The school was closed Friday after a group of black students vandalized the campus.

About 50 students at Bronx Community College, also part of the City University, seized the main building for part of the day, but left after President James A. Colston, accompanied by the Bronx district attorney, promised amnesty in return for immediate withdrawal.

Guilty Plea On Reduced Counts

John Lyle Mead, 52, of Fairfax, yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to reduced charges of petty theft and joyriding.

He had earlier been charged with burglary and auto theft in the disappearance of the television set and car of a San Anselmo man who told police his belongings were missing after he had allowed Mead to stay overnight at his home.

Judge Peter Allen Smith taking note of Mead's long criminal record sent the case to the probation department for a report and set sentencing for May 23.

Youth Convicted On Having Marijuana

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday found John Jeffery Faircloth, 18, of San Francisco guilty of possession of marijuana but split on whether he was guilty of two sales of the same drug.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing on the possession count for June 3.

Vallejo Driver Critically Hurt

A 23-year-old Vallejo man was reported in critical condition today in Merritt Hospital in Oakland after his car collided with another auto on Highway 37 in Southern Sonoma.

The man, Justin D. Parson, is being treated for multiple fractures and head injuries. He was transferred from Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Vallejo.

The California Highway Patrol said Parson apparently fell asleep at the wheel while driving about a mile west of the Sonoma Creek Bridge at 3:30 a.m. Saturday. His car struck one driven by Henry F. Rodriguez, 40, of Antioch. Five other persons were hurt, none seriously.

Mother, Daughter Injured In Wreck

A Mill Valley mother and her infant daughter were treated at Marin General Hospital last night after their car hit a tree at 10:25 p.m. and splashed into a creek beside Tennessee Valley road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The car was driven by Gary M. Cliff, 28, of 65 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, the patrol said. His wife, Mary K. Cliff, 24, was treated for bruises and scrapes on the legs and their daughter, 5-month-old Julie, was treated for water in the lungs.

PIPING

years, Stroeh said. The water main on Fourth Street in San Rafael is 83 years old and no one now working for the water district can recall having trouble with it, he added.

There are also 254 miles of six-inch pipe, some of it so badly encrusted with years of built-up deposits it only provides a three-inch flow, fire chiefs reported.

The deposits came mainly in unlined pipes, Stroeh said, the kind used prior to the late 1930s when the district began installing concrete-lined pipe.

The deposits break off during main flushing or when there is a reversal of the direction the water is traveling in the main. The result, to consumers, is dirty-looking, rust-flecked water.

However, Stroeh said, frequently the problems is with the consumer who has not flushed his hot water tank lately. The water district recommends flushing the tank once a month to prevent a buildup of sedimentation.

Problems also occur in the filled marshland areas of the district where saltwater has corroding effects on pipes.

Of the district's total pipe mileage, 120 miles were installed in the last 10 years and about 30 more miles were replaced.

The parts of the system that are not so new and not so adequate are being studied now in preparation for a possible $10 million bond issue as part of a larger bond issue ($30 million to $40 million total) for transportation of supplemental water from the Russian River to Marin.

The $10 million is seen as enought to make it a "first class" or "cadillac" system, according to water district officials. But Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger who has not seen the plans said he did not know if it would make the whole system adequate for fire protection.

A bond issue is the only way to raise that kind of money, Seeger believes. Raising rates is not the answer, he added.

Even if rates had been raised years ago, "we could never save enough money," said Seeger.

Marin Municipal Water District has raised rates once in 57 years — a 15 per cent increase in 1965. Its rates are about midway on a scale of comparable California water districts.

The possibility of selling some of the water district's considerable property to raise money has not been seriously considered for several years, after a previous attempt was strongly opposed, Seeger said.

Final reports on the plans for the distribution system and bringing supplemental water from the Russian River are due next month, Seeger said.

Boy, 6, Hit By Car Now Is Satisfactory

A six-year old San Rafael boy was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken left leg suffered in an accident Sunday evening.

Police said the boy, Ernest Handy of 1567 Fourth Street, reportedly ran from behind a double-parked garbage truck into the path of a car driven by Claude Eugene Earwood of 37 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, as Earwood tried to pass the garbage truck.

OBITUARIES

Richard M. Kirby's Rites Set

Funeral for Richard M. Kirby of Santa Venetia, who died yesterday of injuries suffered when he fell off a truck, will be a 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Kirby, 22, of 105 Garden Avenue, fell off a flatbed truck Sunday when it rounded a corner at Second and A streets in San Rafael. He died of a fractured skull early yesterday in Marin General Hospital.

Kirby, a native of San Rafael, attended the College of Marin. He was an Army veteran.

Survivors are his parents, Warren T. and Barbara Jean Kirby; a sister, Kristine R., at home; two brothers, Robert James Kirby, also at home, and Warren T. Kirby Jr. of New York, and his grandmother, Mrs. Grace Zubler of San Rafael.

JAMES HUNTSMAN

Funeral for James M. Huntsman, a former resident of Marin, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Napa Valley Memorial Gardens Mortuary, Napa, with burial in the Napa Valley Memorial Gardens Cemetery.

Huntsman, 75, of Napa, died Sunday in a local hospital following a short illness.

A native of Scottsville, Ky., Huntsman was a retired farmer. He lived in Marin from 1937 to 1949 and worked at Marinship.

Survivors are his wife, Effie Huntsman; four sons, Kenneth Huntsman of Forest Knolls, and Carl, James and Leonard Huntsman of Napa; a daughter, Roberta Crews; three brothers, Henry Huntsman of Kentucky; Robert Huntsman of Indianapolis, and Odie Huntsman of Olema; 19 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

EDNER HUNTLEY

Funeral for Edner Huntley, 76, of 924 East Cotati Avenue, Cotati, who died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. A native of Tomales, Miss Huntley had lived in Cotati for eight years.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Cora Conti and Mrs. Abbie Goodale of Petaluma, and Mrs. Clara Waltman of Willow Grove, Pa.

WILLIAM ARMINGTON

Private funeral was held yesterday at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, for William E. Armington II, 52, of Petaluma, who died Saturday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a short illness.

A memorial service was held today at St. John's Episcopal Church, Petaluma. Private inurnment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Armington, who lived at 101 Belleview Street, was born in San Francisco, and had worked as a machinist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Kreske Manufacturing and the Mission Appliance Co. of San Francisco.

For the past year he had been employed by the Koch Luggage Co. of Corte Madera. Armington was a member of the International Association of Machinists, San Rafael Local No. 238.

He is survived by his wife, Geraldine; a son, William E. Armington III of San Diego; three daughters, Susan, Marrie and Margaret, all of Petaluma, and a brother, Robert E. Armington of San Rafael.

HUGH HUDGENS

Services for Hugh Hudgens, 87, of 48 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, will be held tomorrow in his native city, Marion, Ill.

Hudgens, a retired justice of the peace in Marion, died Sunday at a local hospital after an illness. He had been a resident of Marin for five years.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William G. Bourne, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Liley Capodanno of West Caldwell, N.J., and a brother, Eugene Hudgens of Marion, Ill.

PAUL A. O'NEILL

Requiem Mass for Paul A. O'Neill, 81, of San Francisco, father of Paul J. O'Neill of San Rafael, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Monica Church in San Francisco.

O'Neill, chairman of the board of Union Machine Co., San Francisco, died unexpectedly Sunday at his son's home in San Rafael, apparently of a heart attack.

A native of Hartford, Conn., he had been a resident of California for 80 years and was a member of several professional organizations.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eve McKnew and Mrs. Gloria Franceschina, both of San Francisco, his son, Paul, and seven grandchildren.

Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Rosary will be recitea at 8 p.m. today at Carew and English funeral home in San Francisco.

who argued strongly that the council should have taken bids on the property.

The city "has no right to give someone a special bargain," Sangster said. A lot of people are concerned and think it shouldn't be sold under a private sale, he contended.

The city should get the most money it can for the property, he asserted. "I think its a great mistake if you don't take the best offer you can get."

He advocated that the city advertise for bids. "Sale without bids is a bad precedent and a great mistake," he said.

Vice Mayor Fred E. Jensen, who voted against the verbal offer to sell in March, said the council was duty-bound to obtain the greatest amount of money.

He explained that the property had been up for sale for about two to three years, but there weren't any offers until Dexter and Viglienzone made their proposal. The council accepted it verbally, "but legally is not tied," he noted.

Councilman John A. Miskimen said several factors have to be considered to determine which is the best offer. "It's not quite as clearcut as the price tag."

Sangster said the city should draw up its own sale terms, and have people bid on that basis. "I wouldn't let people come and tell you. You say here's the way we'll do it."

Robert A. Roumiguiere, real estate broker representing Dexter and Viglienzone, said those two dealers met all the city's terms and he rejected any inference that the city would be selling for less than value.

How to send your son to college— without feeling the pinch!

A college education is more than a matter of pride and accomplishment. In today's highly specialized and technical world it is an absolute necessity. But the question is how to finance it?

One of the surest ways of building a fund for the higher education of your son is to plan ahead with Manufacturers Life Insurance.

By investing in a Manufacturers Life Participating Policy you get a double safeguard. Your savings accumulate on a planned basis—and they grow through earned dividends and guaranteed interest. By the time your son graduates from high school, your equity can be large enough to finance his higher education.

At the same time, you know that should you die before your son enters university—there will be sufficient funds available for this purpose.

Talk to a representative from Manufacturers Life about this important ambition of yours. He will be able to show you how you can accomplish your goal without feeling the pinch. Call him today!

New Trustee Frowns On Student Survey

Robert W. Corlett was seated last night on the Tamalpais High School District board and promptly found himself standing alone against payment of a $9,250 bill for a community survey that is slated to be taken starting May 14.

Corlett, an attorney, objected to students being questioned on civil disobedience, breaking the law, the draft and the brotherhood of man, saying that if these questions are asked, the board will be open to public attack.

There is a question of whether the district can legally ask students their attitudes on these subjects, the new trustee said.

Board members said that the subject had been thoroughly discussed, that Corlett had been invited to attend but had not appeared and that a contract had been let.

Trustees voted 3-to-1 to pay the partial payment to Field Research Corp of San Francisco, Corlett voting "no," and Frank L. Miller absent. During the session, Trustee Bette Wallace slipped out and set up a meeting for 7 p.m. today between Corlett, County Counsel Richard V. Godino and Trustee David D. Ring to discuss the legality questions.

Corlett, elected April 15 to fill the unexpired term of William B. Lewis, was appointed to the board by the Marin County Board of Education last night at 8 p.m.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis then drove to the Tamalpais High School district office, swore Corlett in and new trustee was seated.

Tamalpais High School District Board Also:

ATHLETES' HAIR — Took no action on request from Gordon W. Pusser and Dr. William J. Filante to make a change in policy on length of athletes' hair. Administrative Asst. Edward J. Neumeir said today that the subject was discussed yesterday morning by Pusser, Filante, Redwood High school authorities and County Counsel Richard V. Godino and it was reported they are trying to come to an agreemennt. A further meeting of that group is to be held.

SUSTITUTES' PAY — Referred to staff a request from the Marin County Substitute Teachers Association asking that salaries be raised from the current $26.50 to $38 a day.

GRANT — Gave a $500 grant to Richard S. Newman, Tamalpais High School mathematics teacher, to study differentiated teaching positions for different salary levels.

ASSEMBLY BILL 2293 — Adopted a resolution supporting Assembly Bill 2293 which amends the education code to include all health and welfare benefits in salary computation.

PARKING TICKETS — Requested Larkspur Police Department to come on the Redwood High School campus to issue tickets to persons with illegally parked cars.

REJECTED CLAIM — Rejected a claim from student Ray Segi who asks $200,000 in damages for injuries allegedly sustained when alighting from a bus and being struck by a car, and referred it to county counsel.

BUDGET WORKSHOP — Set 7:30 p.m., May 15, for a budget workshop at the district office, the session to include discussion of classified and administrative employees salaries.

EMPLOYMENT — Hired Ann Gilda Brauer, English-journalism teacher, Redwood High School, at an estimated salary of $9,175; Carmelita Jane Cullen, Redwood High School school nurse, $8,555; Reiki Endo Schroeder, Redwood High Home eoncomics teacher, $11,355; Elaine C. Grinnel, Drake High English teacher, $8,110; Sandra Schmacher, Drake mathematics teacher, $9,355, and James C. Shuman, Drake mathematics teacher, whose salary is to be determined.

REGISTRATIONS — Accepted resignations from Stuart G. Shepherd Jr. Redwood business teacher, and Carole McWilliams, Tamalpais mathematics teacher, both of whom are moving from the district.

San Rafael Police Recover Loot From Two Burglaries

San Rafael police have recovered about $1,750 worth of stereo equipment, silverware and guns taken in two burglaries in the Terra Linda area, and an alert letter carrier has been credited with solving one of them.

Police said the letter carrier noticed some suspicious activity at 381 Nova Albion Way April 24, took the license number of a strange car and studied two strangers there.

Later when police were investigating a burglary at the home of Elena Foley, 381 Nova Albion Way, the postman offered his information.

Jay Riley, 17, of 330 Arias Street, San Rafael, was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, police said.

In their investigation, police learned that silverware taken from the Foley home had been sold to San Rafael jeweler Arthur F. Deiters, an unsuccessful candidate for the San Rafael City Council in April.

Police said Deiters deals in old gold and silver and when he was told the merchandise was stolen he turned it over to police.

Other items taken from the Foley home were recovered from a friend of Riley's who had purchased them, police said.

The guns, taken from the home of Randall J. Janisse, 92 Elena Circle, were recovered on a tip from an unidentified informant, police said.

No arrests have been made in that case which is still under investigation.

Novato Reports School Burglary, Other Thefts

The theft of four bicycles, the burglary of San Jose Junior High School and the theft of a radio from an auto were reported today by Novato police.

Two of the bikes were taken from 2045 Vineyard Road between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., police said. They belonged to Larry Jay Martin of 1302 Kaehler Street and Randy Solfer of 9 Country Lane. The bikes were valued at $25 and $20.

A $25 bicycle owned by Timothy Wheeler of 15 Stasia Drive was taken from his home in midafternoon and a $30 bike owned by Allen Arden Forest of 617 Manuel Drive was taken from his home.

Burglars took $15 from the pocket of a smock belonging to John Bazzano of 11 Arbor Circle from a room in San Jose Junior High sometime during the weekend, police said. There was no sign of forced entry and the door to the room was locked, they said.

Police also reported the theft last night of a $40 radio from the car of Jeanne L. Corrente as it was parked near her home at 1309 Leafwood Drive.

Theft Of Two Bicycles Reported

Two bicycle thefts were reported to San Rafael police yesterday, officers said today.

A bicycle valued at $62 and owned by Jule K. Ratti of 7 Corte Saratoga was taken from her home and another, valued at $80 and owned by Herbert N. Moran, 31 Watt Avenue, San Rafael, was taken from the parking lot at the Food Mart, Fifth and Tamalpais avenues, police said.

Wreck Victim Reported Fair

Betty Davies, 19, of Penngrove Avenue, Petaluma, was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with multiple head injuries suffered in a motorcycle-car collision at Highways 37 and 121 in Southern Sonoma County, the Califorina Highway Patrol said.

Miss Davies was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Gary N. Smay, 20, of 55 Williams Avenue, Cotati.

The accident occurred at 2 p.m., the patrol said, when a car driven by Franklin T. Martin, 62, of Sonoma, pulled onto Highway 37 into the path of Smay's motorcycle.

Miss Davies was thrown to the pavement as the cycle hit Martin's car. Smay received minor scrapes but did not require hospital treatment.

Arrest Halts Runaways' Picnic Plans

A bacchanalian picnic featuring wine, music and pornographic literature came to an abrupt end yesterday when its teen-age participants — both runaways from Marin Juvenile Hall — were arrested on suspicion of car theft, burglary and escape.

According to sheriff's deputies, an off-duty Novato policeman became suspicious when he saw two youths park a 1965 Mustang on Quietwood Drive and walk down to the creek area.

The car turned out to have been stolen on Saturday, the same day that James Ghilotti, 14, and James B. Kisling, 16, had escaped juvenile hall, the officer said.

Deputies were called and arrested the two youths, who were seated at a picnic table with a bottle of wine, a portable radio and a supply of nudist books.

In the car, officers said they found a ratchet, socket, men's neckties, a small piggy bank and more books featuring nudists.

A third youth, Norman Johnson, 16, who fled the hall at the same time as Ghilotti and Kisling, was arrested Sunday night in Fairfax, also driving a stolen car, according to Inspector Charles Prandi of the juvenile bureau.

Restaurant's Plans Vetoed

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee last night refused to approve site plans and building design for a Taco Bell take out food restaurant at 497 Miller Avenue, committeeman Dorrie Basset reported.

Mrs. Basett said the application was denied because the comprehensive site plan, presented by Taco Bell representatives, was inadequate and the design sketches did not reflect the commission's previous request that the building's architectural style be changed from the standard false mission front.

The commission approved landscape plans for a Union Oil service station at 455 Miller Avenue and building, parking and landscape plans for a warehouse addition to the Goodman Building Supply Co. at 775 Redwood Highway.

Injuries Are Minor In 101 Auto Crash

Grace V. Olhiser, 39, of 401 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a cut scalp and multiple scrapes and bruises suffered yesterday when her car hit a guard rail on the Highway 101 viaduct in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the front-opening door of Mrs. Olhiser's car flew open at 7:30 a.m. and she lost control of the car as she tried to close it. She was thrown from the car as it skidded across the traffic lanes, the patrol said.

Debating Team Wins A Superior

The three-member debating team from Terra Linda High School, competing during the weekend in state finals, won superior rating but did not qualify for the national competition, their coach, Mrs. Lenn B. Bragg, reported yesterday.

The Terra Linda students who took part are Cathy Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Madden of 1748 Las Gallinas Avenue, and Adele and Will Madden, daughter and son of Dr. and Mrs. William J. Madden of 330 Holly Drive.

Hundreds of students competed in the debate contest at Los Angeles State College, according to Mrs. Bragg, who said finalists in the national competition will be announced at a later date.

Marin City Housing Development Hearing

A report by Marin Development Company (formerly California Development Corp.) on a proposed development of 17 houses in Marin City will be heard when the Marin County Redevelopment Agency meets at 8:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Manzanita Center to hear reports on housing projects in Kentfield and Novato.

Hiring Session

The Bolinas Public Utility District board will hold a closed meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow to discuss hiring new employees. The regular open meeting will follow at 8 p.m. at the district office, 270 Elm Road.

Folsom Fills Board Seat For Hospital

George H. Folsom, a Sausalito industrial consultant, was named last night to the Marin Hospital District board to fill the unexpired vacancy of Irving D. Chapman. Chapman resigned in March for business reasons.

Folsom, who is married and lives at 54 Vista Clara Road, was one of 10 persons who applied for the position. He is a trustee and the treasurer of the Sausalito Foundation and has been a Marin County resident since 1956.

The board met six candidates, including Folsom, in open session last night, then went into closed meeting to make its decision.

In other action the board accepted the low bid from Freethy and Co., El Cerrito, of $96,213 for grading, drainage, paving and striping of the parking lot across Bon Air Road. High bidder was McGuire and Hester at $141,543. Work is expected to start this week.

Bolinas Volunteers Plan Annual Dance

The Bille Sache Band will play at the 25th annual Bolinas Volunteer Firemen's ball July 5, the firemen agreed last night. The volunteer firemen discussed plans for the ball, which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The volunteers also planned a summer project of painting hydrants and clearing areas around them.

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some Players Should Not Be Allowed With A Deck Of Cards

It's pleasant to assume that all players at the table are reasonable human beings, but this is sometimes unworkable fiction. Some bridge players should be forbidden by law to be in the same room as a deck of cards. Congress has failed to pass such a law, and this somber fact distorts the bidding in hands like the one shown today.

RIGHT RESPONSE

South knew that the right response to three spades was four diamonds and that he should jump to six spades if North showed a sign of life. But South also knew that North was one of the three worst card players of the century. Since it was unprofitable to put North in a slam that he would surely misplay, South stabbed at three notrump as the most likely game contract.

South took the ace of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts and led a spade to dummy's ace. West's diamond discard was a nasty jolt.

PLAY FROM DUMMY

Declarer continued with dummy's king and queen of spades, and West discarded two more diamonds. West's reluctance to discard a heart or a club was slightly encouraging, especially when a finesse with the queen of clubs then succeeded. East obviously had the king of clubs, but South could make the contract if West had the ten.

PUTS WEST IN

South got to his hand with the king of hearts and led the jack of diamonds to put West in. South had already taken seven tricks and needed only two more.

West could take his three diamonds and then the queen of hearts, but finally he had to lead from the 10-7 of clubs. When West unhappily led the seven of clubs, South played low from dummy. If East put up the king South would win the last two tricks with the ace and jack of clubs; and if East played low, South would take the last two tricks with the nine and then the ace of clubs.

What do you day?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

Although you have 16 points in high cards you should not consider an opening bid of 1 notrump. Your two doubletons make your distribution too unbalanced for such an opening bid.

Quiet For Cabbies

LONDON (AP) — London's famous upright taxis are going to be silenced, but not in a way the passenger will notice. For years cabbies have complained about the noise in the driving area. Acoustics engineers who checked into the complaints agreed with the drivers and now all new taxis will be fitted with sound-deadening systems.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, May 6, the 126th day of 1969 with 239 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1935 the Works Progress Administration —WPA—was set up by Congress to provide work for the unemployed.

In 1937 the German dirigible Hindenburg exploded at Lakehurst, N.J. Thirty-six passengers were killed.

In 1941 Stalin replaced V. M. Molotov as premier of the Soviet Union.

In 1967 the Greek military junta suspended parliament and abolished popular elections.

A thought for the day: Washington Irving said, "A woman's whole life is a history of affections."

New Technique Aids Kidney Transplants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A technique for injecting directly into transplanted kidneys large doses of drugs designed to supress rejection reactions has resulted in survival of 93 per cent of such transplants.

This was reported by Dr. Samuel L. Kountz, professor of surgery at the University of California Medical Center, in a preliminary report on the first 61 patients receiving the treatment.

City Primes Pump For Miller Avenue

Mill Valley city councilmen voted 3-2 last night to give City Engineer Stanley M. Bala up to $4,000 to begin planning Miller Avenue's extension to Highway 101, hoping the county will pick up the tab after July 1 and give the project a higher budget priority.

Councilmen Rodric L. Robinson and George Wickham voted no, saying they believed the county should reimburse the city for all money spent on the project when the county's 1969-70 budget is adopted. The entire project lies in county territory.

Supervisor Michael Wornum told the council that if the city picked up Bala's bill for May and June the project would undoubetedly get a higher budget priority from his fellow supervisors.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen urged his fellow councilmen to spend the money from current reserve funds to get the project started. "This council has spent $100,000 to extend Sycamore Avenue to the sewer treatment plant. It can well spend $4,000 to extend Miller Avenue to the highway."

However, Andresen complained that the county has reduced the tentative project allocation for 1969-70 from $300,000 to $100,000.

Hinting that the county has consistently shorted Southern Marin in road improvement, he told Wornum that, "You'd better get the message across to the boys that Miller Avenue is something that has to be done."

Wornum said the project funds had been tentatively reduced because of pressures from other projects and that the county staff doubts that more than $100,000 in work could be accomplished during the next fiscal year.

"Why let the money stand idle when there are other projects that need it., asked county Public Works Director Donald R. Frost. "When the time comes to spend more, the money will undoubtedly be appropriated."

Bala said the preliminary planning job would be to find an alignment for the road which will probably run through the Richardson Bay marsh lands bypassing Dolan's Corners.

Mill Valley City Council Also:

CONTRACT — Approved the low bid of $6,805 by Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for Improvements to West Blithedale and Ralston avenues.

CARMELITA AVENUE — Authorized Bala to widen Carmelita Avenue to 27 feet between Buena Vista and Mountain View avenues.

YOUTH COMMMISSION — Adotped an ordinance establishing a youth commission for the city.

STOP SIGN — Upon Wornum's request, indicated the city would prefer to have a stop sign reinstalled on Almonte Boulevard at Shoreline Highway rather than have traffic lights installed.

COMMUNITY CENTER — Authorized plans and a call for bids to relocate the community recreation center.

STREET LIGHTING — Authorized 12 street lights for Sycamore Avenue extension at a cost of $5,337 with an annual operating cost of $417 and agreed to hire an electrical engineer for $1,750 to study the city's street lighting needs and make recommendations with cost estimates.

RESIGNATION — Heard that Dwight Bishop has resigned from the parks and recreation commission because he has moved out of town. Meyer said he would appoint a replacement at the next meeting.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Manuel Gomez to change conditions of a conditional use permit for a take out food establishment at 600 Miller Avenue.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized a call for bids for median strip landscaping for Lower Miller and East Blithedale avenues, estimated to cost $22,000.

BUDGET HEARING — Set the next budget hearing for 8 p.m. May 16 in city hall.

EMPLOYEES — Adopted a resolution recognizing the Mill Valley Employees Association as the bargaining agent for city employees.

HEARING — Set a public hearing on the establishment of an underground utility district for Sycamore Avenue extension for the May 19 meeting.

SEWER DEEDS — Accepted grant deeds for sewers in Blithedale Park from Jane E. and William S. Allen, Jane C. and Edward Knight Jr. and Dean N. Meyer.

STREET NEEDS — Postponed discussion on major city street needs and a traffic control light at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue to the May 16 budget hearing.

POSTPONMENTS — Postponed discussions on city policy concerning use of public facilities, bicycle paths, amendment to the Mill Valley general plan and the Bank of America subdivision on Highway 101 frontage road until May 19 because of the late hour.

Team Picked On Redwoods Park Planning

The National Park Service has named a master plan team to develop a program for the new Redwoods National Park, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has announced.

"The team will include distinguished private citizens as well as career federal and state employees," he said. "This combination will assure a comprehensive plan to recognize national purposes, as well as the redwood region's needs and objectives."

Nelson Murdock, superintendent of the Redwood National Park, is chairman of the team which includes:

Newton B. Drury, executive secretary of the Save-the-Redwoods League; William Penn Mott Jr., director of the state Department of Parks and Recreation; Dr. Edgar Wayburn, former president of the Sierra Club, John R. Hulburt Jr. of Cresent City and C. Robert Barnum of Eureka.

National Park service members are David Turello, Park planner and team captain; Joseph Rumburg, assistant regional director of Wester Regions; Arthur Allen, interpretive planner, of Washington, D. C.; Bruce Black, naturalist, and George Nadeau, landscape architect, from the National Park Service Center offices in San Francisco.

1,000 Protest City's Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An angry crowd of 1,000 turned up at City Hall yesterday to protest a proposed city budget of $605 million for the coming fiscal year.

The board of supervisors, holding a hearing on Mayor Joseph Alioto's proposals in a room designed for 253 persons, heard Leon Markel of the Balboa Terrace Homeowners Association says:

"It's not that government cost so damn much; it's just that we're not getting anything for it."

Most witnesses complained about the $97.8 million allocated for the Social Services Department, an increase of $18.4 million.

Innocent Plea In Flight Case

Morlin Smith, 21, of Marin City, who failed to return to Marin County Jail from a work furlough on June 28, 1968, yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of illegally leaving.

A preliminary hearing was set in Marin Municipal Court for Friday.

Smith was serving a one-year sentence for burglary when he disappeared.

Rohnert Park Gears For Expansion

The Rohnert Park City Council last night awarded a contract for construction of a new frontage road on the west side of Highway 101, anticipating the construction of a new interchange within the year.

Low bidder was the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa at $219,348. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said he expects work to begin next month.

The state now has two ramps on the west side of the freeway at the Rohnert Park expressway interchange and will construct two ramps on the west side, according to the 1969-70 budget. The interchange will open up the area known as Coddingland for commercial development. A large shopping center is planned.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

SCOUTS — Pledged $120 to finance Eagle Scout presentations for next year.

REPRESENTATIVES — Named Councilman Jack Buchanan to represent it on the Petaluma Board of Education Citizen'a Advisory Committee studving the possibility of an educational park plan. Councilman Arthur N. Roberts was named as the alternate.

HORSES — Introduced an ordinance that would regulate the riding of horses on public streets, parks and public areas.

DRIVE-IN — Approved plans of Paul Golis to construct a Mr. Swiss drive-in restaurant on Southwest Boulevard near the present car wash.

WAREHOUSE — Granted a use permit and setback variance to George Anderson for construction of a warehouse on Transport Avenue.

GOLD COURSE — Set additional rates for motorized golf carts on the municipal golf course. Rates range from $6 for 18 holes on weekends to $5 for 18 holes on weekdays. It was reported that Rohnert Park is the smallest city in the state with an 18-hole course.

DEDICATION — Set May 24 at 11 a.m. for the dedication of the community and recreation center.

MOBILE HOMES — Introduced an ordinance indicating that the bedroom tax for recreation will apply equally to mobile homes as to standard homes. Fees are $30 for a one-bedroom unit and $10 for each additional bedroom to a maximum of $60.

GRADE CROSSING — Heard report that the Public Utilities Commission had denied the city's request for a railroad grade crossing at Southwest Boulevard. Callinan indicated the city would request another hearing.

Charges Voted In Kidnap Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Grand jurors returned indictments last night against Grant R. Powell, 24, who invaded the home of a judge he said gave too lenient a sentence to a rapist.

Powell is charged with kidnaping five persons and wounding patrolman Jay Rogovoy, 30, who was guarding the home of Judge Bernard Glickfeld.

Officials say he forced the policeman into the empty house, shot him and then kidnaped John Grima, 21, and four girls, forcing Grima to drive him to Gilroy. A roadblock captured him there.

Judge Glickfeld had sentenced the rapist to 52 weekends in jail.

Corte Madera Seeks Corporation Yard Cut

The Corte Madera Town Council last night asked its architect to examine ways to trim the cost of the proposed corporation yard.

The low bid from James J. Menke, Inc. of Corte Madera was $112,035 or 22 per cent above the estimate.

"We started out with a $50,000 figure and now we're over $100,000," said Councilman Byron D. White, who suggested "pinching off a few corners."

Councilman Harold Wagstaff argued in favor of building good quality structures such as previous town buildings and Mayor Edward W. Colthurst continued the subject to the next regular meeting of May 19 for a decision.

In the meantime architect George V. Banning will meet with the city staff to see if the price can be reduced.

The Town Council voted 4-to-1 to have the town forces install a stairs and path from a cul-de-sac on Pixley Avenue to Walnut Avenue, Mayor Colthurst voting "no."

A sum of $1,500 is budgeted for the stairs and path, with a portion of the stairs to be concreted and provided with a hand rail.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

REAR DECK APPEAL — Voted 4-to-1, Councilman White voting no, to grant an appeal from planning commission denial to allow Lynn S. Carman to enclose the upper rear deck of his home at 48 Mariner Green Drive.

SOLICITOR'S ORDINANCE — Continued to May 19 adoption of a solicitor's ordinance. Councilman Robert P. Simmons said he needs more time to study it and that the ordinance is practically impossible to enforce.

REAPPOINTMENTS — Reappointed to the Town Planning Commission for four-year terms James W. McClintock, John W. Gates and Jack W. Forster.

FOURTH OF JULY — Granted Larkspur-Corte Madera Marin's Traditional Fourth of July Celebration permission to post banners on Tamalpais Drive from June 25 to July 9.

OCCUPATION PERMIT — Renewed a two-year home occupation permit to allow Eric Norstad to continue to produce ceramic pieces at his home at 30 Alta Way.

FALLING TREE — Referred to the town's insurance carrier a $12,000 claim from Donal Brown for damages by a tree falling on his house at 410 Sausalito Street in Jan. 25 storm.

BUDGET MEETINGS — Set May 15, in place of May 14, to discuss employees' salaries for 1969-70, May 20 to discuss the police and fire department budgets and May 26 for public works budgets, all at 7:30 p.m. Other items in the general budget, to be selected, will be discussed at the next regular meeting May 19.

LIBRARY SERVICES — Agreed to write to the Marin Board of Supervisors opposing a Mill Valley Library Commission request to the supervisors asking $42,000 be paid to Mill Valley on the premise that 45 per cent of its library users are county residents. Mayor Colthurst said Mill Valley's problem could not be passed on to Corte Madera which has a joint services agreement with the county. The council also agreed to write to Reps. William S. Mailliard, R-Marin and San Francisco, and Don Clausen, R-First District, to urge congressional restoration of funds under the Library Services Act which have been deleted from the upcoming federal budget by President Richard M. Nixon.

SANITARY BOARD — Sitting as a sanitary board, awarded a $29,023 contract to MGM Construction Co., Concord, for the Fifer force main; agreed to oppose before the Local Agency Formation Commission a proposal to gunnex about 20 properties on Lucky Road on the basis the owners do not wish to be also annexed to the town and agreed to start proceedings to annex the Paradise Drive unincorporated area to the district.

Petaluma Juniors Win Scholarships

Three Petaluma Senior High School juniors have been awarded scholarships to attend George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

The students are David Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, 3191 Eastman Lane; Lisa Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schwartz, 625 Bodega Avenue; and Lance Barlas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Barlas, 30 Brainerd Avenue.

Chosen for academic ability and initiative, the students will attend regular college classes, earn college credits and take part in many cultural programs at the capitol.

Probation, Fine Set On Marijuana Count

A 23-year-old Richmond man was placed on one year's probation and fined $150 yesterday in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

Michael Anthony Cartwright had earlier admitted that he had marijuana cigarettes with him while hitchhiking on Highway 101 March 8.

Funds In Sonoma Program For Building In Petaluma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday approved a $5.2 million capital outlay program to include the construction of a county office building in Petaluma in the next six years.

In the original program prepared by David L. Nichols, county administrator, plans for the building were omitted. Later appeals by city officials caused the Sonoma County Planning Commission to approve the inclusion of the Petaluma project.

The county now owns 22 per cent of the Petaluma City Hall where it houses the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and several offices.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer had told supervisors that city offices in the building are already tight for space and that the city would like to purchase the county section as soon as possible.

It is expected that the new county building will be located in the civic center area, currently serving as the "front yard" of city hall.

The Sonoma County supervisors also:

ROAD PAYMENT — Approved the first progress payment of $1,710 to Reichhold and Jurkovich Construction Co. for work on Pepper Road between Walker and Petaluma-Valley Ford roads.

LAND PURCHASE — Approved the purchase of two properties for improvements to the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road. Purchase of 2.12 acres at $1,050 from Martin Iversen was approved an 2.47 for $530 from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christiansen.

PAVING — Approved payment of $46,435 to Bragato Paving Co. for work on the Western Avenue Conduit, Petaluma.

A BLEND

Introducing
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Compare Windsor with your usual American or Canadian whisky. Once you do, you'll never settle for less, or pay more!

Tonight, make the comparison: make one drink with your "usual," the other with Windsor. You'll be amazed at the sippin' smoothness of this remarkable new import. That's because only Windsor is made from hardy Canadian prairie grains and pure, clear glacial waters. And only Windsor is aged in Canada's mile-high, dry Rocky Mountain air. All this, yet Windsor is priced right in line with leading domestic whiskies because we import it, then bottle it here.

$1.2 Billion Is Added To Costs Of ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Safeguard missile defense system will cost another $1.2 billion, the Defense Department says, bringing the total cost for initial, limited deployment to nearly $8 billion.

In the most detailed analysis given Congress so far, Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard gave a figure of $6.6 billion for the complete system intended to protect two Minuteman missile bases in North Dakota and Montana.

But spokesmen for the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission confirmed yesterday that the cost of nuclear warheads for the defense missiles —$1.2 billion—was not included in the Defense Department estimate.

A Defense Department spokesman said the warhead cost was not included because different agencies traditionally provided figures for only their own part of a project.

Meanwhile, Harvard law professor Abram Chayes, who evaluated the ABM for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, said yesterday that Safeguard presents an enigma in that it is the first major weapon, including the H-bomb that cannot be tested.

"The fact is that the first time anyone will know for sure whether the system will work is when it is called upon to meet an actual attack," said Chayes, a former legal adviser to the State Department.

The professor said he believes Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird conjured up the Soviet threat of a nuclear first strike to strengthen the administration's case for Safeguard.

Babies Face DDT Peril, Expert Says

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Breast-fed babies sometimes get twice as much DDT in their systems as the maximum amount recommended for any human, the head of a committee which studies DDT for the Swedish National Research Council testified yesterday.

However, S. Goran Loforth, said the consequences of this ingestion cannot be predicted.

Lofroth testified at a hearing before the Wisconsin Natural Resources Department on a petition to ban DDT in Wisconsin.

Lofroth said that, on the average, a breast-fed baby would get .02 milligrans of DDT a day for each kilogram of body weight. According to the World Health Organization of the United Nations, no one should ingest more than .01 milligramm of DDT per kilogram of body weight.

"In my opinion, many breast-fed children ingest more than the recommended daily intake of DDT," he said. "It is in the range where laboratory animals show pharmaco-dynamical changes.

"What these changes mean is not known," he said. "One cannot predict the consequences if these and similar changes work in man and one does not know what the future holds for persons exposed to that much DDT."

Report On Family Life To Be Given

A staff report on the family life study program will be presented to the Fairfax Elementary School District board at 7:45 p.m. today in the district office, 58 Park Road.

The board will also discuss budget priorities and salaries for clerical positions. A closed session has been scheduled to discuss the firing of a member of the classified staff.

At 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, the Fairfax School Tax Election Committee will meet at White Hill School.

Small Art Works Sale At Sausalito

A sale of small art works donated by Marin members of the San Francisco Women Artists will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Room 103 of the Industrial Center Building, Sausalito.

Chairman Maggie Rosen said proceeds of the sale will go to the San Francisco Women Artists award fund for the organization's first national exhibition to be held at the San Francisco Museum of Art in January 1970.

She Teaches Care Of Animals

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Care, consideration and compassion for animals are the by-words of Mrs. Madelon Tormanen, newly appointed director of educational activities at the Humane Education Center of the Humane Society of Marin County in Novato.

"We feel that if children learn to take care of animals properly, they will become more happy, stable adults, Mrs. Tormanen said.

A DEDICATED and enthusiastic worker for the Humane Society, Mrs. Tormanen says she never knew about the society until she applied for a job through the California Department of Employment in 1963.

She had been a secretary in the financial district of San Francisco but had quit work when she married her husband who was an investment broker.

Now a widow, her husband became disabled in 1958 with multiple sclerosis, and she had to go back to work to help support the family.

She literally beams when she speaks of her children, Michele, 17, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, who will attend College of Marin in September; and John 14, an eighth grade student at St. Rita's School in Fairfax.

WORKING CLOSELY with the Marin County superintendent of schools and staff, the education center is used extensively by teachers and children and more than 3,000 children have visited and participated in programs of educational enrichment since the center was opened in November of 1968.

Mrs. Tormanen greets the school children as they arrive at the center and talks with them about the Humane Center and how they should take care of their pets.

She tells the children that the Humane Center is a temporary shelter, such as an animal hotel, and there are four times when they might call when they need help — when they lose a pet, find a pet, no longer can keep a pet or if they want to adopt a pet.

She also tells them they should take care of their animals the same as their parents take care of them. They need water, food, a nice warm bed and, when they are young, they need shots the same as a child, Mrs. Tormanen said.

SHE ALSO advises them if they go up into the hills, not to take wild animals home with them or destroy animals or HERE HELEN SILVA holds a kitten for the first time, during an animal tour conducted by Mrs. Tormanen. "We feel that if children learn to take care of animals properly they will become more happy, stable adults," says the Humane Society's director of educational activities. She tells the children that they should take care of their pets as well as their parents take care of them and not to destroy animals they might find in the hills and countryside. TEACHING MARIN school children about animals is the job of the newly appointed director of educational activities for the Humane Education Center, Mrs. Madelon Tormanen. Here a class from Pacheco School meets some of the farm animals at the center in Novato, with Mrs. Tormanen providing appropriate feed.

Charlotte Fry Plans Summer Rite

The engagement of Charlotte E. Fry to William Jordan Barnsdale Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fry of San Rafael.

Charlotte is the sister of Richard Hewitt of Honolulu, Douglas Fry of the University of California at Davis, Mrs. Gilbert M. Dixon of Buena Park and Mrs. Richard A. Melcher of Fremont.

The bride-elect is a San Rafael High School graduate and attended the College of Marin. She is employed in the office of Lester Gorsline and Associates in Tiburon.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan Barnsdale. Mr. Barnsdale is stationed with the United States Embassy in Malawi, Africa. He is the grandson of Mrs. Marie Barnsdale of San Rafael.

He is a graduate of the American School in Rome and attended the University of California. He is attending U. S. Army Officer Candidate School at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Late summer nuptials are planned.

Homecoming Weekend Activity Set For Alumnae Of Dominican College

By MOLLY MARIN

Graduates of Dominican Collegs will gather from across the country for the annual homecoming weekend at the college campus in San Rafael on May 23 and 24. Reunion festivities will begin May 23 with a cocktail reception at Pennafort Hall, followed by dinner at Caleruega Hall.

The following morning Mass will be celebrated at the Rosary chapel at 11 o'clock, followed by luncheon at noon and a business meeting to elect officers.

Classes honored at the luncheon will be 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959 and 1964. Mrs. Michael Foster of Redwood City and Barbara McCune of San Rafael are chairmen for the reunion.

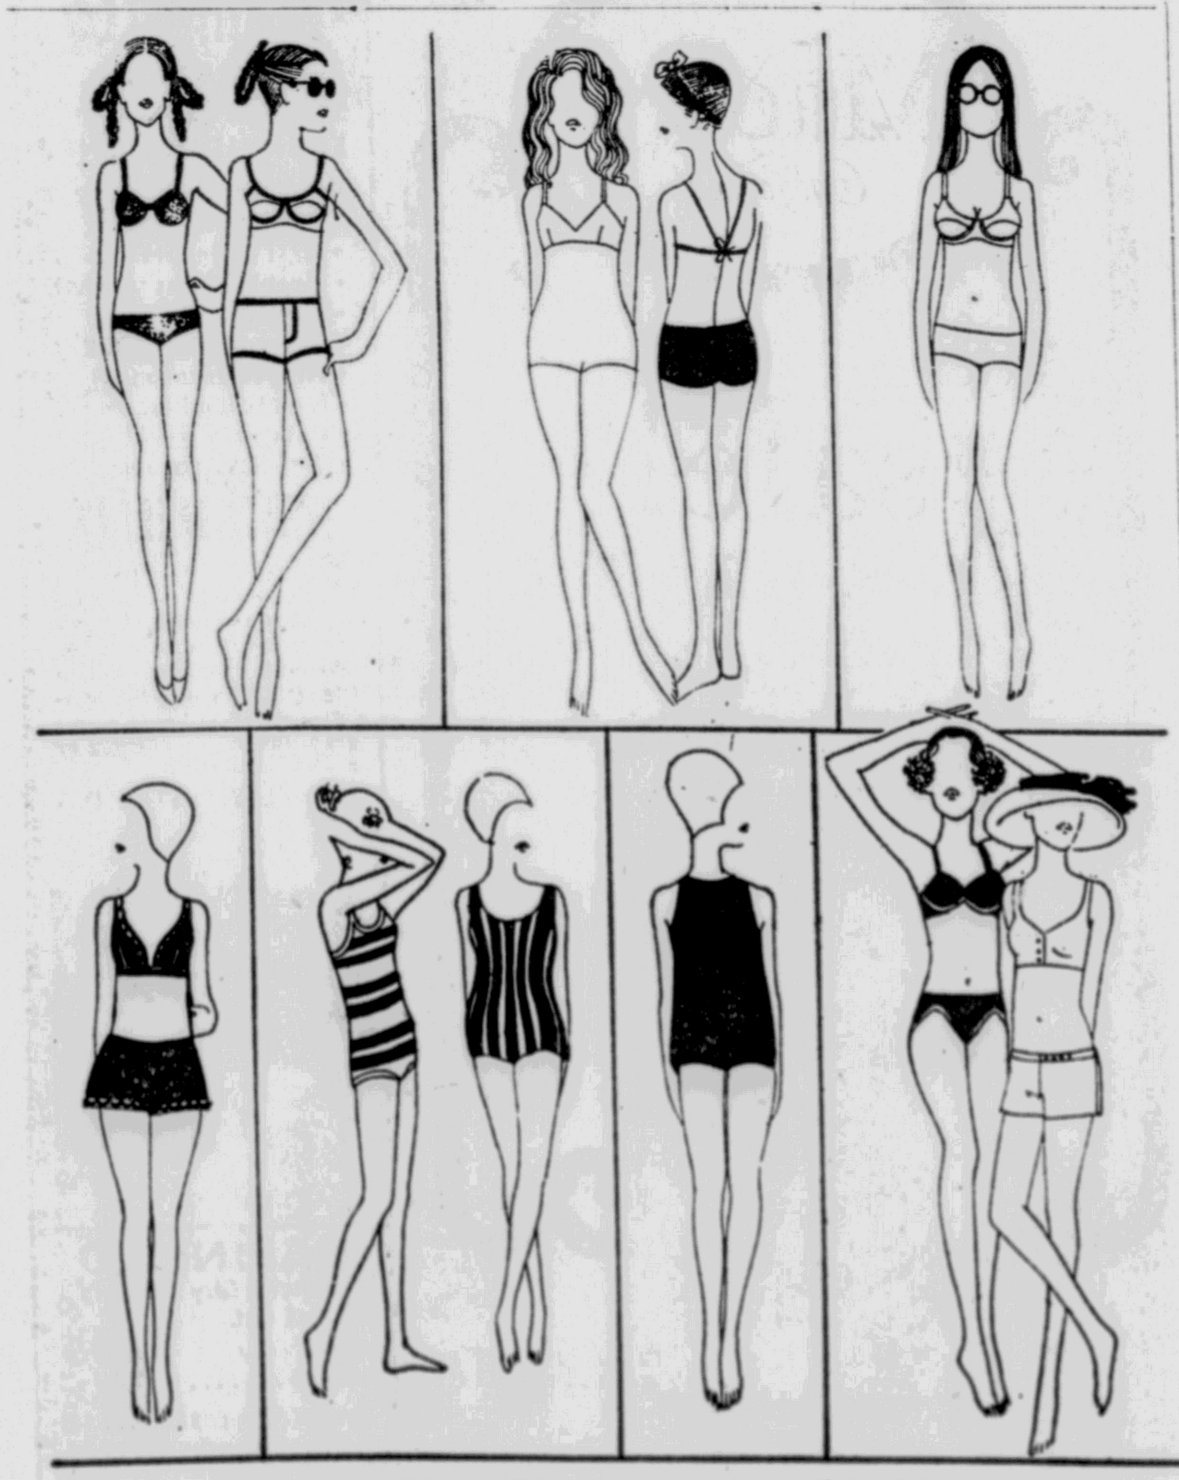
A COCKTAIL gathering to honor Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Knowles of San Francisco (Diana Dollar) will be given tomorrow evening by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton A. Longfellow at their San Anselmo home. Marin friends of the couple have been invited.

SPECIAL GUESTS invited to the luncheon today by the Marin Ballet Aquacade included Dr. and Mrs. Virgil Hollis, Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kupfer, Mrs. Mary Roberts and Mrs. Jerome Draper. Mrs. David Sullivan, Ballet Aquacade president, invited her niece, Mrs. Joe Solas of San Francisco and Mmes. Roland Galli, Peter Giorgi, Monte Ambinder, Mel Riccardi and Peter Domenghi, all of Greenbrae. Mrs. Robert Thornton, visiting from New York, was a guest of Mrs. David Egan. Mrs. Thornton's daughter performed as a dancer with the ballet aquacade for two years before the family moved east. Other guests at Mrs. Egan's table were Mmes. Thomas O'Connell of Novato, Thomas Strand and William Asbell of San Anselmo, and Allan Prespegard of Peacock Gap. The fashion luncheon was a benefit for Marindale School.

MOTHERS OF Marin Ball debutantes will meet at 1 p.m. May 27 at the home of Mrs. Gregory Solen in Ross. The instructional meeting will be followed by tea. The girls themselves will have a meeting June 17 at the home of Mrs. Gerald Stratford of Belvedere.

MAKING A photographic tour of Fiji recently was George Dippel of Kentfield, who joined a group of 20 tourists who spent four days photographing at Yanuca Island, small islands and the coral gardens on the reef that surrounds Suva harbor.

RECENTLY MARRIED at the First Methodist Church in San Rafael were Mrs. Marjorie Anthony of Larkspur and Frank Jarcs of Soldotna, on the Kenai Peninsula, Alaska. The bride's daughter, Nancy Anthony, was her attendant, and the bridegroom's brother, Clarence Jaros of San Mateo, served as best man. A reception followed in Kentfield.



SELECTING A SWIMSUIT?

Nearly everyone has figure problems when it comes to selecting the right swimming suit for summer. Guides to pick the most flattering: top left, long or short torso—cut body length of long torso with high-cut two-piece suit; add longer body line with barer suit; top center, big hips, a bikini if you're not too heavy, otherwise a one-piece smooth-fitting suit; top right, large bosom—bikini with softly constructed top or classic one-piece suit with natural top; lower left, heavy thighs—a two-piece suit with slim shorts; lower left center, too slim or heavy torso—a good maillot with horizontal stripes is thinning, a one-piece vertically striped if you're overweight; lower right center, thick waist—a loose fitting one-piece suit of dark color or small pattern; lower right, too long, too short legs—high cut suit makes short legs long, and vice versa.

Young Teen Complains After Altercation With Acquaintance

DEAR HELEN:

A certain girl accused me of something I didn't do and hadn't even thought of, so I denied the charge. She called me a liar plus a bunch of less printable names, made threats and, while I was sweet-talking her, she belts me in the right eye, breaking my glasses and cutting my cheek. I am getting mad, like I can taste it, and while I am clearing my face for action, she gets in four more blows and my left cheek gets scratched.

I am plenty riled and I go for her, movie fight style. I am winning when two husky adults pull us apart.

I claim self-defense, and she hollers I started it. I can't prove otherwise. So I get punished by my parents for conduct unbecoming to a young lady of 15, the least of the charges. I am even blamed for breaking my glasses.

I say I did not ask for these lumps, I did not want them, and I returned them with proper interest. How can I establish that I am innocent of wrong doing? — IRISH C

DEAR C:

I say parents who take an outsider's word against their own daughter's are either short on trust or they know your hot Irish temper better than I do. Or perhaps they figure a lady should walk away, no matter what the provocation.

Next time wait until a crowd gathers, before you make with the self-defense. — H.

P.S. And hope there won't be a next time.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

How do you know it's love?

My friends say love is if when you're with a boy your stomach tightens up and feels all funny with butterflies. Well, I was with him last night and this happened, but it was because I was hungry. I know it was.

I really like this boy a whole lot, but I worry because what if I thought I loved him and didn't?

My definition of love is when you trust each other and can talk about things that would embarrass you with others. It's when you want to help with problems and you are happy and content just being near him or her. And you're happy too, just thinking about him if you're not together.

Isn't this more likely love than a funny feeling in your stomach? — C.L.

DEAR C:

Certainly is! But why worry whether it's love or like? Either way, you're happy. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I recently moved here from another state. The student council at the school I now attend passed a dress code which says that all clothes must be worn at decent length.

Where I came from, we wore our clothes fairly short, and most of my outfits are about six inches above the knee. Teachers here tell me if I wear them again, I'll be sent home. This cuts my wardrobe down to almost nothing as my clothes don't have hems. — MINI PROBLEMS

DEAR MINI:

Six inches above the knee is about average for tall girls' skirts these days. Let's hope they give an inch or two! — H.

Rozanne Lindon Engaged To Wed Point Reyes Man

Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Lindon of Santa Rosa have announced the engagement of their daughter Rozanne Lee Lindon to George Donald Giambastiani of Point Reyes Station.

To be graduated from Santa Rosa High School in June, Rozanne is the sister of Joanne Lindon of San Francisco and Lawrence Lindon of Needles.

George is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Giambastiani of Point Reyes Station and the brother of Richard Giambastiani of San Rafael, Lawrence and Marvin Giambastiani, both of Fairfax.

He is a graduate of Tomales Joint Union High School and is employed with Inverness Park grocery company.

Completes Training

Susan B. Flanagan of San Rafael has finished training with Eastern Airlines training center in Miami and is a stewardess, based in Atlanta. She is the daughter of Mrs. Mary S. Bomberger of Ross and Bruce D. Bomberger of San Rafael. She was graduated from Redwood High School and Monterey Peninsula College.

LAURA GIFFIN

Lee-Giffin Engagement

The engagement of Laura Giffin to James T. Lee of Hamilton Air Force Base has been announced.

Laura is the daughter of Mrs. Frances K. Giffin of Terra Linda and Stanley E. Giffin of Honolulu. James S. Giffin of Terra Linda is her brother and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson of Terra Linda are Laura's grandparents.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, she is attending the University of California at Davis.

James is the son of Lt. Col. James W. Lee of Hamilton Air Force Base and the late Betty T. Lee. He is the brother of Robert Lee and the grandson of Mrs. Frances Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lee, all of San Francisco. James also was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is a student at College of Marin.

Esherick-Thurmond Nuptials On Sunday

The Unitarian Fellowship of Marin in San Rafael was the setting for the Sunday nuptials of Trylla Ann Thurmond of Morristown, N.J., and Peter Esherick of Kentfield. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl D. Thurmond of Morristown.

Josie Weg of North Hollywood was Trylla's maid of honor, and Daniel Li of Baldwin Park was Peter's best man. Craig A. Thurmond, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception at the home of the bridegroom followed the wedding. The couple will live in Berkeley, where they are enrolled at the University of California. They will move to New Jersey for the summer and Peter will work for Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. In September he will enter Harvard Graduate School, where he has a National Science Foundation Fellowship. He was graduated from Redwood High School.

Mrs. Rebecca Wood Watkin of Kentfield and Joseph Esherick of San Francisco are parents of the bridegroom. He has a brother, Joseph E. Esherick, who lives in Taiwan with his wife and two children; and a sister, Lisa Esherick, of San Francisco.

Trylla is a graduate of Morristown High School. Her grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Thurmond of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Adolfe Henke of San Francisco.

Mrs. Peter Piazza Heads Point Reyes Circle 1018

Mrs. Peter Piazza of Inverness has been elected new chief companion of the Point Reyes Circle 1018, Companions of the Forest of America, which will mark its 59th anniversary with a dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at Spiro's Red Vest restaurant in Novato.

Mrs. Piazza, whose husband is a dairy worker, has lived in Marin 13 years. They are parents of Kenneth and Joanne Smith and Jeffrey Piazza, and Mrs. Piazza is active in school events, Little League, as well as enjoying league bowling with her husband. She attended school in Salem, Ore.

Joanne Piazza has held several offices in the circle, of which she has been a member for seven years. The circle has planned a rummage sale, drill team work, collecting stamps for the Good Shepherd Home of the West, and raising funds for the Tomales High School scholarship fund.

After Mrs. Tormanen talks with them, the children are taken on a tour of the Humane Center, which includes the aviary, the quarters where pets that are lost are kept, those quarantined and also the adoptable pets.

The tour is conducted by three teen-age girls, Susan Reichert, Becky Kettenhoffen and Mary Anne Monestier, who are full time employees at the Humane Society, but they also have less glamorous jobs. They must also help to clean the kennels, stables and the aviary.

THE NATURAL feeling of youngsters for animals is no more apparent than in the handicapped that come to the center for tours, Mrs. Tormanen said. "Put a puppy into the arms of one of these youngsters who may be hard of hearing and whose sight may be impaired, and the child responds immediately and seems to come alive," she said.

The response to the education center has been so great that Mrs. Tormanen said they hope to form a junior Humane Society. "Children are asking for it and call and ask 'what can we do to help them?" Mrs. Tormanen said.

In this program, to be governed by the junior members and self supporting, they hope to train youngsters to be docents and also have a program for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to achieve merit badges.

MRS. TORMANEN is working with the schools, and placing books, films and material relating to animals. Her latest leaflet is entitled "Your Dog Should be a Dropout," and Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools, has requested more than 10,000 of them to be distributed to children in the schools.

A program for a vocational course of veteranarian technician is also planned as a joint effort by College of Marin and the Humane Society.

And does Mrs. Tormanen have any animals? Yes — Two Welsh Corgis, a a male and female; and two cats, a calico and a Siamese. Very adamant, she says both the female cat and dog are spayed.

ON THE AGENDA

Husband-Wife Team Plan Pot-Pourri Of Music For Art Club

MILL VALLEY Outdoor Art Club members will hear a musical program by the Mill Valley husband-wife team, violist Lucien Mitchell and cellist Jean Mitchell, following the home day luncheon meeting Thursday at 12:30 p.m.

They will play viola-cello duets, viola and cello solos, accompanying each other at the piano. The program will be a pot-pourri of some of the world's best international music.

Born into an illustrious musical family, Mitchell started playing piano at age five and at 14 won a scholarship to the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore with his violin. A year later he won a scholarship to Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and remained there until Pierre Monteux invited him to join the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, where he still plays. He was principal violist of the San Francisco Opera orchestra 11 years.

Jean Mitchell received her entire training and education in the San Francisco Bay Area. She was one of the first winners of a Marin Music Chest scholarship and won a scholarship to Dominican College. She had been active in theater, television, radio and dance orchestras and played two years with the Houston Symphony.

Mrs. Richard Rider is luncheon chairman. She will be assisted by Mmes. Samuel Bagshaw, Thorpe De Lasaux, Blyth Adams, Russell Mills, Charles Gorrill, Henri Boussy and Lucille Rollison. Decorating the clubhouse will be Mrs. Frank Pompei, assisted by Mmes. J. M. Hahn and J. Paul Hurd.

NOVATO CHAPTER 609, order of Eastern Star will honor past matrons and patrons at its meeting Thursday at Druids Hall, Novato at 8 p.m.

Presiding will be Mrs. Thomas Wiggin, worthy matron and Mr. Wiggin, worthy patron.

Chairman for the evening will be Mrs. Murl Mahler, assisted by Mmes. Fred Meggers, George McDonald, W. O. Bird, William Moore and Mr. Mahler.

The program will be presented by the officers of the chapter.

THE UNITED Presbyterian Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will tour Cameron House in Chinatown, San Francisco, on Thursday. A bus will leave the church in San Rafael at 10:30 a.m.

Cameron House, a national mission supported by the church, serves the Chinatown community. The women will contribute baked goods and bazaar items to the Chinatown Presbyterian Church for its annual carnival on Saturday, with proceeds to benefit the mission's youth work. Tour reservations may be made at the church in San Rafael.

TIBURON PENINSULA Club will be the scene Friday for a swim team family party from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Members who are considering the swimming program for children have been invited to attend the program.

A DAY AT the races will be sponsored by the Larkspur Guild of Sunny Hills on Thursday at Golden Gate Fields in Albany as the guild's major fund raising event.

Luncheon will be served at the Turf Club at noon. Post time is 1 p.m. Bus transportation will be provided. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Harvie Freed and J. Norman Hendrick, co-chairmen for the day, and Mrs. Richard Basco, guild president.

FOR MOTHER'S Day the tots at Little Lambs Nursery School, Tiburon, are making ice cream and pudding to be served to their mothers this week. The youngsters will celebrate on Sunday by showing their arts and crafts, and singing and dancing.

THE REDWOOD International Student Exchange annual rummage sale and silent auction held last month raised nearly $1800.

The funds will help finance exchange programs between Redwood High School and schools around the world.

LEGAL SECRETARIES from throughout the state will meet in San Diego this weekend for the 35th annual convention of Legal Secretaries, Inc. of California. The San Diego Legal Secretaries Association will host the conclave.

Members of the Marin County association attending the meet are Mmes. Constance Mauk, June Brisbin, J. R. Robertson, Lola Holt, Margaret Day and Dorothy Hallett.

THE CONVENT of the Sacred Heart and Stuart Hall for Boys in San Francisco are looking for donations for their auction on Sunday Oct. 26. Donations, such as furniture, objects d'art antiques, etc., are tax deductible, and pick-up can be arranged by calling Mrs. Donald McNeil.

The auction will be held at the convent at 2222 Broadway beginning at 6 p.m. A preview and separate silent auction will be held the afternoon of Oct. 25.

MRS. MALCOLM FINLEY of San Rafael received the Continuing Service Award at the past 14th District California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Finley's P-TA and community activities have centered around Davidson Junior High School and San Rafael High School. She has served as vice president and president of the San Rafael Council P-TA. For the past 12 years she has held positions on the district level and was its president from 1960-62. Mrs. Finley was state mental health chairman for P-TA during 1966-68 and served on the district advisory board and the board of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary.

BYRON JONES, vocal music director of the San Rafael City School District, has been awarded the highest award of the San Rafael district for Parent-Teacher Association for outstanding service to youth.

Mr. Jones, who has been in the San Rafael district for 16 years, is director at Davidson School and San Rafael High School and teaches at three elementary schools as well. He is also director of music at the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

Mr. Jones and his wife, who is a substitute teacher in the San Rafael district, are parents of Rebecca Jones, a sophomore at San Rafael High School, and Byron Jr., an eighth grader at Davidson School.

THE SAUSALITO Woman's Club has re-elected Mrs. Perry L. Brock as its president.

New officers are Mmes. Edward D. Bronson Jr., first vice president; Harold T. Rogers, second vice president; George A. Sears, treasurer; D. Power Boothe, recording secretary; Francis A. Constable, financial secretary; and Jackson S. Perry, John Sutthoff, Frank Rice, Donald K. Olsen, John Weber and G. D. Percy, directors.

WOODWARDIA CIRCLE, Neighbors of Woodcraft, has installed officers for the coming year. Mrs. Emanuel Azevedo is the new guardian neighbor; Mrs. Carl Brooks, past guardian neighbor; Mrs. Frank Mattos, advisor; Mrs. Isabel Mellich, magician; Mrs. Edward Sabel, clerk; Emanuel Azevedo, banker; Mrs. Kenneth Jones, attendant; Mrs. Josephine Bright, flag bearer; Mrs. Edith Godair, inner sentinel; Mrs. Ada Kane, outer sentinel; Mrs. Lawrence Hancock, captain of guards; Mrs. Esther Lewis, musician; Mrs. Eudora Codoni and Mr. and Mrs. James Campbell, managers; Mrs. Rose Solari, correspondent; and Frank Mattos, senior guardian.

Dr. Charles Musante was installing officer.

Barbara Lou Colton Is Engaged To Be Married

BARBARA COLTON

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar L. Colton of San Anselmo announce the engagement of their daughter Barbara Lou to David Hesselroth.

Barbara is the sister of Jacqueline Colton of San Anselmo and the granddaughter of Mrs. J. S. Danziger of Larkspur and Mrs. Louis A. Colton of San Francisco. A graduate of Sir Francis Drake High School, she attends the university of California.

David is the son of Mrs. Charles F. Hesselroth. He was graduated from Polytechnic High School in San Francisco, attended City College of San Francisco and is a student at San Francisco State College. The future bridegroom is the brother of Mrs. Stanley Tretick of Washington, D.C., Mrs. Donald F. Rector of Orinda and Richard Hesselroth of Stockton. Mrs. Herbert T. 19TH CENTURY CARTOON—Honore Daumier was a master of both caricature and the lithographic art. His cartoons like this, which show both skills are exhibited at the Musee D'Art International in San Rafael. (Musee d'Art Photo)

ART REVIEW

French Lithographs, Marin Show Linked

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Two current art exhibits, 19th Century French lithographs and contemporary Marin art, are not as far removed as they might seem — at least in their support of worthwhile causes.

Honore Daumier's humorous, often scathing satirical lithographs were aimed directly at educating man toward justice and human freedom. Indirectly, through their work donated to the KQED auction which benefits the area's educational television channel, Marin artists hope to support the same idea.

The Daumier exhibit through Saturday at the Musee d'Art International 507 Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, has the most artistic substance. Each of Daumier's lithographs is finely drawn, in fact, exquisite. And while the subjects' dress may seem quaint and the situations curious, as character studies they are clear and current.

As cartoons they seem acid even now, irreverently attacking pomposity, arrogance or overstuffed senses of self-importance. They must have seemed even more devastating at the time for they earned Daumier some time in jail.

The Marin donations to the KQED auction, displayed between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. through Sunday at the Tiburon Community Congregational Church, 145 Rockhill Road, makes no claim to such fiery provocation.

Instead, it's a gay, bright, widely diverse group of very nice work by some very competent Marin artists. The styles cover enough ground to suit most tastes and as a rule, the paintings are very representative of the artists who donated them.

After this local preview, the Marin group joins other art donations at auction, June 1, in a live KQED telecast from San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts.

Previn To Give Up Houston Job

HOUSTON (AP) — Andre Previn's tenure as conductor of the Houston Symphony Orchestra will end with a concert May 16, says Maurice Hirsch, president of the Houston Symphony Society.

Previn, who also is principal conductor of the London Symphony, was named conductor-in-chief of the Houston Symphony in 1967. Hirsch said yesterday:

"When announcement was made earlier this year that Mr. Previn would be the Houston Symphony's music director for the 1969-70 and 1970-71 seasons, it was not realized how much of Mr. Previn's time would be required to fulfill his obligations to the London Symphony Orchestra and in connection with other activities to which he was committed."

Bay Representatives For Health Group

The Marin County Comprehensive Health Planning Council will elect representatives to the Bay Area council at a meeting at 7:30 a.m. tomorrow at Marin General Hospital.

Reports on the council's work in the Bay Area and the North Bay counties are expected.

Strawberry Cove Plans Draw Fire

A proposed development of 112 apartments units along Strawberry Cove, on the bay side of Seminary Drive, should be considered with other proposed projects in the entire cove, the Marin County Planning Commissioners decided yesterday.

Belvedere developer Leonard B. Fleischman and architect Allan Steinau presented a plan for one, two and three-story marina apartments on seven acres on the south side of Seminary Drive east of Ricardo Drive.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, recommended that the density be cut to 68 units, but the developer argued that this would be economically unfeasible.

"These are small units," said Steinau. "When we talk of 112 units, we are talking of small land coverage." He said the units will be arranged with open spaces in between to allow adequate waterfront view.

Jacques Reutlinger, developer of Villa Laguna Apartments, 202 units on 11 acres on the north side of Seminary Drive, objected to the Fleischman project, charging that three-story apartments on the waterfront would block the view with "a wall of concrete and stucco."

Unable to agree on density, the planning commissioners voted unanimously to consider a resort commercial zoning for all of Strawberry Cove, including De Silva Island, owned by Frances Belloc, and tidelands south of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary property, owned by Clifford Peterson.

Oklahoma was part of the vast Louisiana Purchase the United States made from France in 1803.

Nursery School Hit By Neighbors' Stand

A proposed nursery school for 55 to 65 children, across the street from Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda, ran into neighborhood objection yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Commissioners decided to continue the matter until May 19 because the applicant, Harold Nichelini, did not appear to defend his nursery school proposal. It would be located on two-thirds of an acre at 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Robert Browne of 395 Orange Blossom Lane presented a petition signed by 53 residents, who oppose the nursery school. He said his home is on a hill above the Nichelini parcel, and noise from 50 or 60 children would depreciate property values and add to traffic congestion.

Brownne objected to a postponement of the hearing. "Everybody had the same notice, and by postponing, you are putting an extra burden on us," said Brownne.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, contacted Nichelini by telephone and reported that Nichelini had expected his real estate agent to appear for him at the hearing.

Marin County Planning Commission Also:

DAY CARE — Amended the county zoning ordinance, requiring a use permit for day care centers for six or more children in apartment areas. Under present ordinance, such child care centers require a use permit in single family and duplex zones, but not in apartment zones.

WATER DIVERSION — Asked Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to see if speakers can be arranged to discuss the effects on San Pablo Bay if the plan to divert Northern California water to Southern California is carried out. Commissioner Walter F. Freitas said he heard Rep. Jerome Waldie of Martinez argue that water diversion would damage the ecology of San Pablo Bay.

MEADOWSWEET — Dropped a hearing on Gilbert Allard's request to amend the Village Green master plan to increase the number of apartment units planned on five acres of land at Casa Buena Drive and Meadow Valley Lane in the Meadowsweet area of Corte Madera. Bella Aaron, attorney for Allard, asked that the request be withdrawn.

Air Cleaner Stolen

Thieves took an air cleaner and smokestack, valued at $125, from a caterpillar owned by Ghilotti Brothers Inc., 525 Jacoby Street, San Rafael, parked on a vacant lot at the south end of Irwin Street, police reported.

'World We Live In' Dates Set

"The World We Live In," a satire by Joseph and Karel Kapek, will be presented as the 52nd annual production of the Mountain Play at 2 p.m. Sundays May 18 and 25 at the outdoor theater on Mount Tamalpais.

Lead players will be Dave McCauley of Larkspur; Larry Smith of San Rafael; Merieka Brown of San Francisco, and Robin Jackson of Mill Valley.

Others in the cast include Bill Grace of Ross, Bob Deckelman of Novato; Karen Zide, Avinus Gartrell and Don Carroll of Larkspur; Betra Chambers of San Anselmo; Dick Maurice of Tiburon, and Paul Stoll and Carla Servis of Mill Valley.

Robin Jackson of the College of Marin drama department will direct the production.

High Schools Win Honors At Festival

The San Rafael High School Symphonic Band is the recipient of the Command Performance award for its performance at the Area I California Music Educators Association Band and Orchestra Music Festival, it was announced yesterday.

The honor was presented Saturday following competition with 34 elementary, junior high and high school bands at the festival at Sonoma State College.

It was the only band award to be given, and Terra Linda High School Orchestra won the only command performance award for orchestra.

A command performance is given only if all three performance judges vote their approval.

The band performed the march, "His Honor," by Henry Fillmore and "Symphony for Band" by Vincent Persichetti.

The San Rafael High School Symphonic Band and Stage Band will present its fourth annual Scholarship Concert at 8 p.m., May 16, in the San Rafael High School Auditorium, with proceeds financing $50 awards to band members.

Highlights of the program will be the San Rafael High School woodwind quintet and trombonist John Kendall from the University of the Pacific.

Weekend Musical At College Of Marin

"A Company of Wayward Saints," a musical play by George Herman, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Student Center at College of Marin. The production will be done in the round.

The play will be produced by Methodist Actors Serving the Church in cooperation with the Experimental College of Marin County and the Campus Ministry of the Marin County Council of Churches.

Novato Students Antidrug Policy Tentatively Voted

A drug policy that would permit the immediate suspension and possible ultimate expulsion of a student involved in the use, possession or sale of marijuana or other drugs was tentatively approved last night by the Novato Unified School District board.

Chairman Dan H. Barber voted against approval but only because he thought full approval should be given so school authorities would be sure of the district's guidelines in drug cases. Other trustees, however, agreed to the tentative plan which was sent back to a special drug study committee for its reaction.

The plan approved last night is not so strong as the citizens committee originally had recommended but which had been challenged by the American Civil Liberties Union and the North Marin Council Parent-Teacher Association, according to James G. Bunker, district superintendent.

The new plan limits the jurisdiction of school authorities to on-campus and school-sponsored functions at both elementary and secondary schools. The policy calls for a hearing of accusations by an administrative advisor committee, including on the elementary level, the student's teachers and school psychologist and on the secondary level, the vice principal, dean and the student's counselor.

The advisory committees could recommend anything from readmission to regular classes to expulsion, transfer to another school, assignment to continuation education or suspension for the student.

The final decision would have to be made by the school board and announced in public session.

The guidelines provide for the immediate suspension of a student involved in a drug case, until some other disposition has been made of the case.

Students accused of a drug violation would request an open or closed hearings and be represented by counsel.

The drug policy approved by the trustees last night was reviewed and declared legal by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

MINIPARK — Again disapproved Novato Federated Women's Clubs proposals to install benches and a drinking fountain on Grant Avenue frontage of the Marion School grounds, denying that sale of the land for commercial development is imminent.

PAY — Approved a California School Employees Association request that all personnel working five or more hours at district schools be paid on a 12-month rather than 10-month basis.

SALARIES — Received for information purposes the CSEA requests for a 5 per cent cost of living increase in salaries and increases in health and welfare benefits from $10.54 to $20.54. Also received a CSEA request for initiation of a professional growth program for classified personnel which would provide professional improvement increments of $60 per year every five years.

MONEY — Approved an application for $20,300 in federal funds for a mentally retarded project and $23,732 for an expanded speech and language programs for kindergartners. Also approved a request for $16,455 grant from the Babcock Fund for a health education program to be conducted by the district's nurses.

CONTRACTS — Approved renewal of the district's contract with KQED for $3,200 and authorized school officials to renegotiate a contract with Indian Valley Golf Club for the use of its golf course by high school teams.

RESOLUTION — Aprroved granting two telephone easements in connection with the widening of Wilson Avenue.

PERSONNEL — Approve hiring for the 1969-70 school year of Sharon Acton, physical education teacher, San Marin High at a salary of $9,095; Drew Hall, fourth grade, Pleasant Valley School at $8,740, and Elaine Wells, San Ramon School at $7,021. Resignations were accepted from Douglas Briggs, Rancho School; Dorothy Fong, Loma Verde School; Catherine Detweiler, Sinaloa School; Noah Kennedy, Novato High School, and Betty Kirby, Park School. Four leaves of absence were granted and tenure was granted to 62 teachers.

NEGOTIATIONS — Met in closed session to give instructions to the board's salary negotiators.

Woman Fair From Overdose Of Pills

A 30-year-old Fairfax woman was reported in fair condition and improving today in Marin General Hospital after taking an overdose of pills Thursday.

The victim, Marcia W. Newland of 351 Olema Road, had been brought to the hospital from a San Rafael area motel in serious condition.

Fair-Marin To Rent Temporary Office Space

Fair-Marin directors, who just hired a $16,000-a-year manager, will rent temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park and hire a secretary within the next few days.

The directors, headed by Harold Stockstad, voted to rent an office for six months at $128 per month including utilities.

Stockstad announced he will make a report on May 19, giving an estimate of what buildings will be needed in addition to the veterans memorial auditorium, the costs involved, and the revenues expected.

Fair-Marin has committed itself to raising $455,000 to provide movable seats and stage fixtures in the auditorium, and the county's capital improvement program for the next six years provides for a total outlay of $505,000 for landscaping and parking in the 80-acre fairgrounds area.

Alto Sanitary Panelist Quits

Alto Sanitary District board secretary Robert Black last night announced his resignation from the board because he is moving out of the district, director Carl A. Heynen Jr. reported.

Heynen said the board is now accepting applications to fill the vacancy.

Directors also approved the Mill Valley master sewer plan in principle, Heynen said.

POLITICS AND STUDENTS — Assemblyman William T. Proposed Tax Hike Plans Are Dropped

A proposal for a one-year increase in property taxes in the Novato Unified School District for next fiscal year was quietly dropped last night from recommendations by a citizens finance advisory committee.

District trustees accepted the new report without the property tax hike request by a 5-0 vote.

Wayne Sartain, chairman of the citizens panel said the tax override was eliminated by the committee, because it was felt the district should continue to get the bulk of its money from the state and federal governments.

Further, Sartain said, the proposal was included only as a compromise gesture in the first place and there was little agreement on the committee on the proposal. A cool reaction given to the proposal by the school trustees also contributed to its elimination.

The two recommendations left in the committee's report called for increased efforts to get state and federal money and for an increase in the district's taxing limit if additional funds are not available from state and federal sources.

The unified district's present $5.15 per $100 assessed valuation is currently the lowest in the county and 25th among 29 districts with more than 100 employees in the Bay Area.

In proposing the one-year tax boost originally, the committee did not suggest a figure but school trustees talked in terms of a 50-cent hike.

Nor did the committee suggest what the tax limit should be raised to if that becomes necessary. It noted that the district's rate of $5.15 compares to a county average of $5.61, which would mean a 46-cent tax increase if Novato moved up to the average. Such an increase would require voter approval.

Home Owners Elect Downs

Vice president Kenneth Downs was elected president of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association last night at the annual meeting of the homeowners at Lucas Valley Community Center.

Downs succeeds William B. Reiner, who did not seek reelection to the board. Larry Cahn will be the new vice president.

Elected to the board of directors were Gerald W. Hawes and Lyle G. Martin, both uncontested.

About 40 homeowners attended last night and asked the directors to take some action to cut down on vandalism in the recreational areas of the community center.

Directors asked Whitney Donaldson to head a committee to explore the possibility of better FM radio reception for Lucas Valley.

Collegians Learn Political Lessons

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — More than 40 College of Marin students and teachers who came yesterday to plead a host of causes before their two state legislators got a pungent whiff of big politics.

Gathered on the hot steps of the Capitol, the group talked for almost an hour with Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, about the need for more money to finance community colleges, bills to control campus disorder and the aging battle over flood control in Kentfield.

They also had 13 peppery minutes with Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, who became increasingly testy as several in the group pressed him to support a strong conservation bill to save the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

More than 200 persons had been expected to join the caravan, according to advance estimates by the student who organized it late last week, Ronald S. Burk of San Francisco. He was home sick yesterday with the flu.

Burk also had invited students from other Bay Area junior colleges to come along, but none came. David R. Garber, coordinator of student activities at the Kentfield campus, blamed the poor turnout on a campus rally yesterday to oppose the flood control project.

Bagley, who was on the Assembly floor when the group arrived at about 12:30 p.m., came out 20 minutes later and explained he could stay if someone could offer him some lunch. One of the pretty miniskirted girls promptly passed him a paper bag filled with rolls and salami.

"We have bread and butter, instead of martinis like the lobbying groups," said Mrs. Joan Jencks of San Francisco, a history teacher, "and pretty girls and sunshine."

To entreaties that colleges get more state money, Bagley contrasted the critical need for more money to help urban schools. "If you've only got so much money in the well, it's got to come to a question of priorities," he said.

"You're dealing with all the forces of society up here, and with some damned smart guys and some real dodderheads — and I'm talking about my colleagues — and you can't make changes overnight," he said.

"Under the present atmosphere and the fiat of the administration that there be no increase in overall taxes, more money from the present sources ain't in the cards," Bagley declared.

The answer is to "restructure the tax structure," he said, to shift the tax burden to the broader bases of sales and income taxes. "The property taxpayer isn't about to pony up more money," he said.

Some students, who mostly listened attentively and said little, interjected that "the corporations and churches have the coin — they're getting away with murder."

About half the group snickered when Bagley objected to this assertion. He dismissed suggestions that heavy new taxes be levied on businesses, saying "we're not constituted to do business that way."

Heavy taxation of businesses would "either drive them out of the state or into the ground," Bagley said. Also, heavy taxes would mean California businesses would not be able to compete with those in other states, he added.

When Bagley pressed one student to elaborate on his statement that "more and nore the corporate interests are taking over the smaller businesses," the student cited the disappearance of corner groceries as an example of monopolistic manipulation.

Discussing the hoard of bills to control campus disorder, Bagley said that "most of us are resisting the pressure from the public to react regressively — at least many of us, and I hope most."

Asked to seek a halt to the flood control project in Kentfield, Bagley said he could not promise to do anything "in all sincerity."

"Frnakly, sir, we'd rather have your insincere support instead of your sincere silence," said on student.

With a promise to inspect the construction soon, Bagley returned to the Capitol.

As soon as McCarthy appeared, a petition was thrust at him by Judy Gartman of Mill Valley, a communications teacher. The petition supported strong legislation to ensure permanent, tough controls on bay filling.

McCarthy, author of a bill conservationists assert would emasculate bay fill controls, hotly refused to sign the petition, saying it would "take land away" from tideland property owners.

"I'm very interested in conservation," he declared, adding that "without me" most of the state parks in Marin would not have been established.

"I'll vote to continue BCDC," he said, "but won't vote to give power to override local government."

Asked to help halt the flood control project, McCarthy said "I don't like to see concrete ditches, but I also do not want to see those houses in the area flooded again."

McCarthy bristled when several students disagreed with him about the creek project. "Wait a minute, don't get excited — I'll walk right out of here," he threatened.

Asked to discuss his views on how to raise more money for higher education, McCarthy said he favored "a basic tuition." This brought gasps from the group.

The brief meeting with McCarthy ended when a student asked him if he would not be "hurt financially if bay fill were prevented."

McCarthy, who last month told the Independent-Journal that his family owned business 1,000 underwater acres off San Rafael, denied the suggestion by the student, Ronald L. Davis of Fairfax.

"I don't know who has been spreading that propaganda," McCarthy declared, adding his family business had "fixed up" the Loch Lomond area which previously was "just a dumping ground for old tires."

"There's no conflict of interest, if that's what you're driving at," McCarthy said to Davis. "If anyone is putting that in your brain," McCarthy said in a rising voice, "you'd better wash it out of your brain."

Then he strode back into the Capitol.

The students, many of them at least as skeptical about politics as when they arrived, went home.

Session Reset By Park, Rec Panel

Marinwood Parks and Recreation commissioners did not meet last night because several members, including recreation director William A. Gordon, could not attend. Gordon is on vacation in Hawaii.

The next meeting will be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the community center.

The First 120 Days— Assessment Of New Board

Political pundits have been busy of late assessing the first 100 days of President Richard M. Nixon's administration.

Marin's three new county supervisors have been in office a little longer than the President, having been seated Jan. 7. As they reach the end of their first 120 days, perhaps assessment is in order here too.

Having a brand-new majority on the board of supervisors is an unusual experience for Marin. However, the new board has taken no giant step in its first 120 days.

Let's look at what the new members have done, taking them alphabetically:

PETER R. ARRIGONI JR.'S first action was to urge legislation to eliminate the June primary for county offices when there are only two candidates. His fellow members agreed.

On Feb. 18, Arrigoni and another of the new members, Michael Wornum, tried unsuccessfully to block the 1.15-per-acre density pattern for West Marin. They wanted it lowered.

Arrigoni's motion on March 18 brought unanimous vote to condemn 24 Bolinas Lagoon tideland acres for county park use. He got unanimous support March 25 for asking the Bay Area Transportation Study Committee to recommend freeing gasoline tax funds for financing public transit.

On April 15, the board passed an interim ban on new logging operations renewed by Arrigoni after he had tried unsuccessfully a week earlier.

On March 18, Arrigoni tried with no support to revive the once-rejected proposal that the county put up the money to place Tamalpais Creek drainage in an underground channel.

On April 29, he moved that the county halt Army Corps of Engineers work on Tamalpais Creek, despite warning by chairman John F. McInnis that this would make the county liable for $175,000 and maybe more as a contract breaker.

LOUIS H. BAAR on his first day in office won unanimous approval for a $2,000 appropriation to clean up Waldo Point rubbish, coupled with a week's notice to residents to do their share.

He had no luck with a Jan. 16 proposal that the supervisors be furnished photographs of those applying for welfare aid. On Jan. 21, he fought unsuccessfully against large pay raises for court reporters, and having lost that fight, moved a larger pay raise for the court commissioner.

It was Baar who moved the 1.15 density for West Marin. But he failed in March to win approval of his proposal to add two public members of the county team negotiating with employee unions.

It was on Baar's motions that the board approved a $97,534 program, (mostly federally financed) to improve police-community relations, and that it asked legislation to put Bolinas Lagoon under county control.

Baar suffered a major defeat April 18 in his attempt to oust Paul C. Zucker as planning director, when veteran William A. Gnoss joined the other two new supervisors in voting to retain Zucker.

MICHAEL WORNUM hit the headlines Jan. 21 with his proposal, approved unanimously, putting the county on record against ABM sites in Southern Marin. On Feb. 18, he succeeded in getting the board to rescind a permit it had granted three weeks earlier for a 224-foot pier with a house on the end in Tomales Bay.

It was Wornum who moved on April 22 that the board ask that pay for its members, the county auditor and district attorney be raised by the legislature. He got no dissent on that.

A week later, he joined Arrigoni in voting to stop work on Tamalpais Creek, despite county contractual responsibility. Baar and the two veteran members scotched that.

Wornum has missed three sessions of the board during his first 120 days — on Jan. 28, March 11, and April 8. Arrigoni was absent on March 11. Baar missed part of the Jan. 28 session.

The Nixon administration has been criticized by some of those pundits for its slow progress. Compared to the new Marin County Board of Supervisors, it looks rather speedy.

McCarthy Bill Would Create New Bureaucracy—Of Builders

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Some awful gaudy turkeys get dressed up each year as legislation. Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, has one that would tax a huge chunk of California's citizenry to promote the housing industry.

His bill (SB 819) would create a California Residential Building Board of Trustees composed of nine members elected entirely by builders throughout the state. There would be no members to represent the public.

The board would be empowered to levy an "assessment" of .1 of one per cent of the value of "the construction or improvement of all residential buildings." This would include any building used as a dwelling by one or more families.

McCARTHY'S BILL declares that "the efficient production and improvement of housing is vital and necessary to meet California housing needs."

The powers of the board include a provision that it could undertake any "activities which the board may determine appropriate for the maintenance and expansion of present markets or the creation of new and larger markets for residential buildings."

The lobbyist who wrote the bill and had McCarthy introduce it insisted that the tax "would be a cost of doing business." Technically, it would be a fee paid by the builders, not the consumers. But he conceded it was likely the cost would be passed on to the consumers.

THE LOBBYIST, Paul N. McCarron, executive vice president and general counsel of the California Builders Council, said the proposed board would pool information on housing needs so builders would know where the markets were for their products.

The present lack of reliable housing statistics, he said, "creates hazards to investors in the business." But just whom the statistics would benefit is not clear, since the bill states that "all information obtained by the board from local agencies shall be confidential and shall not be disclosed, except when required in a judicial proceeding."

Asked why the building industry could not form its own association without using the state's power, McCarron said "some would not participate without the state's blessing on it."

WHILE ON the subject of what's good for people, we should take note of a report by a government scientist that sonic booms from supersonic aircraft are good for houses.

J. H. Wiggins Jr., who led government tests of the booms, said they actually lowered the rate at which structural defects show up in houses. He said the most likely explanation was that the shaking relieves accumulating stress.

He did not say what the booms do for the occupants of the invigorated houses.

Let's Go All-Out Against Moths

We have lived in Sausalito since 1943. When we came here thousands of filthy bees swarmed over our flowers, stealing the nectar and being a dangerous nuisance. The Independent-Journal ran several items on this horrible situation, especially about our elite and aristocratic yacht owners, who alleged that the hippy-happy bees polluted their rarified atmosphere and deposited huge amounts of bee guano upon their sacred catamarans. Fortunately, our city All-Fathers reacted promptly and passed a memorable ukase forever banishing nasty bees from the environs of our fair hamlet. . . .

In 1943 we were infested with as many as six squirrels, 30 quail, screech owls, hoot owls and other varmints. Local peace officers even shot squirrels and screech owls out of trees to protect and preserve the peace and quiet of us lower animals. The all-wise A.F.'s also banished mules and goats, creating a vacuum which was quickly filled with blue jays, pigeons, dogs and hippies.

Recently the Independent-Journal ran a picture of another vacuum filler — oak moths — which appear to have survived their natural enemies which we lower animals have destroyed. So, prodigious amounts of insecticides (oak-moth selective, of course) will now be sprayed on a few oak trees, but only on city streets.

The present plan is discriminatory, in that only a relatively few oak trees would benefit. Treatment that is good for one oak tree is, obviously, good for all oak trees. Therefore, I suggest a comprehensive plan to include all oak trees and every square inch of Marin County in one massive attack on Lower Animal's perpetual enemies. By buying a thousand times the present quota of "selective" oak moth insecticides, a huge saving would surely result. Maybe even triple stamps as a bonus?

I further respectfully suggest that one all-purpose insecticide dispenser be permanently installed on the silly elephant in our happy-hippy narcesis fun park and operate automatically—around the clock.

In case this mild treatment doesn't produce the desired results, another even more economical method has been peromical method has been perfected. According to reports there may be excess amounts of so-called "nerve gas" stored in Utah and other "selective" hiding places. It is reputed to be effective on sheep. It might be the answer to the yellow jacket-oak moth problem. Maybe there will be a surplus sale?

Early one morning during the recent duck migration season, I noticed about 500 filthy ducks flying over Lower Animal's Bay. They were immediately followed by at least five other flights. This is outrageous! I dread to think of the results to the upper-crust Lower Animal catamarans anchored right in the line of flight. Bad scene, Dad!

Drastic measures must, and shall, be taken.

Will Of People —And Power Plays

I recently sat through a session of the Marin County Board of Supervisors (April 29) and listened to a conglomerate of quite nattily dressed "establishment" people, fuzzy-haired hippies and some ordinary college kids, all of whom said they represented "the will of the people." What they wanted was for the board to tell the Corps of Engineers that the contract for flood-control work on Tamalpais Creek in Kent Woodlands should be breached.

Now, this contract was entered into only after many and lengthy public hearings. The work to be done was approved by the county, and a legal and binding agreement had been signed. Nevertheless, the conglomerate, not satisfied with the results of the full democratic process, had sought to impose its contrary will by conducting a sit-in at the creek. Several were arrested. Then they went, not once but twice on the same day, to the board of supervisors. They weren't on the agenda — they just walked in and started making demands.

Fortunately, three of the five supervisors (Chairman McInnis, Supervisor Baar and Supervisor Gnoss) recognized the situation for what it was — another in the rather tiresome series of power-plays we have all been witnessing or reading about during the past few years — and stood their ground. The pressure play failed, and the conglomerate left the room, muttering that "the will of the people" had been frustrated.

I didn't think so. My will certainly hadn't been frustrated. In fact, I was glad that a majority of the supervisors had shown they had the courage to say that a legal contract would be honored, that an agreement once reached would not be breached, and that the presumptions of a small group (or a group of any size, for that matter) would not be construed as a mandate from the rest of the citizenry . . .

Some of us still appreciate and approve of honoring our commitments, the most vociferous among us are not necessarily the most representative, and we like our elected officials to act in accordance with their conscience and best judgment rather than in response to the clamor of a crowd.

REMEMBER WHEN?

10 YEARS AGO

May 6, 1959

Former San Rafael Police Chief Frank Kelly passed up the offer of a $500-per-month job as assistant to the San Rafael city manager to work as a county jailer at $395 a month.

Twenty guests escaped from a fire at dawn that gutted two rooms at the Travelers Inn in San Rafael, causing damages estimated at $20,000.

20 YEARS AGO

May 6, 1949

About 500 youngsters showed up at Phoenix Lake for the Junior Trout Carnival, one of the biggest youth activities ever staged in Marin.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A DEAR LITTLE old lady entered a suburban bungalow and found a lad of four in sole possession, playing with the usual replicas of lethal weapons. "You don't know me," beamed the old lady, "but I'm your grandmother — on your father's side." Without looking up from his arsenal, the lad replied, "I'll tell you right now: you're on the wrong side."

A celebrated Parisian doctor named Flambeau once invited novelist Alexandre Dumas to dinner, then asked him to autograph his copy of "The Three Musketeers." "But of course," agreed Dumas, and began his inscription. "Since the famous Dr. Flambeau began practicing medicine in this section of Paris they have demolished the hospital . . ." "You are too kind," beamed the doctor. Then Dumas added, ". . . and on its site created a cemetery."

New Chief Justice Must Suit Dirksen

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In the next few weeks President Nixon will make what may be the most significant appointment of his Presidency: the new Chief Justice of the United States.

Chief Justice Earl Warren has announced his intention of retiring at the end of the current term of court in June.

Warren's earlier plans to retire went awry when President Johnson's nomination of his close friend Abe Fortas to the post ran into obdurate Republican and southern Democratic opposition in the Senate.

Senate veterans credit much of that opposition with Johnson's failure to observe one of the fundamentals of executive-legislative protocol: checking to make sure a nominee will not encounter insurmountable opposition either in a Senate committee or on the floor.

ONE OF THE key men President Nixon is almost certain to check with before sending a nominee for chief justice to Capitol Hill is Everett M. Dirksen of Ollinois, GOP leader in the Senate.

Dirksen has emerged as the apparent power on appointments and undoubtedly will be consulted before any choice is made for Warren's successor. So far his claimed track record in getting his way is unbeatable.

Consider:

President Nixon forced the resignation of Clifford L. Alexander, the young Harvard-trained chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, after Dirksen only threatened to get him fired.

William J. Driver resigned as head of the Veterans Administration even though he had some assurances from the Nixon Administration he would be retained. The reason: Dirksen claimed he found Driver playing politics with the VA and demanded his scalp.

Dirksen let the White House know he opposed the appointment of Dr. Franklin Long as director of the National Science Foundation because the Nixon "team" is for deployment of an antiballistic missile system and "Long was against the team" on the issue. Nixon withdrew the offer, then reversed himself but Long finally turned it down.

Appointment of Dr. John Knowles of Massachusetts as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare has been held up and perhaps blocked for good because of Dirksen's opposition.

THERE ARE THOSE who doubt Dirksen's opposition was the sole reason some of these nominations failed to be made, but he undoubtedly was a factor.

Dirksen's influence is not all negative. He also successfully promoted a Chicago constituent, Robert A. Podesta, as assistant secretary of Commerce. And if Otto Otepka is eventually confirmed as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, it will in large measure be because of Dirksen's insistence.

That influence may well be paramount in the nomination of a new chief justice. Dirksen is the ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

If Johnson failed to consult with Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, before nominating Fortas, it's almost a dead cinch Nixon will consult Dirksen before nominating Warren's successor.

Echo Of Middle Ages In Troubles Of Ulster

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The story belonged to the Middle Ages but the time was now.

It could be told in terms of the poverty of the six counties of Northern Ireland and the indifference of the British parliament.

It could be told in terms of deep religious differences between Ulster's Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic minority.

It also could be told in the words of its participants.

IN BRITAIN'S House of Commons, a 21-year-old Irish redhead, Bernadette Devlin, rose to deliver her maiden speech.

"There is no place for us, the ordinary peasant, in Northern Ireland because we are the have nots and they, the society of landlords are the haves," she said.

Commons, which has turned its back on problems of the north since the division of Ireland in 1921, cheered when she concluded.

"A speech for human freedom," declared a British Broadcasting Co. commentator.

"Unconstructive," said a portion of the British press.

IN BELFAST, a disheartened Capt. Terence O'Neill announced his resignation as Ulster's prime minister.

"I have no regrets for six years in which I have tried to break the chains of ancient hatred," he said. And he told his supporters, "Do not be dismayed. What you and I were trying to do together is right."

What he had tried to do was to push through the North Ireland parliament reforms ending discrimination against Roman Catholics in matters of jobs and housing, and political gerrymandering which permitted Protestants to retain control even in districts with a heavy Catholic majority.

Militant extremists in his own party, the Unionist, brought him down.

OF NORTHERN Ireland's 1.5 million inhabitants, two thirds are Protestant and make up the backbone of the Unionist party which has ruled ever since the northern counties elected to stay within the United Kingdom.

Critics declare that it has used religious differences to keep a few aristocrats in power.

Poverty lends further urgency for action to which Bernadette Devlin was trying to stir the British parliament. In Northern Ireland the average weekly wage is $45 compared with $55 in England. Unemployment is 6.7 per cent against 2.2 per cent.

O'Neill's resignation means that the reforms he sought—even that of one man, one vote—are further away than ever.

Bernadette Devlin declares that "the one common point among all Ulstermen is that they don't like Englishmen telling them what to do."

But she sees no hope in the North Irish parliament and even she believes now it is time for Britain to take over.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

I have found some of the best reasons I ever had for remaining at the bottom simply by looking at the men at the top.—Frank Moore Colby.

To say that a man is vain means merely that he is pleased with the effect he produces on other people. A conceited man is satisfied with the effect he produces on himself. — Max Beerbohm.

ART BUCHWALD: It's Easy To Understand High Arms Prices

WASHINGTON — One of the reasons the Military-Industrial Complex is catching it from everybody is that there seems to be a certain amount of skepticism regarding the price tags they put on our military hardware. Just the other day it was revealed that Lockheed promised to build 120 big air transports for a total cost of $2.9 billion. But now it turns out that the planes are going to cost $5.2 billion. And even for an apathetic taxpayer like myself, that seems like a lot of money.

I was shocked when I read the news, but that was because I have no idea how the military purchasing system works. Fortunately, I have a friend who deals with the government, and he explained it to me.

"YOU SHOULDN'T come to conclusions just because the C-5A transport cost almost twice as much as everyone thought it would. Anyone can make a $2 billion mistake. Nobody's perfect."

"I still don't understand it."

"Let me explain it to you. As you know, we build grommets for the military.

"Suppose they come to us and say, 'We understand the Soviets have a new grommet, so we have to have a new grommet, too.' Well, we tell them it won't be any trouble developing a new grommet. As a matter of fact, we've been doing research on new grommets and we already have one on the drawing boards which will make every other grommet obsolete.

"So they give us a contract to deliver 1 million grommets to them at 34 cents apiece, plus retooling costs, advertising, executive bonuses and a fair profit. This brings the grommets up to $1.50 each.

WE START with a prototype which has to be tested. Unfortunately, in the tests it turns out that the grommet expands when someone breathes on it. So we send it back to Research and Development. While they're trying to work the bugs out of it, we have to pay our workers to stand by the production line and this adds to the cost of the grommet. We inform the military the grommets will cost $5.50 each. They approve it, and finally we get what we consider an excellent grommet.

"We start production but when we send the first batch off, an Air Force general requests an extra grove in the grommet. We inform him that we will have to retool the entire factory and he okays it. The grommets now cost $19 each.

"SINCE THIS GROMMET is supposed to be used for the Navy as well, the Navy Research people scream that for their purposes the grommet has to have one less groove on it rather than one more. So we have to retool two production lines, which sends the cost of the grommet up to $30.

"With the new specifications, our engineers discover that the Air Force grommet screws on too tightly and the Navy grommet can't be screwed on at all. So we have to develop a special screwdriver to be issued with each grommet, which brings our costs before we take in a labor strike, to $103.30."

"That's a lot of money for a grommet."

"Not necessarily. Any defense contractor will tell you there is no price you can put on gromeets when the national security of the United States is at stake."

St. Raphael's Gift Shop Is Looted Of Items

Five burglaries were reported during the weekend, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Burglars took $4 in change and 20 barbell chains from the St. Raphael's Gift Shop, 1104 Fifth Street, between 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Ramona Cora Wayland of 304 Mission Avenue, said burglars took antiques, silverware, jewelry and money, valued at more than $1,000, from her home between 1:30 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

After drinking a glass of wine and eating some potato chips, burglars took a six pack of beer from the L'Europe Restaurant, 2214 Fourth Street, between midnight and 2:30 Saturday.

A radio telephone, valued at $400, was taken from a boat owned by Edward R. McClellan, 368 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, moored behind Chanel Boat Sales, 115 Third Street, between 5 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

Burglars took $149 in receipts from Baskin-Robbins 31 Ice Cream Stores, 909 B Street, between 10:30 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

The first student newspaper in America appeared in 1777 in the William Penn Charter school in Philadelphia. Called "The Students' Gazette," it was started by some boys without the help of a teacher and ran through 60 issues.

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

In Marin One Gets Involved Even In Sex Life Of Equisetum

Consider the sex life of the equisetum. Or lack of it.

A Stinon Beach wild flower type made an innocent remark the other day that equisetum conducted their sex life under water.

This reporter, being very innocent about such things, innocently reported the fact. After all, we had only been introduced to the equisetum — which always before we'd called a horsetail — and knew virtually nothing of its private life.

The result has been a minor botanical brouhaha among the flora experts of Marin County, the number and varieties of which are as many as the number and variety of wild flowers (including horsetails, which are ferns, not flowers) in the county.

FIRST, WE WERE informed by a fellow worker — who usually knows about these things — that the equisetum is homosporous and asexual. This sent us scurrying to the dictionary and as nearly as we can translate Webster that means the horsetail reproduces by dropping spores and is, indeed, asexual.

We were staisfied to leave it at that until Katherine Cuneo, a San Rafael teaching consultant in the natural sciences, called to say not only were we wrong in saying the equisetum's reproduction was done under water ("a splash would suffice"), we were wrong in identifying two different looking equisetums as a boy horsetail and a girl horsetail.

She agreed with our earlier informant that the horsetail was asexual and reproduced by spores (sporadically?).

She explained that what we called a girl horsetail was a sterile vegetative branch and the one we called a boy was a fertile branch of the same generation. This latter, Mrs. Cuneo explained as she quoted from Haupt's "Plant Morphology," produces spores asexually through cell division. They fall off and germinate into tiny plants called gametophytes.

This is where the water comes in. The gametophytes produce sperm and eggs and the water — a little or a lot — carries the sperm to the egg, making a new plant grow, thereby creating the second plant in a single life cycle.

INTRIGUED NOW because this latter seemed to fit our family life education's definition of a sex act, we tooled on over to the library to do more research.

The San Rafael Library is a wonderful place but the information we found was not entirely adequate.

Hylander's "The World of Plant Life," for example, said that equisetums mingled in Paleozoic forests with Lepidodendrons and Sigilarias but added nothing further about their social lives.

Botanist Anthony Huxley, whose book we looked at because of the name of the author more than the title "Mountain Flowers," also had nothing to say except that they were spore bearing.

THIS LED US to call a friend and well-known botanist at the University of California at Berkeley who first put us off by pleading, "Please don't get me involved in one of your Marin County nature arguments. Everybody over there knows too much."

Pressing — and promising not to reveal his name or his further opinions on the degree of knowledge of Marin nature experts — we got him to say of Mrs. Cuneo's observations: "Morphologically speaking, she is right, of course, up to a point."

As our sinking feeling grew that we had gone in over our heads even if the equisetum doesn't, he continued: "The fertilization of the egg by the sperm in gametophyte is certainly a sexual experience."

He added that if we wanted to really split hairs — or spores — we might build at least a case that would satisfy the ordinary nature watchers like this reporter that there were also boy equisetum and girl equisetums.

We didn't. "It can get even more involved than that," he was saying as we hung up.

Work Program Confab Thursday

A meeting of the black community, to discuss the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program, will be held Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The Independent-Journal reported in error last Friday that the meeting would be on Wednesday (tomorrow).

The gathering is intended to acquaint the entire black community with the program, and is not limited to young people who may wish to apply for apprenticeships, stressed Ray White of San Rafael, Marin chairman for the program. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Health Care Sharing Is Asked By Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan wants some of the patients receiving publicly financed medical care to pay part of their health care costs.

The Republican governor yesterday sent a special message to the Legislature urging its approval of measures designed to clamp the lid on the rising costs of public medical care programs.

He called for passage of legislation by Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, to require recipients of health care services to pay up to 20 per cent of the cost if they have cash assets exceeding $300.

"Such cost sharing will tend to reduce unnecessary use of health care services, saving both money and manpower," Reagan said.

Part of the Harmer legislation is a resolution asking Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, to adopt regulations allowing states to implement the cost sharing of health care expenses.

In outlining his health and welfare program to the Legislature, Reagan described goals of the program this way: "Life preparation for the potentially self-sufficient and life protection for the permanently dependent, the aged and the disabled."

He asked the Legislature to approve a bill by Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, which would require families with large incomes to contribute to support of their disabled children. He estimated the bill would save $7.8 million a year.

The governor also backed the so-called lien law which he said would save $30 million a year by providing that aid paid to adults be considered a lien against any property owned by them.

More Tear Gas Uses To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday voted to permit more law enforcement officers to use tear gas and require all of them to be trained in its use.

The lower house, on a 67-1 vote, approved a bill by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, which also restricts the types of tear gas that can be used in California.

The measure, which was sent to the Senate, expands the group presently authorized to use tear gas to include the state police, reserve auxiliary officers, marshals, constables, narcotics agents, fish and game deputies and others.

Present law also gives such authorization to full-time police and sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and Department of Corrections personnel.

When a stork lands on the rooftop of an European home, it is considered a good luck omen.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Senate Passed

Texts—Deletes requirement that the series of textbooks adopted by the state Board of Education for use throughout the state be uniform (SCA11—Rodda, D-Sacramento. 30-3. To Assembly).

Children—Revises total monthly income permitted for admission to a children's center from $463 to $510 where one parent with one child is the sole wage earner and from $648 to $713 where both parents with one child are working. (SB39—Carrell, D-San Fernando. 21-14. To Assembly).

Transit—Provides that if bonds for a rapid transit district require voter approval of other than 66 2-3 per cent, that percentage shall also apply for special benefit district bonds. (SB621—Mills, D-San Diego. 25-6. To Assembly).

Organs—Permits relatives of a deceased person to grant use of his organs for transplantation by telephone or telegraph rather than only by a written document. (SB526—Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. 33-0. To Assembly).

Guns—Includes frame or receiver of pistol, revolver and firearm capable of being concealed upon the person within definition of such firearm for regulatory purposes. (SB650—Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. 29-2. To Assembly).

Defeated

Spanish—Would have permitted persons speaking Spanish only to vote in California. (SCA15—Petris, D-Oakland. 23-16. Reconsideration of the vote granted for Tuesday).

Passed by Committee Local Government

Bonds—Reduces from two-thirds to 60 per cent the percentage of voter approval required to pass a school or library district bond issue. (SCA20—Alquist, D-San Jose. 8-3 roll call. To floor).

The Assembly Passed

Tear—Extends use of tear gas to several law enforcement agencies, requires officers to take a course in its use and regulates what gases will be used in California. (AB478—Biddle, R-Riverside. 67-1. To Senate.)

Water—Sets stringent controls on water pollution. (AB413—Porter, D-Compton. 67-0. To Senate.

Sausalito Council To Discuss Noise

Discussion of neighbors' complaints of excessive noise from A. G. Schoonmaker Co. will be continued when the Sausalito City Council meets at 8 p.m. today in City Hall.

The council also will hold a public hearing on proposed prezoning of the American Distillery property outside the city limits.

Four Hearings Scheduled By Novato Planners

The Novato Planning Commission has set four public hearings for 8 p.m. May 12 at the community building to consider various use permit and variance requests.

One request, from Robert M. Nave, asks for a use permit for a new delicatessen and meat market in the Nave Shopping Center on the west side of South Novato Boulevard, south of Centerroad.

Ben Cantarutti is requesting a use permit for erection of a concrete building in the Novato Auto Mart subdivision on Highway 101 to be used as an electrical contractor's shop and electrical fixture wholesale house.

Dotson Builders, Inc. is asking for a variance for an excavation behind a proposed convalescent hospital at Hill and Indian Valley roads.

The fourth public hearing will be on the proposed amendment of the Novato zoning ordinance to change the zoning for the Los Robles Mobile Home Park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard from mobile home park to planned residential.

$6,000-A-DAY FINE ADVANCES ON POLLUTION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill imposing a fine for $6,000 a day on persons who violate water pollution regulations was unanimously approved by the Assembly yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The bill by Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, also permits the attorney general to initiate action against polluters and prosecute violators.

It is supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan and the conservationist Sierra Club.

Water Board Review Of Salaries, Benefits

The North Marin County Water District board will review salaries and employee benefits at a meeting at the district office in Novato at 8 p.m. today.

The board also will review an engineering report on the development of Cypress Point and the proposed Stafford Lake county park plan.

Marijuana Case Probation Set

Nicholas Robert Miles, 32, of Mill Valley yesterday was placed on one year probation and sentenced to 20 days in jail for marijuana possession.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court also declared the offense to be a misdemeanor.

Miles was arrested alongside Shoreline Highway March 17 when honking horns and backed up traffic led deputies to his stopped car. He allegedly told the deputies that he had lots of marijuana at his home, where officers later found two pounds of the drug.

Shoreline Schools Instruction Study

The 1969-70 instructional program for Shoreline Unified School District will be studied by district trustees at the school board's 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the district administration office at Tomales.

The board also will adopt the 1969-70 school calendar for the district and consider employment of personnel and extra duty positions and salaries.

ORDINANCE NO. 1698

AN ORDINANCE OF THE MARIN COUNTY FLOOD CONTROL AND WATER CONSERVATION DISTRICT OF THE STATE OF CALIFORNIA, AUTHORIZING THE DIRECTOR OF PUBLIC WORKS OF THE COUNTY OF MARIN, TO ISSUE PERMITS FOR ENCROACHMENTS UPON DISTRICT LANDS ADJACENT TO THE BOUNDARIES OF CORTE MADERA CREEK

The Board of Supervisors of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1, CORTE MADERA CREEK ENCROACHMENTS

Sub-Section 1.01 — Permits
Sub-Section 1.02 — Application Conditions
Sub-Section 1.03 — Removal of Encroachments
Sub-section 1.04 — Supervision
Sub-Section 1.05 — Maintenance and Repair
Sub-Section 1.06 — Abutting Owners
Sub-section 1.07 — Design Standards
Sub-section 1.08 — Existing Facilities
Sub-Section 1.09 — Other Permits

1.01 — PERMITS: The Director of Public Works may, upon filing of an application therefor and payment of a $10.00 fee, issue written permits authorizing a permittee to do any of the following acts within or upon the lands of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District adjacent to Corte Madera Creek:

a) Installation of piers, catwalks, or docks;
b) Installation of floats;
c) Installation of gangways;
d) Storage of water craft;
e) Surface improvements such as lawns, parking or landscaping;
f) Building overhangs or balconies;
g) Bridge crossings;
h) Utilities
i) Other improvements which can be shown to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Works, as not interfering with the use of the channel rights of way for flood control purposes.

No encroachments shall be allowed unless a permit is secured as provided herein, except that the $10.00 fee may be waived for a public agency.

1.02 — APPLICATION CONDITIONS: The provisions of this ordinance shall apply to the lands, easements and rights of way of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District adjacent to Corte Madera Creek along the following channel reaches:

1) CHANNEL REACH ONE includes the reach of Corte Madera Creek from Corps of Engineers' Station 166+00 (approximately 4,000 feet easterly of Highway 101) to the Bon Air Road Bridge.
2) CHANNEL REACH TWO includes the reach of Corte Madera Creek from the Bon Air Road Bridge to Corps of Engineers' Station 318+50 (the Stilling Basin).

The exact location of Corps of Engineers' stations along the channel and theoretical channel cross sections, shall be determined by the Flood Control Section of the Marin County Department of Public Works.

If the applicant's property or the proposed encroachment lies within the boundaries of any incorporated city, the applicant must secure the written approval of that city before the encroachment permit will become effective. The Director of Public Works will not issue any encroachment permit until the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, San Francisco District, has approved such encroachment, in writing.

Any permit issued pursuant to this chapter shall require that the permittee pay the entire expense of replacing existing facilities, if required, and may impose such other conditions regarding the location and the manner in which the work is to be accomplished as the Director of Public Works deems necessary for the protection of Flood Control, the navigable waters of Corte Madera Creek or related public purposes.

1.03 — REMOVAL OF ENCROACHMENTS: All permits shall require that whenever future improvement or maintenance of Corte Madera Creek necessitates the relocation or partial removal of an encroachment, the permittee will remove or relocate the same at his sole expense. In such cases, the County Director of Public Works shall serve a written demand upon the permittee, by mail, addressed to the permittee at the address shown on the permit, specifying the location of the encroachment to be removed or relocated and fixing a reasonable time within which the work of removal or relocation must be completed.

All permits are revocable upon thirty (30) days' notice and the encroachment must thereafter be removed or relocated as specified by the Director of Public Works.

Should the owner of said encroachment fail, or refuse, to remove it within the time required by the Director of Public Works, it may be removed at the order of the Director at the expense of the owner.

Should the Marin County Director of Public Works determine at any time that an emergency exists the Director may, without notice, remove or have removed any encroachments deemed necessary to alleviate the emergency condition.

1.04 — SUPERVISION: The Director of Public Works may, but is not required to, supervise any work done under a permit issued under the provisions of this ordinance. In appropriate cases, as determined by the Director, a bond may be required to insure completion of said work.

1.05 — MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR: The permittee shall be responsible for maintenance and repair of any works for which a permit was issued. Should any work constructed under the permit become defective through lack of proper maintenance, or any other reason, such defects shall be considered as sufficient reason for revocation of the permit.

1.06 — ABUTTING OWNERS: Only those applicants whose property abuts, or public utility companies and other public agencies, whose easements intersect, District land bordering Corte Madera Creek may be entitled to a permit. No other person, firm, or corporation, shall be issued a permit encompassing said applicant's water frontage.

1.07 — DESIGN STANDARDS: Applicants shall submit detailed drawings to scale, as required by the Director of Public Works, showing the nature and extent of the proposed encroachment. Said drawings shall show plan, side and end views.

All encroachments shall be designed and constructed in conformance with sound engineering practice and shall be subject to the following criteria:

I. WATERWAY ENCROACHMENTS

A. PIERS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than forty (40) pounds per square foot.

B. GANGWAYS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than thirty (30) pounds per square foot.

C. FLOATS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than twenty (20) pounds per square foot.

D. ANCHORAGE
1) All waterway encroachments shall be securely anchored by piling, stays or a combination thereof.

II. LAND ENCROACHMENTS

A. SURFACE IMPROVEMENTS
1) In CHANNEL REACH ONE all surface improvements shall be located at or below the theoretical cross-section grades of the flood control channel.
2) In CHANNEL REACH TWO no surface improvements shall be allowed inside the right of way lines unless the applicant can adequately demonstrate to the Director of Public Works and the Corps of Engineers that such encroachment will not interfere with the flood control channel or the maintenance of said channel.

B. BUILDING FOUNDATIONS
1) No building foundations of any kind shall be allowed within the right of way.

C. BUILDING OVERHANGS
1) In CHANNEL REACH ONE building overhangs and balconies will be allowed within a 12 foot wide strip adjacent and parallel to the right of way lines provided that a minimum vertical clearance to elevation +18.0 feet MSL is maintained.
2) In CHANNEL REACH TWO no building overhangs or balconies will be allowed to encroach on the right of way.

D. BRIDGES
1) Bridge crossings must meet all Corps of Engineers' flood control requirements, Coast Guard navigation requirements, as certified by those agencies in writing.

E. UNDERGROUND UTILITIES
1) Pipe lines and other underground works must be a minimum of three feet below the theoretical cross-section grades.

F. OVERHEAD UTILITIES
1) Overhead lines, if allowed, such as electrical and telephone, must meet the State Public Utilities Commission and State Division of Highways clearance and construction standards, as certified by those agencies in writing.

1.08 — EXISTING FACILITIES: All existing facilities within the right of way lines, which were installed prior to issuance of a permit hereunder shall conform to the requirements of this chapter within one year from the effective date hereof. Facilities which are determined to constitute a hazard to navigation, flood control, or maintenance of the channel, by the Board of Supervisors or fail to comply with this chapter shall be removed upon order of said Board.

1.09 — OTHER PERMITS: Issuance of a permit under this chapter shall not relieve the applicant of the responsibility of acquiring permits from other agencies, including, but not limited to:

a) City or County zoning, use permits, building permits, variances, etc.
b) Coast Guard bridge permits from Bon Air Bridge and downstream thereof.
c) Corps of Engineers' navigation permits for all other work from Bon Air Bridge and downstream thereof (as differentiated from required Corps of Engineers' flood control letters of approval of all work, including bridges, proposed within the entire reach of the flood control project).
d) Public Utilities Commission permits.
e) Encroachment permits or easements from other public agencies or private interests.

SECTION II

If any section, subsection, clause, or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

SECTION III

This ordinance shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the supervisors voting for and against the same, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation in said County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, State of California, held on the 29th day of April, 1969, by the following vote:

AYES: SUPERVISORS — William A. Gnoss, L. H. Baar, Peter R. Arrigoni, Michael Wornum, John F. McInnis

NOES SUPERVISORS— None.

ABSENT: SUPERVISORS — None.

Pulitzer To Los Angeles Times For Public Service

NEW YORK (AP) — For the third time in 27 years the Los Angeles Times has won a Pulitzer Prize for public service.

The 1969 award, announced yesterday, was for an expose of corruption which led to a shake-up of the Los Angeles city government and three convictions for bribery.

William Tuohy, 43, a Times correspondent, won the prize in international reporting for combat coverage in Vietnam—bringing the newspaper's total of Pulitzers through the years to seven, including three since 1966.

The prize for news photography went to Edward T. Adams, 35, of the Associated Press for his picture of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, the South Vietnamese national police chief, shooting a Viet Cong captive in the head with a pistol. It was the 23rd Pulitzer Prize for Associated Press staffers.

The fiction prize was won by N. Scott Momaday, 35, a Kiowa Indian, for his book "House Made of Dawn." Momaday is the first known member of his race to win a Pulitzer.

Playwright Howard Sackler, 39, won the drama prize for his Broadway play "The Great White Hope," based on the life of onetime heavyweight boxing champion Jack Johnson.

Norman Mailer, previously best known for his novel "The Naked and the Dead," shared honors in the general nonfiction category with Dr. Rene Jules Dubos, Rockefeller University microbiologist. Mailer was honored for "The Armies of the Night" and Dubos for "So Human an Animal."

All individual winners, including co-winners, receive $1,000 apiece. The Los Angeles Times award is a gold medal.

Pulitzer winners are selected by the trustees of Columbia University with the help of an advisory board.

Journalism winners for 1969 included:

Local reporting—John Fetterman, 49, of the Louisville (Ky.) Times and Courier-Journal, for the story of the return of a Vietnam veteran's body to Hindman, Ky.

Local reporting, special—Albert L DeLugach, 43, and Denny Walsh, 33, for investigative reporting in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of fraud in a steamfitters union.

National reporting—Robert Cahn, 52, Washington reporter of Boston's Christian Science Monitor, for a series on national parks.

Editorial writing (over a period of time)—Paul Greenberg, 32, Pine Bluff (Ark.,) Commercial.

Cartooning (over a period of time — John Fischetti, Chicago Daily News.

History — Leonard W. Levy, Brandeis University, "Origins of the Fifth Amendment."

Biography—B. L. Reid, Mt. Holyoke College, "The Man from New York: John Quinn and His Friends."

Poetry—George Oppen, New York, "Of Being Numerous."

Music—Karel Husa, Cornell University, "String Quartet No. 3."

Swim School Appeal Lost In 2-2 Vote

A controversial swimming school in a residential area of Glenwood lost out last night when the San Rafael City Council deadlocked 2-2 on an appeal. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1)

Their non-decision after a two-hour public hearing, in effect left standing planning commission denial of a use permit for Mrs. John Del Prete to give lessons at her home pool at 46 Brentwood Avenue.

Councilmen Frederick C. Robbins Jr. and John A. Miskimen voted to deny Mrs. Del Prete's appeal of the planning commission denial, but Councilmen HarryA. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen voted against denial.

With Mayor C. Paul Bettini absent, the council was deadlocked and attorney James M. Fletcher asked that the appeal be considered by the full council, but to no avail.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. explained that three votes were needed for action, and therefore the planning commission decision stands.

The hearing, mainly a rerun of last month's hearing before the planning commission, found some close neighbors and homeowners associations objecting, and many residents backing the school.

There were three petitions, bearing 340 signatures, and nine speakers backing Mrs. Del Prete's school.

Opposition came from the directors of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, Loch Lomond Himeowners, and five neighbors, including City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner, who sat in the audience during the hearing rather than his seat alongside the council table.

The Golden Hind Project: London Negotiations

LONDON (AP) — A San Francisco businessman arrived in England yesterday to negotiate with a British shipyard for construction of a full-scale replica of the Golden Hind, the ship used by Sir Francis Drake for his round-the-world voyage in 1577.

Arb Blum, of Mill Valley, who heads a San Francisco public relations firm, said the ship would be sailed to America for display as a tourist attraction in San Francisco.

Blum, who has formed the Golden Hind Corp. in partnership with Albert Elledge, a San Francisco shipping executive, is negotiating with the J. Hicks and Son Shipyard for construction of the Golden Hind. Hinks recently built for Hudson's Bay Co. a replica of their first trading ship.

Blum said the Golden Hind would cost about $500,000 to build.

Thomas T. Storer, San Rafael attorney and former Marin County supervisor, who was one of the original promoters of the Golden Hind project, said yesterday that he had sold his interest in it.

Panel To Study Safety Barrier

San Anselmo School District trustees will hear a request from Mrs. Gerald F. Burroni of 5 Grove Hill Avenue that a safety barrier — rather than three iron posts — be erected at Sonoma Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Isabel Cook School.

The trustees, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in Red Hill Intermediate School, will also hear a report on expected income and expenditures for 1969-70 and a request from Max Eastman for two added tennis courts at Hidden Valley School.

Teen Dance Set

A dance for teen-agers over 15 will be held at the Church in Ignacio from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Friday. The dance will feature the rock bands Pyewacket and Kindergarten and a light show by the Light Factory.

Service Citations To Chiesa, Brusatori

San Rafael City Council last night voted special commendation to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa and Deputy Chief Joseph J. Brusatori for 30 years service with the police department.

Chiesea has been chief since 1959 when he was elected to the post, defeating his former boss, Frank Kelly. He will complete 30 years service May 18.

Brusatori, former juvenile officer, was named assistant chief by Chiesa in 1959. He will complete 30 years of service Thursday.

The San Rafael City Council also:

INSURANCE OFFICE — Gave first approval to rezoning of 1.89 acres on Northgate Drive, west of Faith Lutheran Church, from unclassified to administrative-professional for central offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co.

Celtics Remain On Top Of Basketball World

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The reign of the Boston Celtics continues in the National Basketball Association and frustration remained the key word for the Los Angeles Lakers today.

The well-balanced Celtics defeated the Lakers, 108-106, in the seventh and deciding game of the series last night. They did it on the friendly home court of the Lakers at the Forum before a record Forum crowd of 17,568.

It marked the 11th time in the past 13 years that Boston carried off the NBA championship, and the sixth time the Lakers came up short against Boston.

Capt. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers summed it up very well when he said, "It becomes very discouraging the way Boston seems to tantalize us and then always come through in the clutch. They outplayed us in the third quarter and took the game away from us."

Player-coach Bill Russell of the winners, having made this his 11th winning season, took it all calmly—but happily.

"Comradeship, friendship, teamwork—that is the Celtics," said Russell.

Boston's John Havlicek put his team in front in the opening seconds and the Celtics were never behind from there on. Los Angeles tied it at 2-2 and then 4-4 on shots by Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

Boston led by as much as 14 points in the first quarter but Los Angeles kept clawing back and trailed by only 59-56 at the half.

One minute 50 seconds into the third period Keith Erickson's free throw tied it up at 60-60 and it appeared the Lakers might roll on.

The hope evaporated as Havlicek, Don Nelson and Sam Jones, the latter playing his final game, put 11 points on the scoreboard in a matter of minutes and cruised out in front, 71-60.

"I think the turning point came at this point," said Havlicek. "They came on strong but we put together 10 or 15 points."

Going into the fourth quarter, it was Boston, 91-76.

"We had opportunities all over the place," said Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but we just couldn't do it. I really thought we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots, but the game just turned around instead. The ball just appeared to bounce their way."

But the Lakers weren't dead as ol' Sam Jones said later, "They just kept coming back."

West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining.

West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car — as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team."

The consensus: Havlicek.

Hector Shows He Can Still Run Fast Race

FAST GENERATION? — Willie Hector of the Tamalpais High School faculty is one teacher who can keep up with the present fast generation. In fact, he's a step or two faster. No Willie Nilly is Willie.

The head football coach at the Mill Valley school recently was challenged to a 600-yard foot race by a speedy sophomore student named Pat Gibson, who had been clocked over the distance at 1 minute, 27 seconds.

The very athletic Willie, a former professional grid star, readily accepted the challenge but asked for a week's training time. "Actually," he explained, "I wanted to lose some weight and figured this was a good way. I weighed 232 pounds when I started training and got down to 217 the day of the race."

Crowd Of Students On Hand

At the appointed hour, Hector and young Gibson met on the school track and were slightly amazed that a crowd of between 400 and 500 students turned out for the event. Official track meets don't draw that well, let alone a dual race. "There must have been a lot of wagering doing on to draw a crowd like that," laughed Hector.

Anyhoo, at the bark of the starter's gun young Gibson got off to an early lead and held it most of the way. But Hector, the "old man" carrying the honors of the teaching profession, turned on a burst of speed at the homestretch to win it. He was clocked at 1:21.5, Gibson at 1:23.

All I can say is that youngsters who challenge their teachers might end up losing their faculties.

Jogging Club In San Rafael

FEEL THE NEED for exercise? The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department has organized a jogging club for men and women which meets daily, noon to 1 p.m. at Albert Park. Locker and shower facilities are available to those who would sacrifice their martini lunches for a bit of picking 'em up and putting 'em down.

HERE IS one 49er fan who thinks of everything. The San Francisco team's ticket manager, Pete Giannini, says he received a letter for season tickets which requested: "Please switch my seats to row 50 or lower. By the time the beer salesman reaches row 63 he's run out."

How true, how true, I said dryly.

Skating Club Comes Of Age

By GARY TISCHLER

The Marin Figure Skating Club, united in a sort of booster marriage to the Raydine Ice Skating rink in Corte Madera, appears to have come of age.

Saturday, the club will host its first competition and it won't be a game of tiddledywinks.

The Marin Figure Skating Club will host the Central California Inter-Club Figure Skating Championships at Raydine Ice Skating in a meet that will have some 130 entries from seven different clubs. It will begin early (7:30 a.m.) in the morning with compulsory figures and stretch through the late evening with free skating, which starts at 1 p.m. Competition will range from pre-juveniles to second test level. Clubs represented will be the Marin Figure Skating Club, the St. Moritz Club of Berkeley, the Crystal Springs Club of Belmont, and clubs from Walnut Creek, Burlingame, Sunnyvale, and Santa Rosa.

MEMBERS

Ray and Nadine Schramm, who own and operate Raydine's are members of the Marin Figure Skating Club but hold no office in it due to their special business status in relation to the club. As Schramm pointed out, "Without a cooperative rink management, the club could not survive" in any meaningful sense.

The club has used the Raydine rink since its opening in May of 1967 and before that was housed in the Schramm's San Anselmo rink in which Schramm says it would have been "impossible" to hold competition of this size.

The Schramms, in fact, gave the club its initial economic boost to help get it started and carry it through its infancy stage.

Nadine and Ray first became self-employed in 1954 after a long and rewarding career as members of the Ice Follies and Ice Capades, a career they "enjoyed tremendously."

"It was great fun while we were young and before children," Schramm said. "But it was show business — you were always on the road, your friends were of the moment. We much prefer the life we have now. We have solid roots, someplace to call ours.

IN ST. LOUIS

McCovey, Bonds In S.F. Lineup

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants are hoping that Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey can take the field tonight and help them break out of a three-game losing streak.

Bonds and McCovey left the lineup when the Giants were tied for first in the National League Western Division — McCovey with a bone chip in his hip and Bonds with a bruised forearm.

Now the Giants are 15-10 for the year and two games behind Atlanta.

Ray Sadecki, 2-2, should be especially pleased to have McCovey back as he faces St. Louis' Bob Gibson, 2-2.

McCovey has eight homers and 22 runs batted in and was voted the league's player of the month for April.

"I sure hope that Willie and Bobby will be able to play tonight," said Giants' Manager Clyde King.

"Willie says his hip is feeling better, that the cortison shots have taken hold, and Bobby — well, he felt so good yesterday morning that we decided to send him to a St. Louis doctor for additional x-rays on his forearm.

"Both Willie and Bobby will be written into the starting lineup. And I guess you understand why. You've seen us play without them."

Chub Feeney, Giants' vice president, was due in St. Louis to consult with King over who should be sent to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League.

Kenny Henderson will come off the disabled list, putting the Giants one man over the active player limit of 25.

Three Tars On Baseball Star Team

Three College of Marin players were named yesterday to the Camino Norte Conference all-star baseball team, with another Tar making the second team roster.

Coaches of the conference met yesterday at De Anza College in Cupertino and picked the team, which included Marin outfielder Kevin Wilson, pitcher Mike Terry and catcher John Sjoblom. Third baseman Steve LeBeck of Marin made the second team.

Marin, runner-up to DeAnza in the baseball race, tied the Dons in number of players on the first team. LeBeck ended up as the Tars' leading hitter with a .339 average. Wilson batted .300 and Sjoblom was the home run leader with three. Terry had an 8-2 record and 2.96 earned run average.

The Camino Norte Conference first team

Smart Attorney Saves Golf From Bulldozer

There are certain things in nature not meant to earn money—a brother-in-law, the railroad, the Post Office, minor league baseball. And a golf course.

Rich men keep golf courses the same way they do chorus girls. Historically, golf has been the most uneconomic use to which real estate could be put. Developers drool when they look at 200 sylvan acres in or near a metropolitan complex and its only utilization is a one-story game. They close their eyes, and they can see soaring apartment high rises with 20,000 people paying $500-a-month or condominium levies where you pay as much for a quarter of a floor as some people pay for a quarter of an acre.

THE PUBLIC links player has no chance in this equation. Even though golf club memberships currently sell for about the price of a castle in Wales, there is a wait-list. The public player can set his alarm for 4 a.m. on a weekend morning and motor out to the municipal course where he gets a place in line which may let him tee off by noon. If he is a "registered" player, he can dial his way through hours of busy signals and get his weekend starting time. Trouble is, there are 29,000 REGISTERED municipal players and capacity is 3,000 a day on a muni course.

GOLF IS running out of real estate faster than Mussolini did in 1945. The national average is one golf course to every 20,000 people. In Los Angeles, it's one golf course to every 220,000 people. Golf is going the way of wooden ships or knighthood. The bulldozer is birdie-ing all the holes.

INTO THIS situation fell William W. (Bill) Saunders, a 48-year-old Hawaiian-born Air Force (35 missions over Germany) veteran whose father, a doctor, took over the Sonoma Golf Club as part of a fee back in 1944. Cost of that 177-acre tract at that time: $55,000.

It was run hapazardly like all golf courses which traditionally have been modeled on the leisurely British medthods of gentlemen's clubs. It was run by part-time committees, and you all know the story that a camel was a horse made by committee.

BILL SAUNDERS, an attorney in Oahu then, was called in to take the financial humps out of the family camel. He found out two things: 1) That a golf course can be run to make money as a golf course, provided it is not run by the customers but by the owner; 2) golf is a mass market which is tapping only the top 10 per cent of its potential.

He began to set out to make golf courses as available as Howard Johnson's. His success attracted two golf course operators in Portland. Next, real estate developers, who put in golf courses as show windows, the way builders used to put in swan lakes, began to approach him to take over the headache of managing what they intended to be as self-tending as a sunset or view of the Grand Canyon.

SAUNDERS SET up a golf course management firm where he took a 25-year contract and 3 per cent of the gross, or 10 per cent of the net. Golf courses can be run in chains like Hilton Hotels, he contends, and his string now includes, besides Sonoma, Colwood and Meriweather in Portland; San Geronimo in Marin County; Whitney Ranch near Sacramento; San Ramon near Oakland; and the Corona National, Ontario National and Pomona National near Los Angeles.

THEY ARE geared to the semi-private player — the guy who has enough money to pay as he plays and support the peripheral operations of banquets and pro shops, but cannot set aside the cost of a home for the privilege. The idea of Mr. Richbricks holding up play for three fairways back while he, and his valet, scoured the rough for a cut-rate (and cut) ball did not appeal to Bill Saunders.

NEITHER DID the idea of a truck driver doing same. A few tricks of the greens suffice to speed up play: The opening hole has to be an easy par 4 ("Once you get the players off the first green, the flow is rapid, and they play faster when they play better.") Sandtraps are to catch only the good shooters, not the topped shots. Employees are given incentives from pro to waiter. The kitchen is made an easy par-4 to the dining room, too. Custard pie is not spilled all over the floor.

SAUNDERS, WHO bought nearly 1,000 tons of fertilizer last year, to say nothing of 150,000 pounds of seed and over 10,000 gallons of chemicals, envisions a nationwide chain of courses that will make a round of golf as easy to get as a hamburger. The nice part about it for the owner is, he still owns the land. And golfers can be as profitable as a herd of milk cows and a crop you don't have to hire migrant workers to pick clean.

Palmer Closing In On Berth For U.S. Ryder Cup Team

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer is closing in on a Ryder Cup berth, a position that could make him forget his failure to win a major golf tournament this year.

The 10-man United States Ryder Cup team will face Britain in the celebrated international golf matches at Southport, England, Sept. 18-20.

At the latest count, Palmer has 119.50 points and is 12th on the list of leaders through the Byron Nelson Classic. The Latrobe, Pa., golfer picked up 33.50 points for finishing eighth in the Nelson tournament and third in the Tournament of Champions.

Jack Nicklaus leads the point parade at 293.03. Lee Trevino at 289.34; Billy Casper, 249.84; Gene Littler, 238.30 and Miller Barber, 202.84 round out the top five.

In the sixth through 10th places are Dan Sikes, 188.28; Ray Floyd 170.68; Ken Still, 165.20; Julius Boros, 146.99, and Dale Douglass, 143.95. Juan Rodriguez is 11th at 132.00.

Ruth's Record To Stay At 714

NEW YORK (UPI)—Babe Ruth's all-time record home-run total was officially certified yesterday as 714 — the figure which has stood on the books since the former New York Yankee slugger retired in 1935.

A special Baseball Records Committee, which previously announced that a 715th home run by Ruth had been found by researchers, reversed itself and "restored" the mark to 714.

The homer in question, hit on July 8, 1918, was recorded as a triple because it knocked in a runner from first base with the winning run in the last half of the final inning. In those days, a player hitting a ball into the stands was credited with only the number of bases required to drive in the winning run in the last half of the final inning.

Oaks Dump Pacers, Take 3-1 Series Lead

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Oakland moved only one victory away from the American Basketball Association champin ship last night with a 144-117 triumph over the Indiana Pacers at Indianapolis.

The win gave the Oaks a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 playoff series. he fifth game is scheduled tomorrow night in Oakland.

Warren Armstrong led Oakland's attack with 30 points, 18 in the third quarter. The Oaks outscored the Pacers 41-21 in the third period to clinch the game.

Oakland's Doug Moe was second scorer for the team with 27 points, Gary Bradds scored 26 and Lenry Logan 19.

John Fairchild led the Pacers with 18, followed by Mel Daniels and Bob Netolicky with 17 each.

French Sailor Reaches Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — A 24-year-old Frenchman sailing a 9-meter sloop finished second in the 6,000-mile solo trans-Pacific race yesterday — 10 days behind the winner—and blamed "five days of windless weather" for the delay.

"I expected towin the race," Jean-Yves Terlain told a telephone interviewer today after finishing the race from San Francisco to Jogashima Island, south of Tokyo yesterday. "But five days of weather without any winds prevented me from sailing as planned.

NO WIND

"What could I do with no wind?" he asked. "I thought I like Eric Tabarly had it planned."

Tabarly carried out his prediction and won the race April 25. His yacht Pen Duck V had an official time of 39 days, 15 hours and 44 minutes for the crossing. Terlain's time in Blue Arpege was 50 days, 10 hours and 43 minutes.

Five yachts—each carrying just one man—started the race in San Francisco March 15. The yachts piloted by Belgian Rene Hauwaert and German Claus Hehner had not been sighted by today, a spokesman for the Art-Life Association of Japan, a race co-sponsor reported.

GOT SICK

American Jerry Cartwright, skipper of the fifth yacht, withdrew at Honolulu when he became sick.

"The voyage was excellent," Terlain said. "Aside from five days without any wind, the weather was very good . . . no storms at all during the 50-day voyage."

He said during the cruise he sighted about 15 ships which passed by without noticing his yacht.

DIARY

Asked if he felt any loneliness, Terlain, who placed 10th in the 1968 singlehanded trans-Atlantic race, said, "Not at all, I listened to music on my portable radio. But most of the time I spent writing a detailed daily account in my diary."

He said he hopes to have the book on the solo trans-Pacific yacht race published later.

The race for yachts 35 feet or shorter, was open to any person of any nationality—amateur or professionally—provided they were over 21 years of age and had previous singlehanded sailing experience over a distance exceeding 300 miles.

Tam Golfers Tighten Hold On 1st Place

Tamalpais High School's golf team tightened its grip on the Marin County Athletic League lead by blistering Meadow Club golf course in Fairfax with a 198 total to down Marin Catholic, 197-218 and push its league record to 9-0.

Meanwhile, second-place Novato lost its second in a row, 208-215, to Redwood, also at Meadow Club, and Marin Catholic, involved in a double dual meet, also lost to Drake, 213-218.

Top score of the day went to Marin Catholic's Glenn Campagna, who shot a one-over-par 37.

The results:

FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Trout Season Opener Proves A Big Blowout

Trout fishing season opened Saturday with the heaviest winds ever for an opening day. Kent Lake for instance, was so windy that some anglers didn't get a hit even fishing at last year's hot spots. Some of the lakes that are difficult to reach in the National Seashore produced almost nothing.

Catches at Lagunitas and Phoenix lakes and Rodeo Lagoon were good early in the morning. I got up Phoenix and Lagunitas when the winds were howling and both parking areas were regular dust bowls, with some limbs off the trees falling around me.

I DID check two kids at Phoenix, Brad Herbert, a 14-year-old, who had a pip of a limit all about 12 inches long. He caught most of his fish casting a roostertail, which isn't what it sounds like exactly, but is a fairly new lure. Mike Alexander, his buddy, had nine beauties too, but was being wind blown out before getting his 10th fish. He said he used everything he had in the tackle box.

SOME FELLOW named Gary Morgan from Tiburon called me and said he had a 20-inch trout that weighed three pounds. He caught it, so he says, at Rodeo Lagoon. Now as I didn't see this fish, and most fishermen are you-know-what, so maybe the size of this monster was stretched a little. But just a little!

On the creeks, Simon Delena of Point Reyes Station was one of the few fellows I checked with a limit. Not bad fish, as he released some small ones to make his limit look respectable, but even his fish could stand a little stretching. Which I'm sure will be the case by the day after tomorrow.

DAVID DAUNELL and Scott Foster of Woodacre came home to the Foster residence with 5 trout from one of the small creeks at Woodacre. The fish were nice nine inch fish and the kids, who are both about eight years old, were highly elated.

Now Papa Enos Foster, a guy who can't pass up a good thing either hunting or fishing when he sees these little gems, turns to me and says, "Do you think the neighbors would laugh at me if I went fishing up that little creek with the kids?" I asked him if he had a license and it turns out he had forgotten to get the trout stamp needed for creek fishing. You never saw such a sad face, but I think those kids had better hurry back up there, or it may be all over by tomorrow.

OVER AT Stafford Lake, which is located on the Novato-Point Reyes Road, some surprises were in store for everyone. This is a North Marin Water District lake in which a Black Bass and Blue Gill fishery has been developed. It opened with the trout season. At the time of checking, with the help of the keepers there, we estimated that there were 520 anglers out. They had taken about 100 black bass, some to four pounds. About 500 blue gill were also taken and an estimated 150 catfish, some up to 12 and 14 inches long were also caught. In some of the coves, night crawlers were the best baits and in others, regular black bass lures. How did the catfish get there? It beats me! The limit on these in Marin County would be 20 per angler per day.

AS FAR AS other things go, it would be safe to bet that striped bass, sturgeon and salmon fishing was almost nil in the bay and the ocean. One thing, though, two of the Wardens did check an abalone bed and actually checked 17 limits. It's hard to believe with the ocean so rough!

PHOENIX AND Lagunitas lakes were planted each with 10,000 big trout and Rodeo Lagoon with 2,000. A Department of Fish and Game release today said that they will be stocked again this week, so with this windy weather keeping the catches down over this weekend, it looks like this week coming up should be excellent. Don't forget the limit is 10 fish and your license must have both stamps at these trout planted waters.

I THINK I will get that Enos Foster fellow and take him up to Lagunitas. With ten or fifteen thousand fish up there staring him in the face I bet he comes up with that extra two bucks for the trout stamps.

Marin Figure Skating Club To Host Meet Saturday

"The thing about show business is that you have to know when to get out. Most people who've been on the road wind up in stocks, insurance or real estate. You learn to put some money away for the day you quit."

The Schramms started out in Mill Valley and since then their rink operations have undergone three displacement,, from Mill Valley to San Anselmo to Corte Madera, as well as seven additions and enlargements.

With each addition to facilities, interest in skating has hiked upwards. Today, the Marin Figure Skating Club counts 68 members. From the beginnings of one junior hockey club, there are now three — bantam, peewee and beginners teams.

SELLING ICE

"We're in the business of selling ice," Schramm said. Not in chunks but in terms of space and rentals. Part of this is "public" ice, part of it private in terms of instructional uses.

"Interest in figure skating has to be pretty much of an educating process," Schramm said. "We had a nucleus of people from the East who were naturally interested. The rest, well, once they started, they just came back."

The Club runs the gamut of vocations and backgrounds, although among the adults, persons with medical backgrounds seem to have a special interest. But in the membership are also janitors, executives, postmen, a fire chief and white and blue collar workers alike.

"Skating is one of the cheapest sports a person can take up," Schramm said. "Of course, the expense goes up with the amount of time taken up by the sport."

For members of the Marin Figure Skating Club and their children, the first set of skates can be the beginning of stages of progress, learning and competition, which comes out to hours of work, needed parental encouragement, and a certain amount of fame.

"One of the primary values to a youngster who takes up the sport is that he learns to be a busy person." Schramm says. "He has to.

"Sometimes I don't know how some of these kids do it. They come here to practice, sometimes twice a day, three to six times a week, go to school, make excellent grades, do their homework and still find time for whatever else interests them."

To the children for whom skating becomes a matter of talent and drive, certain factors are at work.

"First of all, you have to have parental backing," Schramm explained. "It shouldn't be just a matter of dumping the kids off at the rink and getting rid of them. A parent should approve, come see them, compliment them. There's a fine line there. It doesn't involve pushing to an extreme.

"A child has to have talent of some sort, of course. And there should be a good student-instructor relationship. The student believes in the coach and vice versa."

A's Take On Senators In Coliseum

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, holding down second place in the American League Western Division, tonight meet the Eastern Division's second-place team, Washington.

Jim Hunter, 1-2, will pitch for the A's while Jim Hannan, 2-1, handles the Senators' mound chores.

Concerned about sagging attendance in the Oakland Arena, the A's hope the appearance of new Washington manager Ted Williams will help fill the Coliseum seats during the two-game series.

EXHIBITION

While all major league teams had an open date yesterday, the A's took on the University of California baseball team in an exhibition.

The A's won, 10-0, with 13 hits against seven Cal pitchers.

Jim Roland picked up the victory and Tom McAlone, the U.C. ace hurler, got the loss. The A's scored six runs against McAlone in the second inning, including a bases-empty homer by Sal Bando.

HOMERS

Rick Monday whacked another homer in the third and Reggie Jackson hit a round-tripper in the fourth, both solo blasts off Tony Murray. Monday and Jackson were two-for-three on the day.

Joe Nossek tripled in a run in the seventh and singled in another in the ninth.

Roland replaced Eddie Sprague for the A's in the fourth and John Wyatt moved to the mound in the seventh.

Attendance was 2,200.

Ex-Star Retzlaff Named Eagles' General Manager

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, one of the all-time great pass receivers in National Football League history, is the new vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles made it official at a news conference at 11 a.m. EDT, today, when they announced Retzlaff would work under a three-year contract in attempting to rebuild a team which has had four losing seasons in the last five

COACH NEEDED

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

His first job will be to name Kuharich's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' owner Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

PETE RETZLAFF
Succeeds Kuharich

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000, is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

GAUER

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

McCovey Wins Honors

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie McCovey, the San Francisco Giants' power hitting first baseman was named the National League's player-of-the-month for April yesterday by a panel of baseball writers and broadcasters.

McCovey hit .315 during the month with eight home runs and 22 runs batted in. He was named on 37 of the 60 ballots.

Cleon Jones of the New York Mets, who hit .414 in April, was second with seven votes.

TENNIS

LISBON, Portugal — Manuel Santana and Manuel Orantes of Spain defeated Frank and Allan Salomon of Rhodesia, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 in doubles to give Spain an easy 3-0 first-round victory in the Davis Cup European Zone tennis competition.

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados — Rafael Osuna and Vicente Zarazua of Mexico beat Richard Russell and Alan Price of British Caribbean, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6 in doubles — to give Mexico a 2-1 lead in the North American Zone first round of the Davis Cup competition.

FOOTBAL

NEW YORK — Weeb Ewbank signed his third three-year contract, estimated at $5,000 as coach and general manager of the New York Jets of the American Football League.

BOWLING

MIAMI, Fla. — Mike Parznosky of Hialeah, Fla., led the men's qualifiers for $65,000 All-Star Bowling Tourney with a total of 3,878 for 18 games while Dotty Fothergill of North Attleboro, Mass., topped the women with 2,538 for 12 games.

PRO-YOUTH CLASSIC

Marin Golfers Invited To Tournament

Junior golfers from eight Northern California counties, including Marin and Sonoma, are eligible to compete at Napa's Silverado Golf and Country Club Monday, June 16, to qualify for a unique new national tournament — the Big "I" American Pro-Youth Golf Classic.

Entries for the event, which teams 60 boys 17 years old or younger with 20 top PGA touring pros in final rounds of the Proxy-Pro Classic in the Detroit area, Aug. 6-10, were invited today by Napa insurance agent Phil Harris, area tournament chairman.

Sponsored by the Napa County Independent Insurance Agents Association, the Silverado tournament is one of eight 18-hole qualifying events to be held throughout the state during the first three weeks of June. The 19 lowest scorers from each qualifying for the 36-hole, two-day State Finals in San Luis Obispo in mid-July, from which three winners will emerge to represent California in the 72-hole national championship.

Alcan Golfer of the Year and former Masters champion Gay Brewer Jr. has been named national professional director for the tournament, which offers $50,000 prize money to the pros and USGA-approved trophies, national recognition and unforgettable experience to the young amateurs.

"No other tournament in the world offers a boy the experience this one does," says Brewer. "A pro can win as much as $15,000 for playing 36 holes in the Pro-Youth Classic, but that's not important. What is important is the million dollars worth of satisfaction we professionals will get teaming with these great kids."

Chairman Harris points out that the Napa tournament is open to male amateurs who will not reach their 18th birthday by midnight, Aug. 31, and who are residents of one of the following eight counties: Del Norte, Humboldt, Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Solano and Sonoma.

Deadline for entering the Napa tournament is Monday, June 2, Harris warned, and a $2 entry fee has been set. Entry blanks are now being distributed to golf clubs, pro shops and schools throughout the area.

Aqueduct Remains Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — A state legislator has suggested that the state government consider operating New York race tracks as Aqueduct remained closed today for the ninth straight day.

Horsemen are boycotting the track until there is action or sign of action on a bill that would have permitted four extra racing days in New York with the proceeds going to a pension fund for backstretch employes.

ATTACK

The legislator, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, unleashed a strong attack on the strike yesterday in a statement at Albany, N.Y. He criticized the New York Racing Commission for what he said was its failure to take steps to end the boycott.

"Certainly there are measures which the NYRA could have taken up to this point and has not done. Nor has the NYRA given any firm indication that it intends to act."

Brydges said he thinks "that perhaps the NYRA has outlived its usefulness."

Aqueduct's closing is costing the state about $500,000 a day in tax revenue, it is estimated.

Brydges said he was concerned about this loss of state revenue and asserted the "demands of the horsemen amounted to blackmail and cannot be met."

'Long Hair' Discussion Is Put Off

Tamalpais High School District trustees did not discuss its policy on the length of athletes' hair last night since none of the interested parties seeking the change appeared at the board meeting.

Administrative Asst. Edward J. Neumeier said today that the subject was discussed yesterday morning by Gordon W. Pusser and Dr. William J. Filante, who seek the change.

They met with Robert Troppmann, director of athletics, and Donald Kreps, principal, both of Redwood High School, and County Counsel Richard V. Godino and announced afterwards that they might be able to work out the problems.

Neumeir said they agreed to meed again and asked the board to hold up any action on the Pusser and Filante letter.

Win Tight Game

Stan Pottinger hurled a three-hit shut-out to give the Harding Gophers a 1-0 squeaker over Cliff's Chevron in slow pitch action of the San Rafael Recreation Department Softball League at Albert Field.

The winner got only one hit. In another slow pitch game, Cal's Steakhouse topped Wright's Richfield 4-3 while the Refactory bombed Marin Supply in a C-II Division game, battering the losers for three homers.

Comeback Seen For Gerber Products

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1965 we purchased Gerber Products for the future schooling of our 4-year-old. Should it be held or sold at a loss? — W. L.

A. With a baby boom predicted for the 1970s, sale of Gerber would be ill-advised now. The company has certainly been hurt by the declining birth rate of recent years but has made several moves to counteract its somewhat static sales figures since 1964. These moves include expansion of its line of junior foods, acquisition of an infant apparel maker and entry into insurance. A major interest has also been purchased in a baby-sitter service. In an effort to control costs Gerber began packing its own meats in 1966, and will soon pack its own juices.

Q. Last year I bought Automatic Sprinkler at 55. It looked like a good growth stock, but unfortunately it kept dropping to new lows. Should I take the loss or hold for possible recovery? — R. A.

A. In 1967 Automatic earned $1.43; last year net was 10 cents a share on a 7.6 per cent gain in sales. The sharp decline was in large part due to nonrecurring problems: write-offs because of unexpected high costs on a contract, strikes at two divisions and development expenses at another division. Sizable backlogs in several divisions, a new president and emphasis on cost control will probably reverse the 1968 downtrend. I see no advantage in taking a loss at this time; however, full recovery may not be seen this year.

Valle Is Renamed Exchange President

The Marin Builders Exchange has re-elected Louis Della Valle, manager of Shamrock Materials, Inc., San Rafael, as president for the 1969-70 term.

Michael Brown of Tawns Electric Co. was elected vice president and H. C. (Jack) Jackson of Jackson's Hardware was named secretary-treasurer.

Heavy Trading Marks Wall Street Optimism

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock market turnover swelled to more than 14,000,000 shares today as traders continued to run the list into higher grounds on hopes Vietnam peace negotiators in Paris were inching towards some constructive bargaining.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was up 0.24 per cent on 1,575 issues on the tape. There were 755 advances and 587 declines.

IBM and National Cash Register added a few points among the electronics, but Motorola tended easier following an unfavorable earnings report.

RCA traded in a narrow range, mostly on the plus side. The company told stockholders at their annual meeting it expects record sales and earnings both for the first-half and full year.

Atchison, Topeka was a firmer rail, but Northwest Industries worked lower. American and KLM moved ahead in the mixed Airlines. Aircrafts also followed an irregular pattern.

Oils were mixed, although several issues picked up a point or better, extending yesterday's gains.

Steel Scrap Up?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Prices of steel scrap at Chicago have taken their biggest climb in 10 years, rising an average of $5 a ton. The spurt was attributed to special conditions at two local mills and was not expected to indicate a trend in the industry.

Court Postpones Stockholder Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal appeals court had ordered a postponement of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. stockholders meeting set for May 14.

The action was taken to give the court additional time to consider an appeal by Allis against the refusal of a lower court to ban White Consolidated Industries Inc. from buying additional Allis stock. White already has about a third of Allis' common but Allis claims its intention to buy more violates antitrust laws.

Dividend Set

EVANSTON, Ill. (BW) — Directors of American Hospital Supply Corp. have voted a regular quarterly dividend of 5.5 cents per share on the company's common stock payable June 23 to stockholders of record at the close of business May 30.

Sales Down

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (BW) — Sales for the fiscal first quarter ended Feb. 29 for Stuart Hall Co., Inc., amounted to $1,287,741, compared with $1,134,396 for the similar period the previous year, according to Charles G. Hanson, president.

$11 Million Home Development Partnership Is Announced

A partnership for the construction and sale of a $11.2 million, 320-home development on Tennessee Valley Road in Southern Marin has been formed by Allan Associates, Inc. of Mill Valley and Builders Resources Corp., headquartered in Los Angeles.

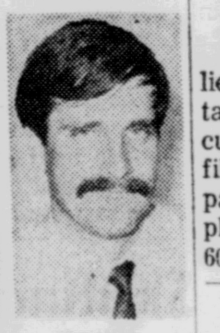
The development will be called Marin View and will feature two, three and four bedroom homes, many with outlooks on the bay. They will be planned by Fisher-Friedman Associates, will have natural wood exteriors, wood decks and patios and large window areas. In charge of planning and engineering is Kenneth A. Frost of Belvedere. Marin builder George C. Goheen will serve as consultant. Model homes are expected to be completed this summer.

Allan and Associates is located at 131 Camino Alto, Mill Valley and is headed by Alan R. Allan, who formed his building firm 15 years ago. He has completed residential tracts, commercial and institutional buildings, housing projects and subdivisions in several parts of the state.

Builders Resources Corp. was organized last year and has a regional office in San Mateo as well as in other areas. It is capitalized by eight corporations and provides up to 80 per cent of the equity capital for a project in return for a share of the profits.

ROBERT C. OEFINGER of Terra Linda has been appointed assistant vice president at the home office of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies in San Francisco. He is head of the technical services division in the management information services department. He joined American at Newark, N.J., in 1958 and came to the San Francisco office in 1965.

Pollack



Weerts

SOLOMON L. POLLACK of Tiburon, vice president of Information Management, Inc., San Francisco, has been named general chairman of the 1969 Association for Computer Machinery Conference and Exposition to be held in San Francisco in August.

REAL ESTATE. David R. Weertz of Sausalito, on a leave of absence for the past 18 months from the Home and Land Co. Mill Valley office, has returned to work. He would have stayed away a year longer but his ketch caught fire off the coast of Mexico and was completely gutted ... Grubb and Ellis Co. has opened a residential sales office in San Francisco at 2204 Union Street.

ADVERTISING ARTIST Syl Colla of San Rafael has opened offices at 425 Bush Street, San Francisco—moved from 325 Sacramento Street.

GEORGINA PRATT, technician for several years at Bay Histology Service, Northgate Industrial Park, has been appointed secretary-treasurer, replacing Elizabeth K. Lalor, who is leaving after eight years with the company.

Rolfs

Bassett

JOHN R. ROLFS of Sausalito, controller and office manager of Lennen and Newell Pacific, San Francisco, has been appointed a vice president of the parent corporation, Lennen and Newell, Inc. Before joining the company last Nobember he was a vice president and business manager of Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample.

GLENN C. BASSET JR., senior vice president of Wells Fargo Bank, has been named a member of the national planning council of the National Planning Association. Before joining Wells Fargo he was with the William Wrigley Jr. Co. and the Chase Manhattan Bank.

To Build Plant

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Allied Chemical Corp. has obtained a 370-acre site at Moncure, N. C., for a new polyester fiber plant with an annual capacity of 80-million pounds. The plant will employ more than 600.

ARE YOU A PATSY FOR BURGLARS?
DON'T BE

DON'T leave keys under welcome mat, atop ledges, etc.
DON'T leave house in darkness. Use night lights.
DON'T neglect to report suspicious strangers in neighborhood.
DON'T forget to change locks when moving to new premises or after loss of keys.
DON'T forget to notify police when going on vacation.
DO ask for household inventory booklet from your local independent insurance agent, list household contents and you won't have to trust to memory if burglary occurs.

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT SERVES YOU FIRST

Your Marin County Independent Insurance Agent is listed on Page 265 of the Yellow Pages.

ATTORNEYS
– you be the judge

The case: legal notices in the I-J vs those in any other publication in Marin.
The evidence: in the I-J an attorney's firm name goes into 45,000 homes daily. His name is seen, noted, remembered. In other publications his name is seen by but a fraction of the families who subscribe to the I-J.
The question: if you wanted your firm name to become familiar, to be REALLY known, which publication would you choose?
The judgment: "Are you kidding?" All of which demonstrates that a legal notice in the I-J is also a legal notice of YOU multiplied by 45,000. And that's kinda nice!

INADEQUATE PIPING

Antiquated Lines Major Worry Of Water District

By JOANNE GRANT

(Second of two articles)

OUT OF SERVICE—Badly deteriorated water pipe is inspected by Ted Harrington, a water district corrosion technician. This pipe, of cast iron, is from a marshy area. There are dozens of others at district offices, samples of other kinds kinds of corrosion and age. (Independent-Journal photo by Jim Kean)

Marin Municipal Water District, well aware of the small, old and corroded pipes that abound in its territory, nevertheless contends it is providing sufficient, safe water for domestic use — all it is required to do.

Regardless of the problems that face fire departments and the residents they serve, the district does not have to provide water to fight fires, although several water districts operating under similar circumstances have accepted it as a moral responsibility.

Marin Municipal is working on it. All new areas are required to have a minimum pipe size of six inches and be otherwise designed for fire protection.

And, the district has set up a program by which fire districts can improve the distribution system for fire protection, in effect at their own expense.

Fire districts are responsible for installation and maintenance of fire hydrants, but must also pay a monthly "standby" fee to the water district for maintenance of a short piece of pipe between the hydrant and the main water line.

The fee paid by the city, usually $1.50 per month per hydrant, is "saved" by the water district. When enough accumulates to make it worthwhile, the district returns what the fire district has paid, providing the fire district matches it, to make improvements to the distribution system.

Fire chiefs complain that while the water district claims credit under this scheme for contributing to improvements, it is actually fire district or city money that is used for this purpose with the water district putting out not a penny.

The district also routinely increases the size of water lines when it is forced to relocate them for street improvements.

The district has also taken steps to prevent corrosion of the pipes, a control program that has been in effect for five years and is effective, according to district officials.

But improvements are slow when they must be spread over the 760 miles of pipe in the system.

District figures show 63.9 miles of two-inch pipe, the smallest there is. J. Dietrich Stroeh, a district engineer, said the bulk of the small pipe is in the San Geronimo Valley.

There is 196.6 miles of four-inch pipe, much of it installed "right around the turn of the century" and most of it in Sausalito, Ross, San Anselmo and San Rafael, Stroeh said.

Most of the smaller pipe was installed before there was a Marin Municipal Water District.

However, pipe is designed to last a long time, 100 to 150

New Offer Ties Up Land Sale

San Rafael City Council last night received a higher offer for corporation yard property along Francisco Boulevard and held up sale for another two weeks. (Other San Rafael City Council stories on page 28.)

The latest offer came from two automobile dealers reportedly willing to pay $541,359, without any deduction for a real estate broker's commission.

Up for approval was a contract to sell to two other automobile dealers for $523,869, less a broker's fee, giving the city a lower net return.

NEW OFFER

Attorney James M. Kennedy made the new offer in behalf of two automobile dealers already in the vicinity, Leon Felton, Volkswagen dealer at 601 Francisco Boulevard, and E. F. Sweeney of British Motors, 439 Francisco Boulevard.

Councilmen had agreed verbally March 17 to sell to two other automobile dealers, George Dexter, who proposed to move his Toyota agency from Larkspur, and Hercules Viglienzone, who planned to move his Marin Bay Lincoln-Mercury agency from its present location at Third Street and Lincoln Avenue.

The original offer from Dexter and Viglienzone was to purchase 3.25 acres at $425,478 and lease an additional acre, but this was revised to a purchase of 4.25 acres at $523,896.

BROKER'S FEE

Kennedy contended that with a broker's fee of about $26,000, the city's net would be about $497,000 under the Dexter-Viglienzone proposal.

He outlined the terms of the Sweeney-Felton proposal, $75,000 down, $150,000 by the end of this year and the balance by the end of 1971. After this year, they would pay 7 per cent interest on the unpaid balance, Kennedy reported.

Felton and Sweeney would pay $3.10 a square foot, the equivalent of $3.26 a square foot if a broker's commission was involved, he said.

With Mayor C. Paul Bettini absent, Councilman Harry A. Barbier said he would prefer to postpone action on the sale until all councilmen were present. Those present voted unanimously to put the matter over until May 19.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. advised the city to retain the pumping plant site. He said the city is due to receive $56,500 from the state for it when it is taken for Highway 101 widening.

The council's handling of the sale was rapped by Richard M. Sangster of 192 Duran Drive,

ELIZABETH BLODGETT

Overweight Gym Teacher Loses Fight

Elizabeth R. Blodgett, Redwood High School's overweight gym teacher, today lost her year-long battle against the Tamalpais High School District despite a sympathetic judge who indicated he doesn't think she is too fat to teach physical education.

In ruling against Miss Blodgett, who has asked that the district rehire her, Judge Joseph G. Wilson of Marin Superior Court described the case as "troublesome."

Judge Wilson said that he had difficulty in setting aside his own view of the evidence and what he thought should have been the decision, in order to consdier only the questions presented by the mandate proceeding.

The judge said he was confined to ruling whether or not Miss Blodgett had a fair trial and whether or not her firing was for cause under the law.

Although the judge blasted school officials for advertisements and petitions which appeared at the time of Miss Blodgett's hearing last May, he said he could not rule that she did not have a fair hearing.

Furthermore, he said that although evidence showed Miss Blodgett's skill as a teacher, there was "also substantial evidence that her weight problem did have an adverse effect upon her teaching ability."

Miss Blodgett was not rehired last spring as a gym teacher because Redwood High School Principal Donald E. Kreps said her weight gave her the wrong image for a physical education teacher.

A hearing officer from the state Department of Education conducted a hearing and upheld the district in releasing her.

Since that time, Miss Blodgett who once tipped the scales at 253 pounds but had dropped to 211 by last June, has worked only infrequently as a substitute teacher in districts outside Marin.

She has said that other school

Navy Tosses Out Pueblo Charges

Admirals' Findings: Trials For Officers

LLOYD M. BUCHER
'Suffered enough already'

WASHINGTON (UPI)—Navy Secretary John H. Chafee announced today he has rejected a recommendation by a naval court of inquiry that the skipper and another officer of the USS Pueblo be court-martialed. He said everyone involved in the incident had suffered enough.

Chafee said recommendations also were dismissed or reprimands against a third officer of the intelligence ship, seized by North Korea in January, 1968, and an admiral and a captain who had a hand in setting up its mission.

"I am convinced . . . that neither individual discipline nor the state of discipline or morale in the Navy nor any other interest requires further legal proceedings with respect to any personnel involved in the Pueblo incident," Chafee said in a statement.

Cmdr. Lloyd M. Bucher, of San Diego, captain of the ship, and the officer in charge of its so-called research detachment, Lt. Stephen R. Harris of Jacksonville, Fla., were recommended to be tried by general court martial by the inquiry court which conducted lengthy hearings earlier this year in Coronado, Calif.

In addition, the board of admirals recommended a "letter of admonition" to the ship's executive officer, Lt. Edward R. Murphy Jr., of San Diego, and "letters of reprimand" to Rear Adm. Frank L. Johnson, Newport, R. I., then U. S. naval commander in the Japan area, and Capt. Everett B. Gladding, Greenville, Tex., who was director of the Pacific naval security group at the time.

The inquiry followed release last December of the 82 surviving members of the original crew of 83 taken prisoner when the ship was captured and forced into a North Korean port.

The court's charges against Johnson and Gladding specified failure to anticipate the Pueblo incident, but Chafee said:

"This basic, general accusation, however, could be leveled in various degrees at responsible superior authorities in the chain of command and control and in the collateral support structure.

"The major factor which led to the Pueblo's lonely confrontation by unanticipatedly bold and hostile forces," Chafee said, "was the sudden collapse of a premise which had been assumed at every level of responsibility and upon which

SAN FRANCISCO—The California Public Utilities Commission has appealed to the Interstate Commerce Commission to overrule a recommendation that rail service to Southern Marin be abandoned.

The California commission, in a 20-page statement of exceptions to the recommendation by an ICC examiner, asserted that the Northwestern Pacific Railroad Co., contrary to its allegations of substantial losses, "has and will not experience any significant loss from the Sausalito Branch operation, but in fact operated at a profit for 1966, 1967 and nine months of 1968."

The statement, written by commission attorney Vincent V. MacKenzie of Ross, also cited decisions of the federal commission and federal courts that "the test of public convenience and necessity does not require that the Sausalito Branch be financially self-sufficient."

Even if "at worst, only minimal loss has occurred," the branch "was shown to be vitally necessary to the shippers in Sausalito, the City of Sausalito and the people of Marin County through its transit district."

The PUC statement, noting that the railroad's net income figures were not available at the ICC hearing on the matter in San Francisco last November, requested the ICC to "take official notice" that the company had a net income of $1,171,383 in 1968.

The line also should be kept in service because it figures in the planning of the Marin County Transit District, the PUC statement said.

A decision by the ICC on the railroad's application to abandon the 7.5-mile line is not expected for several months.

Youths Clash Again With Madison Police

COMBINED AP & UPI

MADISON, Wis. — Rebellious youths and police clashed for a third time last night, but arrests and injuries declined sharply as hippies and students diluted their strength by roving over a wider section of town.

Rock-throwing bands took to the streets moments after booing down an hour-long appeal for calm by Mayor William Dyke, who earlier in the day had declined to impose a curfew on youths in the "hippie haven" area near the University of Wisconsin campus.

Sporadic vandalism—including the firebombing of the office of the state insurance commissioner — continued for several hours. But early today police reported the situation was considerably calmer than the previous two nights, when more than 100 were arrested and about 66, including 18 policemen, were injured.

One policeman was admitted to Madison General Hospital Monday night and was in satisfactory condition after apparently being hit with a rock.

The most serious incident was the firebombing of the office of Insurance Commissioner Robert Haase. Firemen quickly extinguished a small blaze but there was smoke damage.

Police said two 19-year-old youths were in custody and would be charged with arson.

Dyke, 32, who has been in office two weeks, spoke to the youths for about one hour from in front of a grocery store. Moments after he finished about 150 youths erected a street barricade and set it aflame.

About a half dozen additional arrests were made bringing to 110 the total arrested since police broke up a hippie block party last Saturday. Hospitals treated five persons for injuries or the effects of irritant gas, including a 6-month-old child exposed to tear gas.

Rain helped to curb the disorder by 2:30 a.m. today.

Centennial At Purdue; 229 Arrests

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Campus police at Purdue University arrested 229 students at a "camp-in" today—Purdue's 100th anniversary—five hours before Health, Education and Welfare Secretary Robert H. Finch was to speak.

At the City College of New York, the school was open for its 20,000 students for the first time since April 22, after black and Puerto Rican students ended a campus occupation.

In Montgomery, Ala., police yesterday arrested 365 Negro students from Alabama State College as they demonstrated outside the State Capitol.

At Purdue, Frederick L Hovde, university president, ordered an end to the "camp-in," saying he feared a violent counter- protest. The "camp-in" began last Wednesday as part of a protest against a tuition increase next fall.

About 20 uniformed campus policemen, wearing white helmets and face shields and armed with pistols and mace spray weapons, booked many of the students.

City College President Buell G. Gallagher had said he would not call police to clear demonstrators from the campus.

Bill Would Lengthen Lawmakers' Terms

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—A bill increasing the terms of state senators and assemblymen by two years was approved today by the Assembly Elections and Constitutional Amendments Committee.

The bill by Assemblyman L. E. Townsend, D-Torrance, would extend the present four-year term of senators to six years. Assemblymen, who now serve for two-year terms, would be elected for four years.

Fortas Fee Brings GOP Demand For Justices To Report Income

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In a direct reference to the Abe Fortas controversy, Republican congressional leaders said today that Congress should consider legislation to require Supreme Court justices to make public sources of all outside income.

Senate GOP Leader Everett M. Dirksen and House Leader Gerald R. Ford made the suggestion following a conference with President Richard M. Nixon at the White House.

They said the controversy involving disclosure that Justice Fortas accepted —and later returned —a fee of $20,000 from the family foundation of a convicted financier was discussed briefly during the meeting with Nixon.

Ford said the "argument is persuasive" that members of the high court be required to divulge their income from sources other than the federal payroll.

The Michigan congressman said the Fortas case and its implications were serious and they should be considered by the Congress on a nonpartisan basis to "see what proper course of action might be taken."

In a related proposal, Sen. Robert P. Griffin, R-Mich., who led the 1968 battle against President Lyndon B. Johnson's nomination of Fortas to be chief justice, said the Senate Judiciary Committee might serve as a forum for Fortas to fully explain the case.

There were scattered calls for Fortas to resign, and Rep. H. R. Gross, R-Iowa, even called for his impeachment. The reactions came yesterday after Fortas admitted receiving but later returning a fee—from the family foundation of financier Louis E. Wolfson, now serving a one-year sentence for stock manipulation.

As an associate justice, Fortas is now paid $60,000 a year. There is, however, no regulation prohibiting him or the other members of the court from engaging in activities that would bring in additional income. The canons of judicial ethics, prescribed by the American Bar Association, apply to all judges but do not have the force of law.

Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, D-Mass., said the Senate Judiciary Committee should "make itself available" if Fortas desires a forum to answer questions raised in this week's issue of Life magazine.

The Life article said the fee was $20,000 and Fortas held it for 11 months before returning it. Fortas, in a statement Sunday, mentioned neither the amount nor how long he had the fee nor exactly what services he would have rendered. But he said flatly he has "not accepted any fee or emolument" from Wolfson since becoming a member of the court.

Reagan's Tax Reform Plans Face Another Open Hearing

I-J Special Report

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan's tax reform program, already picked over by the state's administrative tax experts, today faced another inspection by public and private agencies who would be affected by the proposed changes.

The Assembly Revenue and Taxation Committee last night heard a highly technical discussion by tax experts on the effects of the governor's tax package. It was evident the legislation—at present sketchily outlined toward long-range goals—faces major amending.

Chairman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, said purpose of the special night hearings was to consider the effects of the entire package.

Tonight's hearing will be carried live by KQED (Channel 9), beginning at 7:30 p.m.

"We are doing our arithmetic," he told the committee.

The governor's tax package is two-pronged—to shift part of the burden of taxation from property to income and to provide more state aid for schools.

Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, sponsor of the Reagan tax plan, said it "is simply that we increase income tax and decrease the property tax."

He said the program also "attacks the education gap between high wealth and low wealth school districts."

Caspar W. Weinberger, director of finance, said the long-range goal was to increase the state's share of school support from the present 34 per cent to 80 per cent.

Both Weinberger and Biddle insisted the plan would nearly

HAYAKAWA DANCES

Ellington's Jazz Calms College

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—Not all the stomping at San Francisco State is the kind that is aimed at hurting somebody.

There was some of the happy brand of stomping on campus yesterday as Duke Ellington played a concert for 3,000 cheering on-lookers, which wound up with many of them dancing to the Duke's jazz beat.

One of the dancers was the irrepressible acting president S. I Hayakawa, of Mill Valley, who drew a lot of cheers and a scattering of boos when he made a few remarks and then did an impromptu dance with a coed.

Hayakawa, a jazz buff, arranged the concert personally and called it a "fantastic success."

"We needed some kind of happy event that everyone could enjoy after months of disturbance and misery," Hayakawa said.

But, as usual, there was controversy, too.

A group of religious leaders at the campus ecumenical house had tried to get the concert called off and appealed to Ellington not to participate because he was being used as "a political pawn" by Hayakawa.

Hayakawa shot back a telegram to the leaders that the implication that Ellington "who I have known as a friend for many years could be duped into being made "a tool of a racist political scheme' is an insult to his intelligence and character."

But Ellington, whose 70th birthday was honored last week at a White House party, seemed able to heal wounds with ease.

He announced that the program was being dedicated to those who want to see a better black studies program at the school.

Draft Laws Overhaul Sought By Senator

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Charles E. Goodell today proposed an overhaul of the draft which would broaden the basis for conscientious objection to include young men opposed to the Vietnam War.

The New York Republican said the test should be whether a man's "objection to war in its present historical context is truly based upon conscience, upon a profound moral repugnance against killing."

Goodell said in a statement it is unrealistic to require a conscientious objector to say what his attitude would have been toward long-past wars.

"No man can honestly say what his conscience dictates except in the situation with which he is actually confronted," the senator said.

Goodell's proposal comes in the wake of a U.S. District Court Ruling in Boston last month that the current Selective Service Act is unconstitutional as applied to nonreligious conscientious objectors. Judge Charles E. Wyzanski Jr. said the law violates the First Amendment because it does not allow for atheists or agnostics to claim exemption from military duty on grounds they oppose killing in Vietnam.

Justice Department attorneys have given notice they will appeal in the U.S. Supreme Court.

Goodell also proposed a lottery system for the selection of draftees. He said 19 year olds should be the prime selection group, with their main exposure to the draft limited to that one year. In recent years men generally have been apt to be drafted up to age 26.

The senator advocated abolition of student deferments.

"The draft system should not be used as an incentive for higher education," he said. "Any automatic student deferment tends to discriminate against the less educated and less affluent."

Despair Cited In Army Sitdown

FORT ORD (AP)—Overcrowding and the shooting death of a prisoner tended to increase emotional stress and a sense of despair in the San Francisco Presidio stockade, a psychiatrist has testified in the mutiny court-martial of 14 men.

Dr. Henry Werdegar of San Francisco made the statement yesterday at the military trial of 14 of the 27 prisoners who staged a singing sitdown protest Oct. 14.

Werdegar said the defendant he examined, Pvt. Francis Schiro, 21, of St. Petersburg, Fla., suffered from "inadequate personality" and "chronic depression," through he was not psychotic.

Defense attorney Terence Hallinan is presenting a series of expert witnesses this week on the mental conditions of the 14.

U.S. Soldiers Withstand Red Attack

SAIGON (AP) — North Vietnamese troops struck back today against the massive American air and ground campaign along the Cambodian border with two attacks that killed 13 Americans and wounded 84. But the Americans from the 1st Air Cavalry Division killed at least 138 of the attackers and another 33 surrendered, the U.S. Command reported.

In the heaviest enemy attack since the border war flared anew two months ago, more than 1,000 North Vietnamese troops stormed out of the bamboo jungles about 2 a.m. behind a 50-round mortar barrage and slammed into patrol base Carolyn.

The base in War Zone C, 65 miles northwest of Saigon, was defended by 200 Air Cavalrymen with eight artillery guns. The attackers seized six of the base's bunkers and held them for about an hour before they were driven back.

The North Vietnamese finally fled to the north after four hours of fighting, beaten back by artillery guns firing at point-blank range, helicopter gunships firing rockets and fighter-bombers.

U.S. spokesmen said at least 130 North Vietnamese soldiers were killed and another 33 surrendered, many of them wounded, after they were surrounded in hand-to-hand fighting.

At the same time, other North Vietnamese troops made a 150-round mortar attack and light ground probe against another patrol base of the 1st Air Cavalry 20 miles to the south. Four air cavalrymen and eight North Vietnamese were reported killed there and 25 air cavalrymen wounded.

The U.S. Command announced two more American helicopters were shot down and destroyed by enemy ground fire yesterday, raised to 2,597 the total reported lost in the war.

The American Association of Museums lists 4,595.

Officials Ask To Lift Bans At Stanford

STANFORD (UPI) — Stanford University administrators have eased slightly their tough stand against 39 student dissidents placed on temporary suspension last week after they broke into Encina Hall and occupied it for more than six hours.

The university yesterday asked Santa Clara County Superior Judge Stanley Evans to amend a restraining order keeping the students off campus. Under terms of the amended order, the suspended students would be permitted to remain in campus dormitories and use recreational and auditorium facilities.

FACE TRIALS

The students are still to be banned, however, from "any classroom, laboratory, library or other academic building or any administrative building" until they are tried by the student judicial council.

The temporary restraining order will be argued next Tuesday morning.

Local 1816 of the American Federation of Teachers has written Stanford President Kenneth Pitzer protesting suspension of three of its members as a result of the Encina Hall occupation.

The letter said the court injunction in effect terminated the teachers' employment. The union warned that the issues must be negotiated regarding the three teachers or strike sanction would be sought from the Santa Clara County Labor Council.

INSTITUTE

The activists are protesting war-related research both on campus and off campus at the big Stanford Research Institute in nearby Menlo Park. Some 150 students, most of them of the militant April 3rd Movement, met with heads of the institute yesterday for what was billed as a "community dialogue."

And last night, the April 3rd Movement held another in its series of "tactics sessions" with some 250 in attendance.

Bennett Seeks Court Hearing

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A former Public Utilities Commission member is petitioning the State Supreme Court for a review of a $6.8 million gas rate increase granted the Pacific Gas and Electric Co.

William M. Bennett, of Kentfield, the one-time commissioner, identified himself as a "consumer spokesman."

He said the PUC granted the increase although the hearing examiner, Carol T. Coffey, wrote commissioners he did not believe PG&E was entitled to the boost.

He also said his request for the subpoena of corporation officers was not granted and that the hearings were conducted "in an arbitrary, unfair manner."

Senate Approves Nixon's Choices

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has confirmed President Nixon's nomination of two men to sensitive civil rights posts in the areas of schools and industry.

Allen

James E. Allen Jr. was approved as U.S. commissioner of education by a 55-15 vote over objections of Southern senators who objected to his policy while New York state commissioner of education of busing children to achieve racial balance in schools. Allen also will serve as assistant secretary for education in the Department of Health, Education and Welfare.

Voice-vote confirmation was given to William H. Brown, a Negro attorney from Philadelphia, as a member of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission after Sen. Everett M. Dirksen, R-Ill., withdrew his unexplained objections.

Brown

Sharp debate preceded the vote on the nomination of Allen who had testified at a Senate hearing on his nomination that a good education for every child can best be provided in an integrated setting.

Among the Southerners attacking Allen's appointment on the Senate floor were Sens. James B. Allen, D-Ala., Strom Thurmond, R-S.C., and James O. Eastland, D-Miss.

Bus Depot Blast

CHICAGO (AP) — An explosion ripped a Chicago Transit Authority bus refueling depot last night, injuring almost 70 persons and destroying four buses.

Six of the injured remained hospitalized overnight, two in critical condition. The others were treated and released, mostly for cuts caused by glass which showered over an area a block beyond the garage on the West Side.

Fire department officials blamed the blast on leaking propane fuel in a refueling shed adjacent to the bus depot. There was no indication what caused the fuel to ignite.

Abernathy's Plans

CHARLESTON, S.C. (AP) — The Southern Christian Leadership Conference says it will move a Mother's Day civil rights march Sunday from Washington to Charleston, where the SCLC is leading demonstrations for striking Negro hospital workers.

The Rev. Ralph David Abernathy, head of the SCLC, also announced plans yesterday for a sympathy demonstration Saturday in another large South Carolina city — Greenville, 200 miles to the north & to support the Charleston strikers.

Abernathy said he will lead both marches.

Vote On Greeks

LONDON (AP) — The Council of Europe's committee of ministers voted today to defer a decision whether to expel the Greek military-backed regime from the organization.

The committee voted 14-2 with 2 abstentions to postpone action until its next session in December. Greece and Cyprus voted against the motion and France and Switzerland abstained.

Meat Costs Rise

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Agriculture Department says the rising cost of meat, a major factor in the unexpected jump in this year's food prices, comes at a time when there are abundant supplies of livestock.

"The strength in livestock and meat prices in the face of larger supplies is due to rising consumer incomes, unusually low unemployment rates and increases in population," the department said yesterday.

Officials indicated, in effect, that higher prices on both the wholesale and retail level, are the result of more people willing to pay more money to eat more beef.

Senator Warns

WASHINGTON (AP) — The sugar substitute cyclamate is a potentially serious health hazard and products that use it should not be sold—except on prescription, says Sen. Gaylord Nelson, D-Wis.

In a statement yesterday, Nelson said there is scientific evidence that cyclamate can cause a variety of ailments, including high blood pressure, liver disease and skin irritation.

"Tens of millions of children and adults across the nation are unwittingly being exposed to potentially serious health hazards by the unnecessary consumption of cyclamate-sweetened soft drinks, cereals desserts and sugar-coated pills," Nelson said.

Army Doctors Unveil Meningitis Vaccine

ATLANTIC CITY, N. J. (AP)—Army medical researchers have announced a new vaccine to prevent spinal meningitis, a serious disease that periodically erupts at military bases in epidemic proportions.

The vaccine "reduces the transmission of spinal meningitis from person to person" doctors from the Department of Bacterial Diseases at Walter Reed Army Hospital's Institute of Research in Washington reported yesterday to the American Society of Clinical Investigation meeting here.

Dr. Emil C. Gotschlich, who headed the discovery team, said the vaccine is "quite a way" from public use and still is in the experimental stages at army camps.

Dr. Gotschlich said it is not known if the vaccine can prevent spinal meningitis in persons who are susceptible to it and have been exposed, although it produces antibodies to the disease.

Spinal meningitis is a contagious disease passed by human breath. Although it begins like a cold the patient may go into a high fever, convulsions, a coma and possibly die.

Each year from 200 to 500 military recruits contact spinal meningitis and of those about 40 die, said Dr. Gotschlich, now an assistant professor at Rockefeller University in New York.

Some 3,000 civilians also contract the disease each year and of these about 900 die, he said.

All testing of the vaccine which took six years to develop has been at military camps across the nation during the past two years.

Dr. Gotschlich said the vaccine is "perfectly safe" and that no adverse reactions have occurred in the "several thousand volunteers" tested so far.

Lebanese Army Planning Crackdown On Guerrillas

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

Angered by three attacks on its men, the Lebanese army says it will crack down on the Palestinian guerrillas in southern Lebanon. But its announcement did not specify whether the "retaliatory measures" would include preventing commando raids across the border into Israel.

One soldier was killed and three army trucks were destroyed in the clashes during the weekend, the army said.

The army blamed Al Saika, a guerrilla group affiliated with Syria's ruling Baath party, for the recent incidents.

It was the first official admission of a widening split between the army and the guerrillas, who want to use Lebanon as a base for raids against Israel. Lebanon is half Christian and half Moslem, and the government has opposed giving the guerrillas free rein, fearing Israel would retaliate with strikes against Lebanon.

Jose Trujillo Dies In Puerto Rico Home

SAN JUAN, Puerto Rico (AP) — Jose A. Trujillo, brother of the late dictator of the Dominican Republic, Rafael L. Trujillo, died early today of heart failure. He was 73.

Trujillo, who lived in Carolina, near San Juan, recently had a heart attack while visiting Spain. Survivors include his widow, Candida Garcia de Trujillo.

Price Reelected Belvedere Mayor

Thomas S. Price, 42, was reelected mayor of Belvedere last night.

Price, of 7 West Shore Road, is president of Price Building Specialities Inc., San Francisco.

He is serving his second term on the Belvedere City Council, has served on the Reed School District board and as president of the Tiburon Peninsula Club.

He and his wife, Jeanne, have two children.

Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel was elected vice mayor, succeeding Mrs. Sally Mathews.

Drechsel, 54, is a regional editor of U.S. News and World Report. He has served on the council since 1964.

Belvedere's TV Cable Fuss Nearing An End

Belvedere's long standing quarrel with its cable television franchise holder appeared near an end last night as City Mgr. William L. Cavalli reported telephone poles would be available to the firm in about a week.

The council has repeatedly criticized the firm for its slowness in providing cable service to all of the city, while Robert Lewis of Cable Television of Marin has blamed Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. for the delays.

However, the council denied Lewis' request to place an antenna near the intersection of Beach Road and Belvedere Avenue, the tip of Belvedere.

Lewis had made the request so he could provide two Sacramento channels to subscribers as required in his franchise, William Rafter, secretary of the city's planning commission, reported.

He said the planning commission turned down the request after it received a petition signed by 108 persons opposing it and because the 20-foot antenna would interrupt the view of the William Booths.

"It was felt the two Sacramento stations weren't worth it," said Rafter.

Councilman John R. Moore commented, "It doesn't seem to me we should be making a decision on whether we should get Sacramento stations."

And Councilman Edwin J. Drechsel speculated that people on the other side of Belvedere would sign a petition for the antenna if it would improve their reception.

Cavalli reported Lewis said the new antenna would not provide a better quality signal than is now being received on the channels provided.

Joseph Sheeks, representing Mr. and Mrs. William Booth, told the council Lewis represents to the county that he has an antenna site in the unincorporated area of Tiburon.

The council agreed to deny the request and review it in six months.

In other business, the council received the first draft of an ordinance aimed principally at controlling houseboats.

The ordinance provides any houseboat owner who wishes to moor in approved anchorage areas must obtain a permit from the city, must have access to public roads and must be connected to the city's sewer system.

The council agreed to study the ordinance until the next meeting.

The Belvedere City Council Also:

BEAUTIFICATION—Received a letter from Roberta Ferguason asking the council to form a committee to find ways of preserving the natural beauty of Belvedere so nothing like Tamalpais Creek occurs in Belvedere. Mayor Thomas S. Price said he believes the parks and recreation commission serves that purpose.

DUMP — Heard a complaint from residents of Lagoon Road that the area along Lagoon Road which the council approved for use as temporary storage of garden clippings by the Belvedere Land Co. was actually being used as a construction yard and the council agreed to investigate.

ARK — Agreed it "would not be adverse" to supporting a park and recreation plan to permit teen-agers to work on the ark for a coffee house this summer instead of having an organized recreation program.

BCDC — Approved a resolution urging the legislature to continue the existance of the Bay Conservation and Development Commission until a permanent successor organization has been created.

CLEANUP — Set the week of May 22 as spring cleanup week and announced extra pickups would be made on the days of regular garbage collection.

Church Must Undergo Repairs

There is no immediate hazard in terms of occupation of the First Presbyterian Church in San Rafael.

This was reported to the church's congregation Sunday following an engineering survey revealing the building at Fifth Avenue and E Street does not meet present day earthquake resistance standards.

Preliminary studies made by an architect and engineer show a general deterioration in the chancellery walls as well as in the mortar and exterior stone facing in the 65-year-old edifice. This points up the need for corrections, according to senior pastor Charles C. Griffin.

Griffin said that no cost estimates for repairs or alternatives were presented at the meeting but that definite recommendations are expected to be ready by July.

Reed School Board To Consider Budget

Needed staff reductions to balance the 1969-70 budget will be discussed when the Reed School District Board meets at 8 p.m. today at Del Mar School.

The board also will hear a report and recommendations for action from the drug abuse committee.

Handicapped Meeting Is Set

The Marin Chapter of the California Association for Neurologically Handicapped Children will hold its last meeting of the school year at 8 p.m. Thursday at the Bahia Vista School library, San Rafael.

Richard O. Pancoat, executive director of Sunny Hills in San Anselmo will discuss the normal adolescent and ways to deal with teen-agers.

New officers will be installed, including Harrold R. Cochran, president; Mrs. J. V. Holm, first vice presdient; John I. Arena, second vice president; Mrs. John Taylor, secretary, and Mrs. John Marshall, treasurer.

Oil Firms Hit Proposed Ordinance

The Petaluma City Council last night agreed it will pass an ordinance regulating the proximity of service stations, after dismissing objections lodged by a representative of major oil companies.

The ordinance stipulates that no more than two service stations may be located at any intersection and that others must be a minimum of 500 feet apart. It also requires that the stations be at least 350 feet away from a school, playground, park or place of public gathering.

The ordinance, as approved by the planning commission in meetings with local service station operators, received general council approval, but wording in several places was changed to make canopy provisions permissive rather than mandatory. The ordinance will be posted again and brought up for adoption at the May 19 meeting.

Virgil McNab, of the Western Oil Gas Distributors, said the ordinance was "highly discriminatory."

Councilman Robert S. Lipman spoke in favor of the ordinance, saying that local service station operators had favored the measure.

The council may, however, later consider amending the ordinance to grant exceptions to service stations at highway interchanges.

The Petaluma City Council also:

BOAT LAUNCHING — Received approval from the state Public Utilities Commission to construct Petroleum Avenue at a grade crossing of the Northwestern Pacific Railroad for an access road to the boat launching facility

ENBANKMENT — Awarded contract for a roadway embankment project on Magnolia Avenue to the Argonaut Construction Co. at a low bid of $3,580.

SCHOOL MEETING — Agreed to attend a joint meeting with the Petaluma Board of Education and Old Adobe School District board to discuss the development of city parks adjacent to school sites, educational parks and greenbelt areas.

ADVISORY COMMITTEE — Agreed to consider naming a representative to the citizen's advisory committee of the Petaluma Board of Education to study the possibility of developing an ducational park in East Petaluma.

ELECTIONS — Adopted ordinances calling for a bond election and election of public officers to city council and board of education on June 10

Petaluma Budget Up; Tax Rate To Remain

Petaluma City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer last night presented a preliminary budget for the 1969-70 fiscal year of $2,866,858, including recommendation to the city council that the tax rate of $1.65 be continued for the fifth consecutive year.

Meyer said that with utilization of $48,000 in reserves from the 1967-68 fiscal year, the general fund budget would be balanced.

He warned, however, that expanded services due to the rapid growth of the city will be needed before January and urged the council to investigate other sources of revenue for the general fund.

The largest increase in the budget was under personal services at $149,424 or more than 16 per cent higher than last year. Meyer said this was caused by the $72,000 committed to employee salary increases last January and with the addition of new employees.

The new employees included two firemen, two police officers, a civil engineering associate and steno-clerk in the planning department, a building inspector, a librarian and a maintenance man for parks and recreation. The department heads had originally requested 16 additional employees, Meyer told the council.

Meyer reminisced that the tax rate was set at $1.81 per $100 Assessed valuation when he became city manager in 1962. The following year it was reduced to $1.79 and in 1965 to the present $1.65 rate. He said the reduction came from a reduction of bond service needs in the city.

The tax rate includes $1.50 general fund taxes and 15 cents in debt service.

Following the usual procedure, Meyer said the new major capital outlay requests will be considered in September when the 1968-69 budget has been balanced.

Mayor Helen Putnam asked Meyer to schedule a series of public hearings on the proposed budget.

By department, the preliminary budget recommendations (with this year's budget in parenthesis) are: city clerk, $15,588 ($14,365); finance, $54,671 ($52,267); city attorney, $20,360 ($18,876); city manager, $31,817 ($31,538); planning, $29,600 ($26,000); city council, $5,049) ($4,881); retirement, insurance and nondepartmental, $216,477 ($197,063);

Police, $281,216 ($265,313); fire, $270,525 ($256,372); ambulance, $16,672 ($14,500); animal control, $13,490 ($16,349); inspection, $24,818 ($24,282); engineering, $76,050 ($71,388); weed abatement, $12,128 ($11,957); streets, $170,161 ($169,778); building maintenance, $30,905 ($31,055); corporation shop, $13,801 ($13,358);

Recreation and parks, $96,362 ($97,208); library, $67,070 ($65,009); swimming pool maintenance, $22,600 ($23,950); recreational and instructional swimming, $16,905 ($17,288); general reserve, $20,000 ($31,000); building abatement fund, $10,000 ($10,000); parking meter, $24,760 ($31,428);

Sanitary sewer, $150,090 ($133,963); water division, $136,344 ($131,573); water department well pumping, $17,628 ($17,038); water treatment, $11,173 ($11,009); water transmission distribution, $73,411 ($69,148); water division, customer records, $51,531 ($51,424); water division, administration, $106,318 ($95,976).

every other aspect had been based —freedom of the high seas."

The court of inquiry faulted Harris for failure to tell Bucher "of a certain deficiency" in the "classified support capabilities" of the ship's "research detachment" and failing to see that all the intelligence material was destroyed before the North Koreans took over the ship.

Murphy also was accused of failing to organize and lead the crew on the day of the seizure, especially in destruction of classified material.

While recommending that Bucher be tried, Chafee said, the court did find that he upheld morale in a superior manner, provided leadership and contributed to the ability of the crew to hold together during the agony of their 11 months in prison.

The U. S. Pacific area commander declined to accept the court's recommendations for trial of Bucher and Harris, but recommended letters of reprimand instead. The chief of Naval operations upheld the Pacific commander's view.

The court had recommended that Bucher be tried on five charges:

Permitting his ship to be searched while he had the power to resist.

Failure to take "immediate and aggressive protective measures" when his ship was attacked.

Complying with orders of the North Korean gunboats to follow them into the port of Wonsan.

"Negligently" failing to destroy classified material aboard the Pueblo and permitting some to fall into North Korean hands.

"Negligently" failing to insure in advance that his officers and crew were prepared for emergency destruction of classified material.

Instructor Raps Administrators: Support Gap

It was not "difficulty in the classroom," but lack of support from the Sausalito school administration which led him to ask for reassignment, teacher Bruce Shaw said today.

Shaw, hired by the Mill Valley School District, was assigned to an eighth grade class at Martin Luther King School in Sausalito under the Mill Valley-Sausalito exchange program, but after seven weeks on the job he asked for a transfer.

Shaw said his professional opinions weren't backed up enough by the Sausalito administration for him to be effective. He said there was a difference in concept of the way the class should be handled, and "my side wasn't adequately supported."

Mill Valley Supt. James A. Collins said last week Shaw "had some difficulty in the classroom" and asked for the reassignment. Shaw said today that was not the case.

Shaw, who was a long-term substitute teacher at Martin Luther King, is being assigned as a long-term substitute in Mill Valley schools. Another teacher is being hired for the Martin Luther King class.

Agnew Paying Visit To Reagan, Cabinet

SACRAMENTO (AP) — Vice President Spiro T. Agnew arrived in the California capital today to meet with Gov. Ronald Reagan and his cabinet and then address a Republican party fund-raising dinner.

Agnew flew in from San Francisco where he spent the night after arriving from Hawaii. Agnew had no public remarks at the airport.

Bay-Delta Sewage Plan Held Useless

I-J Special Report

SAN FRANCISCO — A proposed $2 billion regional sewage system throughout the Bay Area and Delta will not work because salt and fresh waters cannot mix fast enough, the state Water Resources Control Board was told yesterday by a Santa Venetia engineer.

The result of discharging huge quantities of sewage waste — from a few regional treatment plans will be that the waste will float on top of the salt water, and pollute ocean and bay beaches, according to Fred J. Brooks of 67 Vendola Drive.

Instead, the state board should consider returning treated waste water to the water table via channels "through many available hills."

Brooks also cautioned that the proposed regional plan would be vulnerable to "emergency breakdown, overload, disaster and sabotage."

The board, which concluded its final hearing yesterday on the proposal, drawn by Kaiser Engineers of Oakland, will make its recommendations on a regional sewage system next month to the Legislature.

TAX

balance out with no overall increase in taxes statewide.

"There would not be any way the state can make any money out of this," Weinberger said.

The principal elements in the governor's plan are to increase property tax exemptions, re-substitute personal exemptions for tax credits in figuring income taxes and further reduce the business inventory tax.

In the second stage, a flat 1 per cent tax on income would be levied along with a statewide $3.50 per $100 assessed value property tax on business property only.

Revenue from these measures would be returned to school districts on a flat school population basis, abandoning present equalization formulas.

Biddle said he was already thinking of abandoning the governor's proposal to shift from tax credits to personal exemptions in the income tax. He said perhaps a combination of exemptions and credits would be fairer.

He reacted to a study by Legislative Analyst A. Alan Post that showed a return to personal exemptions would raise taxes for those with incomes of $10,000 or less and lower them for persons in brackets above $10,000.

Post and the other tax experts were critical of the school financing plan.

Post said the flat 1 per cent income tax for schools penalized lower income families and was "progressive in reverse."

Bagley, noting the state Franchise Tax Board estimated full withholding would increase state revenues $115 million a year, asked why the Reagan administration publicly claimed it would produce only around $20 million.

"There's a technical and a policy level on withholding and sometimes they don't fit," Post quipped.

Reagan has steadfastly opposed full withholding.

pus this morning, Gallagher said: "There are basic injustices in American society, and as long as these are not vigorously attacked, they will continue to have repercussions on campuses all over the country."

The spreading practice of seeking a court order to end campus disturbances, Gallagher added, is "a lot better than calling the police. When honored, it is more effective."

The city's Board of Higher Education had ordered City College reopened, but it did not until about 200 black and Puerto Rican students took down their barricades after a court order banning disruptions had been read.

The student protestors at CCNY were demanding a separate school of black and Puerto Rican studies and a change in enrollment to match the ethnic makeup of city high schools, which are about 40 per cent black and Puerto Rican.

Neither demand was met, but the Board of Higher Education, governing unit of the 165,000-student City University, said it would negotiate with the students once they ended their occupation.

Queens College, another city university branch, remained closed today. The board ordered President Joseph McMurray to open the 25,000-student school, and he said he would meet with police to work out plans. The school was closed Friday after a group of black students vandalized the campus.

About 50 students at Bronx Community College, also part of the City University, seized the main building for part of the day, but left after President James A. Colston, accompanied by the Bronx district attorney, promised amnesty in return for immediate withdrawal.

districts do not believe that she was let go because of her weight and demand to know "the real reason."

Her attorney, A. Leonard Bjorklund, said today that he had been unable to reach Miss Blodgett and that any decision to appeal would be up to her.

Guilty Plea On Reduced Counts

John Lyle Mead, 52, of Fairfax, yesterday pleaded guilty in Marin Municipal Court to reduced charges of petty theft and joyriding.

He had earlier been charged with burglary and auto theft in the disappearance of the television set and car of a San Anselmo man who told police his belongings were missing after he had allowed Mead to stay overnight at his home.

Judge Peter Allen Smith taking note of Mead's long criminal record sent the case to the probation department for a report and set sentencing for May 23.

Youth Convicted On Having Marijuana

A Marin Superior Court jury yesterday found John Jeffery Faircloth, 18, of San Francisco guilty of possession of marijuana but split on whether he was guilty of two sales of the same drug.

Judge E. Warren McGuire set sentencing on the possession count for June 3.

Vallejo Driver Critically Hurt

A 23-year-old Vallejo man was reported in critical condition today in Merritt Hospital in Oakland after his car collided with another auto on Highway 37 in Southern Sonoma.

The man, Justin D. Parson, is being treated for multiple fractures and head injuries. He was transferred from Kaiser Foundation Hospital in Vallejo.

The California Highway Patrol said Parson apparently fell asleep at the wheel while driving about a mile west of the Sonoma Creek Bridge at 3:30 a.m. Saturday. His car struck one driven by Henry F. Rodriguez, 40, of Antioch. Five other persons were hurt, none seriously.

Mother, Daughter Injured In Wreck

A Mill Valley mother and her infant daughter were treated at Marin General Hospital last night after their car hit a tree at 10:25 p.m. and splashed into a creek beside Tennessee Valley road, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The car was driven by Gary M. Cliff, 28, of 65 Summit Avenue, Mill Valley, the patrol said. His wife, Mary K. Cliff, 24, was treated for bruises and scrapes on the legs and their daughter, 5-month-old Julie, was treated for water in the lungs.

years, Stroeh said. The water main on Fourth Street in San Rafael is 83 years old and no one now working for the water district can recall having trouble with it, he added.

There are also 254 miles of six-inch pipe, some of it so badly encrusted with years of built-up deposits it only provides a three-inch flow, fire chiefs reported.

The deposits came mainly in unlined pipes, Stroeh said, the kind used prior to the late 1930s when the district began installing concrete-lined pipe.

The deposits break off during main flushing or when there is a reversal of the direction the water is traveling in the main. The result, to consumers, is dirty-looking, rust-flecked water.

However, Stroeh said, frequently the problems is with the consumer who has not flushed his hot water tank lately. The water district recommends flushing the tank once a month to prevent a buildup of sedimentation.

Problems also occur in the filled marshland areas of the district where saltwater has corroding effects on pipes.

Of the district's total pipe mileage, 120 miles were installed in the last 10 years and about 30 more miles were replaced.

The parts of the system that are not so new and not so adequate are being studied now in preparation for a possible $10 million bond issue as part of a larger bond issue ($30 million to $40 million total) for transportation of supplemental water from the Russian River to Marin.

The $10 million is seen as enought to make it a "first class" or "cadillac" system, according to water district officials. But Gen. Mgr. William R. Seeger who has not seen the plans said he did not know if it would make the whole system adequate for fire protection.

A bond issue is the only way to raise that kind of money, Seeger believes. Raising rates is not the answer, he added.

Even if rates had been raised years ago, "we could never save enough money," said Seeger.

Marin Municipal Water District has raised rates once in 57 years — a 15 per cent increase in 1965. Its rates are about midway on a scale of comparable California water districts.

The possibility of selling some of the water district's considerable property to raise money has not been seriously considered for several years, after a previous attempt was strongly opposed, Seeger said.

Final reports on the plans for the distribution system and bringing supplemental water from the Russian River are due next month, Seeger said.

Boy, 6, Hit By Car Now Is Satisfactory

A six-year old San Rafael boy was reported in satisfactory condition at Marin General Hospital today with a broken left leg suffered in an accident Sunday evening.

Police said the boy, Ernest Handy of 1567 Fourth Street, reportedly ran from behind a double-parked garbage truck into the path of a car driven by Claude Eugene Earwood of 37 San Pedro Road, San Rafael, as Earwood tried to pass the garbage truck.

OBITUARIES

Richard M. Kirby's Rites Set

Funeral for Richard M. Kirby of Santa Venetia, who died yesterday of injuries suffered when he fell off a truck, will be a 1:30 p.m. tomorrow at the Harry M. Williams Mortuary, San Rafael. Burial will be in Mount Tamalpais Cemetery.

Kirby, 22, of 105 Garden Avenue, fell off a flatbed truck Sunday when it rounded a corner at Second and A streets in San Rafael. He died of a fractured skull early yesterday in Marin General Hospital.

Kirby, a native of San Rafael, attended the College of Marin. He was an Army veteran.

Survivors are his parents, Warren T. and Barbara Jean Kirby; a sister, Kristine R., at home; two brothers, Robert James Kirby, also at home, and Warren T. Kirby Jr. of New York, and his grandmother, Mrs. Grace Zubler of San Rafael.

JAMES HUNTSMAN

Funeral for James M. Huntsman, a former resident of Marin, will be held at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Napa Valley Memorial Gardens Mortuary, Napa, with burial in the Napa Valley Memorial Gardens Cemetery.

Huntsman, 75, of Napa, died Sunday in a local hospital following a short illness.

A native of Scottsville, Ky., Huntsman was a retired farmer. He lived in Marin from 1937 to 1949 and worked at Marinship.

Survivors are his wife, Effie Huntsman; four sons, Kenneth Huntsman of Forest Knolls, and Carl, James and Leonard Huntsman of Napa; a daughter, Roberta Crews; three brothers, Henry Huntsman of Kentucky; Robert Huntsman of Indianapolis, and Odie Huntsman of Olema; 19 grandchildren and one great-grandchild.

who argued strongly that the council should have taken bids on the property.

The city "has no right to give someone a special bargain," Sangster said. A lot of people are concerned and think it shouldn't be sold under a private sale, he contended.

The city should get the most money it can for the property, he asserted. "I think its a great mistake if you don't take the best offer you can get."

He advocated that the city advertise for bids. "Sale without bids is a bad precedent and a great mistake," he said.

Vice Mayor Fred E. Jensen, who voted against the verbal offer to sell in March, said the council was duty-bound to obtain the greatest amount of money.

He explained that the property had been up for sale for about two to three years, but there weren't any offers until Dexter and Viglienzone made their proposal. The council accepted it verbally, "but legally is not tied," he noted.

Councilman John A. Miskimen said several factors have to be considered to determine which is the best offer. "It's not quite as clearcut as the price tag."

Sangster said the city should draw up its own sale terms, and have people bid on that basis. "I wouldn't let people come and tell you. You say here's the way we'll do it."

Robert A. Roumiguiere, real estate broker representing Dexter and Viglienzone, said those two dealers met all the city's terms and he rejected any inference that the city would be selling for less than value.

EDNER HUNTLEY

Funeral for Edner Huntley, 76, of 924 East Cotati Avenue, Cotati, who died Saturday at a local hospital after a long illness, will be at 2 p.m. tomorrow at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma.

Burial will be at Cypress Hill Memorial Park. A native of Tomales, Miss Huntley had lived in Cotati for eight years.

She is survived by three sisters, Mrs. Cora Conti and Mrs. Abbie Goodale of Petaluma, and Mrs. Clara Waltman of Willow Grove, Pa.

WILLIAM ARMINGTON

Private funeral was held yesterday at the Sorensen Funeral Home, Petaluma, for William E. Armington II, 52, of Petaluma, who died Saturday at a Santa Rosa hospital after a short illness.

A memorial service was held today at St. John's Episcopal Church, Petaluma. Private inurnment was at Cypress Hill Memorial Park.

Armington, who lived at 101 Belleview Street, was born in San Francisco, and had worked as a machinist for the Pacific Gas and Electric Co., Kreske Manufacturing and the Mission Appliance Co. of San Francisco.

For the past year he had been employed by the Koch Luggage Co. of Corte Madera. Armington was a member of the International Association of Machinists, San Rafael Local No. 238.

He is survived by his wife, Geraldine; a son, William E. Armington III of San Diego; three daughters, Susan, Marrie and Margaret, all of Petaluma, and a brother, Robert E. Armington of San Rafael.

HUGH HUDGENS

Services for Hugh Hudgens, 87, of 48 Deer Hollow Road, Sleepy Hollow, will be held tomorrow in his native city, Marion, Ill.

Hudgens, a retired justice of the peace in Marion, died Sunday at a local hospital after an illness. He had been a resident of Marin for five years.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. William G. Bourne, with whom he lived, and Mrs. Liley Capodanno of West Caldwell, N.J., and a brother, Eugene Hudgens of Marion, Ill.

PAUL A. O'NEILL

Requiem Mass for Paul A. O'Neill, 81, of San Francisco, father of Paul J. O'Neill of San Rafael, will be celebrated at 9:30 a.m. tomorrow at St. Monica Church in San Francisco.

O'Neill, chairman of the board of Union Machine Co., San Francisco, died unexpectedly Sunday at his son's home in San Rafael, apparently of a heart attack.

A native of Hartford, Conn., he had been a resident of California for 80 years and was a member of several professional organizations.

Surviving are two daughters, Mrs. Eve McKnew and Mrs. Gloria Franceschina, both of San Francisco, his son, Paul, and seven grandchildren.

Burial will be at Holy Cross Cemetery, Colma. Rosary will be recited at 8 p.m. today at Carew and English funeral home in San Francisco.

How to send your son to college— without feeling the pinch!

A college education is more than a matter of pride and accomplishment. In today's highly specialized and technical world it is an absolute necessity. But the question is how to finance it?

One of the surest ways of building a fund for the higher education of your son is to plan ahead with Manufacturers Life Insurance.

By investing in a Manufacturers Life Participating Policy you get a double safeguard. Your savings accumulate on a planned basis—and they grow through earned dividends and guaranteed interest. By the time your son graduates from high school, your equity can be large enough to finance his higher education.

At the same time, you know that should you die before your son enters university—there will be sufficient funds available for this purpose.

Talk to a representative from Manufacturers Life about this important ambition of yours. He will be able to show you how you can accomplish your goal without feeling the pinch. Call him today!

New Trustee Frowns On Student Survey

Robert W. Corlett was seated last night on the Tamalpais High School District board and promptly found himself standing alone against payment of a $9,250 bill for a community survey that is slated to be taken starting May 14.

Corlett, an attorney, objected to students being questioned on civil disobedience, breaking the law, the draft and the brotherhood of man, saying that if these questions are asked, the board will be open to public attack.

There is a question of whether the district can legally ask students their attitudes on these subjects, the new trustee said.

Board members said that the subject had been thoroughly discussed, that Corlett had been invited to attend but had not appeared and that a contract had been let.

Trustees voted 3-to-1 to pay the partial payment to Field Research Corp of San Francisco, Corlett voting "no," and Frank L. Miller absent. During the session, Trustee Bette Wallace slipped out and set up a meeting for 7 p.m. today between Corlett, County Counsel Richard V. Godino and Trustee David D. Ring to discuss the legality questions.

Corlett, elected April 15 to fill the unexpired term of William B. Lewis, was appointed to the board by the Marin County Board of Education last night at 8 p.m.

County Schools Supt. Virgil S. Hollis then drove to the Tamalpais High School district office, swore Corlett in and new trustee was seated.

He would normally have taken office July 1.

San Rafael Police Recover Loot From Two Burglaries

San Rafael police have recovered about $1,750 worth of stereo equipment, silverware and guns taken in two burglaries in the Terra Linda area, and an alert letter carrier has been credited with solving one of them.

Police said the letter carrier noticed some suspicious activity at 381 Nova Albion Way April 24, took the license number of a strange car and studied two strangers there.

Later when police were investigating a burglary at the home of Elena Foley, 381 Nova Albion Way, the postman offered his information.

Jay Riley, 17, of 330 Arias Street, San Rafael, was cited to juvenile authorities on suspicion of burglary, police said.

In their investigation, police learned that silverware taken from the Foley home had been sold to San Rafael jeweler Arthur F. Deiters, an unsuccessful candidate for the San Rafael City Council in April.

Police said Deiters deals in old gold and silver and when he was told the merchandise was stolen he turned it over to police.

Other items taken from the Foley home were recovered from a friend of Riley's who had purchased them, police said.

The guns, taken from the home of Randall J. Janisse, 92 Elena Circle, were recovered on a tip from an unidentified informant, police said.

No arrests have been made in that case which is still under investigation.

Novato Reports School Burglary, Other Thefts

The theft of four bicycles, the burglary of San Jose Junior High School and the theft of a radio from an auto were reported today by Novato police.

Two of the bikes were taken from 2045 Vineyard Road between 11 a.m. and 2 p.m., police said. They belonged to Larry Jay Martin of 1302 Kaehler Street and Randy Solfer of 9 Country Lane. The bikes were valued at $25 and $20.

A $25 bicycle owned by Timothy Wheeler of 15 Stasia Drive was taken from his home in mid-afternoon and a $30 bike owned by Allen Arden Forest of 617 Manuel Drive was taken from his home.

Burglars took $15 from the pocket of a smock belonging to John Bazzano of 11 Arbor Circle from a room in San Jose Junior High sometime during the weekend, police said. There was no sign of forced entry and the door to the room was locked, they said.

Police also reported the theft last night of a $40 radio from the car of Jeanne L. Corrente as it was parked near her home at 1309 Leafwood Drive.

Theft Of Two Bicycles Reported

Two bicycle thefts were reported to San Rafael police yesterday, officers said today.

A bicycle valued at $62 and owned by Jule K. Ratti of 7 Corte Saratoga was taken from her home and another, valued at $80 and owned by Herbert N. Moran, 31 Watt Avenue, San Rafael, was taken from the parking lot at the Food Mart, Fifth and Tamalpais avenues, police said.

Wreck Victim Reported Fair

Betty Davies, 19, of Penngrove Avenue, Petaluma, was reported in fair condition today in the intensive care unit of Santa Rosa Memorial Hospital with multiple head injuries suffered in a motorcycle-car collision at Highways 37 and 121 in Southern Sonoma County, the Califorina Highway Patrol said.

Miss Davies was a passenger on a motorcycle driven by Gary N. Smay, 20, of 55 Williams Avenue, Cotati.

The accident occurred at 2 p.m., the patrol said, when a car driven by Franklin T. Martin, 62, of Sonoma, pulled onto Highway 37 into the path of Smay's motorcycle.

Miss Davies was thrown to the pavement as the cycle hit Martin's car. Smay received minor scrapes but did not require hospital treatment.

Arrest Halts Runaways' Picnic Plans

A bacchanalian picnic featuring wine, music and pornographic literature came to an abrupt end yesterday when its teen-age participants — both runaways from Marin Juvenile Hall — were arrested on suspicion of car theft, burglary and escape.

According to sheriff's deputies, an off-duty Novato policeman became suspicious when he saw two youths park a 1965 Mustang on Quietwood Drive and walk down to the creek area.

The car turned out to have been stolen on Saturday, the same day that James Ghilotti, 14, and James B. Kisling, 16, had escaped juvenile hall, the officer said.

Deputies were called and arrested the two youths, who were seated at a picnic table with a bottle of wine, a portable radio and a supply of nudist books.

In the car, officers said they found a ratchet, socket, men's neckties, a small piggy bank and more books featuring nudists.

A third youth, Norman Johnson, 16, who fled the hall at the same time as Ghilotti and Kisling, was arrested Sunday night in Fairfax, also driving a stolen car, according to Inspector Charles Prandi of the juvenile bureau.

Restaurant's Plans Vetoed

The Mill Valley Architectural Advisory Committee last night refused to approve site plans and building design for a Taco Bell take out food restaurant at 497 Miller Avenue, committeeman Dorrie Basset reported.

Mrs. Basett said the application was denied because the comprehensive site plan, presented by Taco Bell representatives, was inadequate and the design sketches did not reflect the commission's previous request that the building's architectural style be changed from the standard false mission front.

The commission approved landscape plans for a Union Oil service station at 455 Miller Avenue and building, parking and landscape plans for a warehouse addition to the Goodman Building Supply Co. at 775 Redwood Highway.

Injuries Are Minor In 101 Auto Crash

Grace V. Olhiser, 39, of 401 East Blithedale Avenue, Mill Valley, was reported in good condition today at Marin General Hospital with a cut scalp and multiple scrapes and bruises suffered yesterday when her car hit a guard rail on the Highway 101 viaduct in San Rafael, the California Highway Patrol reported.

The patrol said the front-opening door of Mrs. Olhiser's car flew open at 7:30 a.m. and she lost control of the car as she tried to close it. She was thrown from the car as it skidded across the traffic lanes, the patrol said.

Debating Team Wins A Superior

The three-member debating team from Terra Linda High School, competing during the weekend in state finals, won superior rating but did not qualify for the national competition, their coach, Mrs. Lenn B. Bragg, reported yesterday.

The Terra Linda students who took part are Cathy Madden, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul J. Madden of 1748 Las Gallinas Avenue, and Adele and Will Madden, daughter and son of Dr. and Mrs. William J. Madden of 330 Holly Drive.

Hundreds of students competed in the debate contest at Los Angeles State College, according to Mrs. Bragg, who said finalists in the national competition will be announced at a later date.

Marin City Housing Development Hearing

A report by Marin Development Company (formerly California Development Corp.) on a proposed development of 17 houses in Marin City will be heard when the Marin County Redevelopment Agency meets at 8:30 p.m. today in the Manzanita Center, Marin City.

The Marin County Housing Authority will meet at 7:30 p.m. at the Manzanita Center to hear reports on housing projects in Kentfield and Novato.

Hiring Session

The Bolinas Public Utility District board will hold a closed meeting at 7 p.m. tomorrow to discuss hiring new employees. The regular open meeting will follow at 8 p.m. at the district office, 270 Elm Road.

Folsom Fills Board Seat For Hospital

George H. Folsom, a Sausalito industrial consultant, was named last night to the Marin Hospital District board to fill the unexpired vacancy of Irving D. Chapman. Chapman resigned in March for business reasons.

Folsom, who is married and lives at 54 Vista Clara Road, was one of 10 persons who applied for the position. He is a trustee and the treasurer of the Sausalito Foundation and has been a Marin County resident since 1956.

The board met six candidates, including Folsom, in open session last night, then went into closed meeting to make its decision.

In other action the board accepted the low bid from Freethy and Co., El Cerrito, of $96,213 for grading, drainage, paving and striping of the parking lot across Bon Air Road. High bidder was McGuire and Hester at $141,543. Work is expected to start this week.

Bolinas Volunteers Plan Annual Dance

The Bille Sache Band will play at the 25th annual Bolinas Volunteer Firemen's ball July 5, the firemen agreed last night. The volunteer firemen discussed plans for the ball, which will be held from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m. at the Bolinas Community Center.

The volunteers also planned a summer project of painting hydrants and clearing areas around them.

ALMANAC

Today is Tuesday, May 6, the 126th day of 1969 with 239 to follow.

The moon is between its full phase and last quarter. The morning stars are Venus, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Mercury and Jupiter.

On this day in history:

In 1935 the Works Progress Administration —WPA—was set up by Congress to provide work for the unemployed.

In 1937 the German dirigible Hindenburg exploded at Lakehurst, N.J. Thirty-six passengers were killed.

In 1941 Stalin replaced V. M. Molotov as premier of the Soviet Union.

In 1967 the Greek military junta suspended parliament and abolished popular elections.

A thought for the day: Washington Irving said, "A woman's whole life is a history of affections."

New Technique Aids Kidney Transplants

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)—A technique for injecting directly into transplanted kidneys large doses of drugs designed to supress rejection reactions has resulted in survival of 93 per cent of such transplants.

This was reported by Dr. Samuel L. Kountz, professor of surgery at the University of California Medical Center, in a preliminary report on the first 61 patients receiving the treatment.

Stormy Ward

ST. LOUIS (UPI) — The maternity ward at Homer G. Phillips Hospital has practical nurses named "Snow," "Sleets", "Hale" and "Rainy".

HOW TO PLAY WINNING BRIDGE

By ALFRED SHEINWOLD

Some Players Should Not Be Allowed With A Deck Of Cards

It's pleasant to assume that all players at the table are reasonable human beings, but this is sometimes unworkable fiction. Some bridge players should be forbidden by law to be in the same room as a deck of cards. Congress has failed to pass such a law, and this somber fact distorts the bidding in hands like the one shown today.

RIGHT RESPONSE

South knew that the right response to three spades was four diamonds and that he should jump to six spades if North showed a sign of life. But South also knew that North was one of the three worst card players of the century. Since it was unprofitable to put North in a slam that he would surely misplay, South stabbed at three notrump as the most likely game contract.

South took the ace of diamonds, cashed the ace of hearts and led a spade to dummy's ace. West's diamond discard was a nasty jolt.

PLAY FROM DUMMY

Declarer continued with dummy's king and queen of spades, and West discarded two more diamonds. West's reluctance to discard a heart or a club was slightly encouraging, especially when a finesse with the queen of clubs then succeeded. East obviously had the king of clubs, but South could make the contract if West had the ten.

PUTS WEST IN

South got to his hand with the king of hearts and led the jack of diamonds to put West in. South had already taken seven tricks and needed only two more.

West could take his three diamonds and then the queen of hearts, but finally he had to lead from the 10-7 of clubs. When West unhappily led the seven of clubs, South played low from dummy. If East put up the king South would win the last two tricks with the ace and jack of clubs; and if East played low, South would take the last two tricks with the nine and then the ace of clubs.

What do you day?

ANSWER: Bid one heart.

Although you have 16 points in high cards you should not consider an opening bid of 1 notrump. Your two doubletons make your distribution too unbalanced for such an opening bid.

Quiet For Cabbies

LONDON (AP) — London's famous upright taxis are going to be silenced, but not in a way the passenger will notice. For years cabbies have complained about the noise in the driving area. Acoustics engineers who checked into the complaints agreed with the drivers and now all new taxis will be fitted with sound-deadening systems.

City Primes Pump For Miller Avenue

Mill Valley city councilmen voted 3-2 last night to give City Engineer Stanley M. Bala up to $4,000 to begin planning Miller Avenue's extension to Highway 101, hoping the county will pick up the tab after July 1 and give the project a higher budget priority.

Councilmen Rodric L. Robinson and George Wickham voted no, saying they believed the county should reimburse the city for all money spent on the project when the county's 1969-70 budget is adopted. The entire project lies in county territory.

Supervisor Michael Wornum told the council that if the city picked up Bala's bill for May and June the project would undoubetedly get a higher budget priority from his fellow supervisors.

Councilman Robert H. Andresen urged his fellow councilmen to spend the money from current reserve funds to get the project started. "This council has spent $100,000 to extend Sycamore Avenue to the sewer treatment plant. It can well spend $4,000 to extend Miller Avenue to the highway."

However, Andresen complained that the county has reduced the tentative project allocation for 1969-70 from $300,000 to $100,000.

Hinting that the county has consistently shorted Southern Marin in road improvement, he told Wornum that, "You'd better get the message across to the boys that Miller Avenue is something that has to be done."

Wornum said the project funds had been tentatively reduced because of pressures from other projects and that the county staff doubts that more than $100,000 in work could be accomplished during the next fiscal year.

"Why let the money stand idle when there are other projects that need it,, asked county Public Works Director Donald R. Frost. "When the time comes to spend more, the money will undoubtedly be appropriated."

Bala said the preliminary planning job would be to find an alignment for the road which will probably run through the Richardson Bay marsh lands bypassing Dolan's Corners.

Mill Valley City Council Also:

CONTRACT — Approved the low bid of $6,805 by Maggiora and Ghilotti of Corte Madera for Improvements to West Blithedale and Ralston avenues.

CARMELITA AVENUE — Authorized Bala to widen Carmelita Avenue to 27 feet between Buena Vista and Mountain View avenues.

YOUTH COMMMISSION — Adotped an ordinance establishing a youth commission for the city.

STOP SIGN — Upon Wornum's request, indicated the city would prefer to have a stop sign reinstalled on Almonte Boulevard at Shoreline Highway rather than have traffic lights installed.

COMMUNITY CENTER — Authorized plans and a call for bids to relocate the community recreation center.

STREET LIGHTING — Authorized 12 street lights for Sycamore Avenue extension at a cost of $5,337 with an annual operating cost of $417 and agreed to hire an electrical engineer for $1,750 to study the city's street lighting needs and make recommendations with cost estimates.

RESIGNATION — Heard that Dwight Bishop has resigned from the parks and recreation commission because he has moved out of town. Meyer said he would appoint a replacement at the next meeting.

APPEAL — Denied an appeal by Manuel Gomez to change conditions of a conditional use permit for a take out food establishment at 600 Miller Avenue.

LANDSCAPING — Authorized a call for bids for median strip landscaping for Lower Miller and East Blithedale avenues, estimated to cost $22,000.

BUDGET HEARING — Set the next budget hearing for 8 p.m. May 16 in city hall.

EMPLOYEES — Adopted a resolution recognizing the Mill Valley Employees Association as the bargaining agent for city employees.

HEARING — Set a public hearing on the establishment of an underground utility district for Sycamore Avenue extension for the May 19 meeting.

SEWER DEEDS — Accepted grant deeds for sewers in Blithedale Park from Jane E. and William S. Allen, Jane C. and Edward Knight Jr. and Dean N. Meyer.

STREET NEEDS — Postponed discussion on major city street needs and a traffic control light at Camino Alto and East Blithedale Avenue to the May 16 budget hearing.

POSTPONMENTS — Postponed discussions on city policy concerning use of public facilities, bicycle paths, amendment to the Mill Valley general plan and the Bank of America subdivision on Highway 101 frontage road until May 19 because of the late hour.

Rohnert Park Gears For Expansion

The Rohnert Park City Council last night awarded a contract for construction of a new frontage road on the west side of Highway 101, anticipating the construction of a new interchange within the year.

Low bidder was the Argonaut Construction Co. of Santa Rosa at $219,348. City Mgr. Peter M. Callinan said he expects work to begin next month.

The state now has two ramps on the west side of the freeway at the Rohnert Park expressway interchange and will construct two ramps on the west side, according to the 1969-70 budget. The interchange will open up the area known as Coddingland for commercial development. A large shopping center is planned.

The Rohnert Park City Council also:

SCOUTS — Pledged $120 to finance Eagle Scout presentations for next year.

REPRESENTATIVES — Named Councilman Jack Buchanan to represent it on the Petaluma Board of Education Citizen'a Advisory Committee studying the possibility of an educational park plan. Councilman Arthur N. Roberts was named as the alternate.

HORSES — Introduced an ordinance that would regulate the riding of horses on public streets, parks and public areas.

DRIVE-IN — Approved plans of Paul Golis to construct a Mr. Swiss drive-in restaurant on Southwest Boulevard near the present car wash.

WAREHOUSE — Granted a use permit and setback variance to George Anderson for construction of a warehouse on Transport Avenue.

GOLD COURSE — Set additional rates for motorized golf carts on the municipal golf course. Rates range from $6 for 18 holes on weekends to $5 for 18 holes on weekdays. It was reported that Rohnert Park is the smallest city in the state with an 18-hole course.

DEDICATION — Set May 24 at 11 a.m. for the dedication of the community and recreation center.

MOBILE HOMES — Introduced an ordinance indicating that the bedroom tax for recreation will apply equally to mobile homes as to standard homes. Fees are $30 for a one-bedroom unit and $10 for each additional bedroom to a maximum of $60.

GRADE CROSSING — Heard report that the Public Utilities Commission had denied the city's request for a railroad grade crossing at Southwest Boulevard. Callinan indicated the city would request another hearing.

Corte Madera Seeks Corporation Yard Cut

The Corte Madera Town Council last night asked its architect to examine ways to trim the cost of the proposed corporation yard.

The low bid from James J. Menke, Inc. of Corte Madera was $112,035 or 22 per cent above the estimate.

"We started out with a $50,000 figure and now we're over $100,000," said Councilman Byron D. White, who suggested "pinching off a few corners."

Councilman Harold Wagstaff argued in favor of building good quality structures such as previous town buildings and Mayor Edward W. Colthurst continued the subject to the next regular meeting of May 19 for a decision.

In the meantime architect George V. Banning will meet with the city staff to see if the price can be reduced.

The Town Council voted 4-to-1 to have the town forces install a stairs and path from a cul-de-sac on Pixley Avenue to Walnut Avenue, Mayor Colthurst voting "no."

A sum of $1,500 is budgeted for the stairs and path, with a portion of the stairs to be concreted and provided with a hand rail.

The Corte Madera Town Council also:

REAR DECK APPEAL — Voted 4-to-1, Councilman White voting no, to grant an appeal from planning commission denial to allow Lynn S. Carman to enclose the upper rear deck of his home at 48 Mariner Green Drive.

SOLICITOR'S ORDINANCE Continued to May 19 adoption of a solicitor's ordinance. Councilman Robert P. Simmons said he needs more time to study it and that the ordinance is practically impossible to enforce.

REAPPOINTMENTS — Reappointed to the Town Planning Commission for four-year terms James W. McClintock, John W. Gates and Jack W. Forster.

FOURTH OF JULY — Granted Larkspur-Corte Madera Marin's Traditional Fourth of July Celebration permission to post banners on Tamalpais Drive from June 25 to July 9.

OCCUPATION PERMIT — Renewed a two-year home occupation permit to allow Eric Norstad to continue to produce ceramic pieces at his home at 30 Alta Way.

FALLING TREE — Referred to the town's insurance carrier a $12,000 claim from Donal Brown for damages by a tree falling on his house at 410 Sausalito Street in Jan. 25 storm.

BUDGET MEETINGS — Set May 15, in place of May 14, to discuss employees' salaries for 1969-70, May 20 to discuss the police and fire department budgets and May 26 for public works budgets, all at 7:30 p.m. Other items in the general budget, to be selected, will be discussed at the next regular meeting May 19.

LIBRARY SERVICES — Agreed to write to the Marin Board of Supervisors opposing a Mill Valley Library Commission request to the supervisors asking $42,000 be paid to Mill Valley on the premise that 45 per cent of its library users are county residents. Mayor Colthurst said Mill Valley's problem could not be passed on to Corte Madera which has a joint services agreement with the county. The council also agreed to write to Reps. William S. Mailliard, R-Marin and San Francisco, and Don Clausen, R-First District, to urge congressional restoration of funds under the Library Services Act which have been deleted from the upcoming federal budget by President Richard M. Nixon.

SANITARY BOARD — Sitting as a sanitary board, awarded a $29,023 contract to MGM Construction Co., Concord, for the Fifer force main; agreed to oppose before the Local Agency Formation Commission a proposal to gunnex about 20 properties on Lucky Road on the basis the owners do not wish to be also annexed to the town and agreed to start proceedings to annex the Paradise Drive unincorporated area to the district.

Petaluma Juniors Win Scholarships

Three Petaluma Senior High School juniors have been awarded scholarships to attend George Washington University, Washington, D.C.

The students are David Schwartz, son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Schwartz, 3191 Eastman Lane; Lisa Schwartz, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Schwartz, 625 Bodega Avenue; and Lance Barlas, son of Mr. and Mrs. Israel Barlas, 30 Brainerd Avenue.

Chosen for academic ability and initiative, the students will attend regular college classes, earn college credits and take part in many cultural programs at the capitol.

Probation, Fine Set On Marijuana Count

A 23-year-old Richmond man was placed on one year's probation and fined $150 yesterday in Marin Superior Court for marijuana possession.

Michael Anthony Cartwright had earlier admitted that he had marijuana cigarettes with him while hitchhiking on Highway 101 March 8.

Funds In Sonoma Program For Building In Petaluma

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma County supervisors yesterday approved a $5.2 million capital outlay program to include the construction of a county office building in Petaluma in the next six years.

In the original program prepared by David L. Nichols, county administrator, plans for the building were omitted. Later appeals by city officials caused the Sonoma County Planning Commission to approve the inclusion of the Petaluma project.

The county now owns 22 per cent of the Petaluma City Hall where it houses the Southern Sonoma Municipal Court and several offices.

City Mgr. Robert H. Meyer had told supervisors that city offices in the building are already tight for space and that the city would like to purchase the county section as soon as possible.

It is expected that the new county building will be located in the civic center area, currently serving as the "front yard" of city hall.

The Sonoma County supervisors also:

ROAD PAYMENT — Approved the first progress payment of $1,710 to Reichhold and Jurkovich Construction Co. for work on Pepper Road between Walker and Petaluma-Valley Ford roads.

LAND PURCHASE — Approved the purchase of two properties for improvements to the Petaluma-Valley Ford Road. Purchase of 2.12 acres at $1,050 from Martin Iversen was approved an 2.47 for $530 from Mr. and Mrs. Peter Christiansen.

PAVING — Approved payment of $46,435 to Bragato Paving Co. for work on the Western Avenue Conduit, Petaluma.

Team Picked On Redwoods Park Planning

The National Park Service has named a master plan team to develop a program for the new Redwoods National Park, Rep. Don H. Clausen, R-First District, has announced.

"The team will include distinguished private citizens as well as career federal and state employees," he said. "This combination will assure a comprehensive plan to recognize national purposes, as well as the redwood region's needs and objectives."

Nelson Murdock, superintendent of the Redwood National Park, is chairman of the team which includes:

Newton B. Drury, executive secretary of the Save-the-Redwoods League; William Penn Mott Jr., director of the state Department of Parks and Recreation; Dr. Edgar Wayburn, former president of the Sierra Club, John R. Hulburt Jr. of Cresent City and C. Robert Barnum of Eureka.

National Park service members are David Turello, Park planner and team captain; Joseph Rumburg, assistant regional director of Wester Regions; Arthur Allen, interpretive planner, of Washington, D. C.; Bruce Black, naturalist, and George Nadeau, landscape architect, from the National Park Service Center offices in San Francisco.

Innocent Plea In Flight Case

Morlin Smith, 21, of Marin City, who failed to return to Marin County Jail from a work furlough on June 28, 1968, yesterday pleaded innocent to a charge of illegally leaving.

A preliminary hearing was set in Marin Municipal Court for Friday.

Smith was serving a one-year sentence for burglary when he disappeared.

Charges Voted In Kidnap Case

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Grand jurors returned indictments last night against Grant R. Powell, 24, who invaded the home of a judge he said gave too lenient a sentence to a rapist.

Powell is charged with kidnaping five persons and wounding patrolman Jay Rogovoy, 30, who was guarding the home of Judge Bernard Glickfeld.

Officials say he forced the policeman into the empty house, shot him and then kidnaped John Grima, 21, and four girls, forcing Grima to drive him to Gilroy. A roadblock captured him there.

Judge Glickfeld had sentenced the rapist to 52 weekends in jail.

1,000 Protest City's Budget

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — An angry crowd of 1,000 turned up at City Hall yesterday to protest a proposed city budget of $605 million for the coming fiscal year.

The board of supervisors, holding a hearing on Mayor Joseph Alioto's proposals in a room designed for 253 persons, heard Leon Markel of the Balboa Terrace Homeowners Association says:

"It's not that government cost so damn much; it's just that we're not getting anything for it."

Most witnesses complained about the $97.8 million allocated for the Social Services Department, an increase of $18.4 million.

Introducing
The smoothest whisky ever to come out of Canada!

Compare Windsor with your usual American or Canadian whisky. Once you do, you'll never settle for less, or pay more!

Tonight, make the comparison: make one drink with your "usual," the other with Windsor. You'll be amazed at the sippin' smoothness of this remarkable new import. That's because only Windsor is made from hardy Canadian prairie grains and pure, clear glacial waters. And only Windsor is aged in Canada's mile-high, dry Rocky Mountain air. All this, yet Windsor is priced right in line with leading domestic whiskies because we import it, then bottle it here.

$1.2 Billion Is Added To Costs Of ABM

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Safeguard missile defense system will cost another $1.2 billion, the Defense Department says, bringing the total cost for initial, limited deployment to nearly $8 billion.

In the most detailed analysis given Congress so far, Deputy Secretary of Defense David R. Packard gave a figure of $6.6 billion for the complete system intended to protect two Minuteman missile bases in North Dakota and Montana.

But spokesmen for the Pentagon and the Atomic Energy Commission confirmed yesterday that the cost of nuclear warheads for the defense missiles —$1.2 billion—was not included in the Defense Department estimate.

A Defense Department spokesman said the warhead cost was not included because different agencies traditionally provided figures for only their own part of a project.

Meanwhile, Harvard law professor Abram Chayes, who evaluated the ABM for Sen. Edward M. Kennedy, said yesterday that Safeguard presents an enigma in that it is the first major weapon, including the H-bomb that cannot be tested.

"The fact is that the first time anyone will know for sure whether the system will work is when it is called upon to meet an actual attack," said Chayes, a former legal adviser to the State Department.

The professor said he believes Defense Secretary Melvin R. Laird conjured up the Soviet threat of a nuclear first strike to strengthen the administration's case for Safeguard.

Babies Face DDT Peril, Expert Says

MADISON, Wis. (UPI) — Breast-fed babies sometimes get twice as much DDT in their systems as the maximum amount recommended for any human, the head of a committee which studies DDT for the Swedish National Research Council testified yesterday.

However, S. Goran Loforth, said the consequences of this ingestion cannot be predicted.

Lofroth testified at a hearing before the Wisconsin Natural Resources Department on a petition to ban DDT in Wisconsin.

Lofroth said that, on the average, a breast-fed baby would get .02 milligrans of DDT a day for each kilogram of body weight. According to the World Health Organization of the United Nations, no one should ingest more than .01 milligramm of DDT per kilogram of body weight.

"In my opinion, many breast-fed children ingest more than the recommended daily intake of DDT," he said. "It is in the range where laboratory animals show pharmaco-dynamical changes.

"What these changes mean is not known," he said. "One cannot predict the consequences if these and similar changes work in man and one does not know what the future holds for persons exposed to that much DDT."

Report On Family Life To Be Given

A staff report on the family life study program will be presented to the Fairfax Elementary School District board at 7:45 p.m. today in the district office, 58 Park Road.

The board will also discuss budget priorities and salaries for clerical positions. A closed session has been scheduled to discuss the firing of a member of the classified staff.

At 7:30 p.m. tomorrow, the Fairfax School Tax Election Committee will meet at White Hill School.

Small Art Works Sale At Sausalito

A sale of small art works donated by Marin members of the San Francisco Women Artists will be held from 1 to 5 p.m. Saturday and Sunday in Room 103 of the Industrial Center Building, Sausalito.

Chairman Maggie Rosen said proceeds of the sale will go to the San Francisco Women Artists award fund for the organization's first national exhibition to be held at the San Francisco Museum of Art in January 1970.

She Teaches Care Of Animals

By DOROTHY NEWELL

Care, consideration and compassion for animals are the by-words of Mrs. Madelon Tormanen, newly appointed director of educational activities at the Humane Education Center of the Humane Society of Marin County in Novato.

"We feel that if children learn to take care of animals properly, they will become more happy, stable adults. Mrs. Tormanen said.

A DEDICATED and enthusiastic worker for the Humane Society, Mrs. Tormanen says she never knew about the society until she applied for a job through the California Department of Employment in 1963.

She had been a secretary in the financial district of San Francisco but had quit work when she married her husband who was an investment broker.

Now a widow, her husband became disabled in 1958 with multiple sclerosis, and she had to go back to work to help support the family.

She literally beams when she speaks of her children, Michele, 17, a senior at Sir Francis Drake High School, who will attend College of Marin in September; and John 14, an eighth grade student at St. Rita's School in Fairfax.

WORKING CLOSELY with the Marin County superintendent of schools and staff, the education center is used extensively by teachers and children and more than 3,000 children have visited and participated in programs of educational enrichment since the center was opened in November of 1968.

Mrs. Tormanen greets the school children as they arrive at the center and talks with them about the Humane Center and how they should take care of their pets.

She tells the children that the Humane Center is a temporary shelter, such as an animal hotel, and there are four times when they might call when they need help — when they lose a pet, find a pet, no longer can keep a pet or if they want to adopt a pet.

She also tells them they should take care of their animals the same as their parents take care of them. They need water, food, a nice warm bed and, when they are young, they need shots the same as a child, Mrs. Tormanen said.

SHE ALSO advises them if they go up into the hills, not to take wild animals home with them or destroy animals or TEACHING MARIN school children about animals is the job of the newly appointed director of educational activities for the Humane Education Center, Mrs. Madelon Tormanen. Here a class from Pacheco School meets some of the farm animals at the center in Novato, with Mrs. Tormanen providing appropriate feed.

Homecoming Weekend Activity Set For Alumnae Of Dominican College

By MOLLY MARIN

Graduates of Dominican Collegs will gather from across the country for the annual homecoming weekend at the college campus in San Rafael on May 23 and 24. Reunion festivities will begin May 23 with a cocktail reception at Pennafort Hall, followed by dinner at Caleruega Hall.

The following morning Mass will be celebrated at the Rosary chapel at 11 o'clock, followed by luncheon at noon and a business meeting to elect officers.

Classes honored at the luncheon will be 1924, 1929, 1934, 1939, 1944, 1949, 1954, 1959 and 1964. Mrs. Michael Foster of Redwood City and Barbara McCune of San Rafael are chairmen for the reunion.

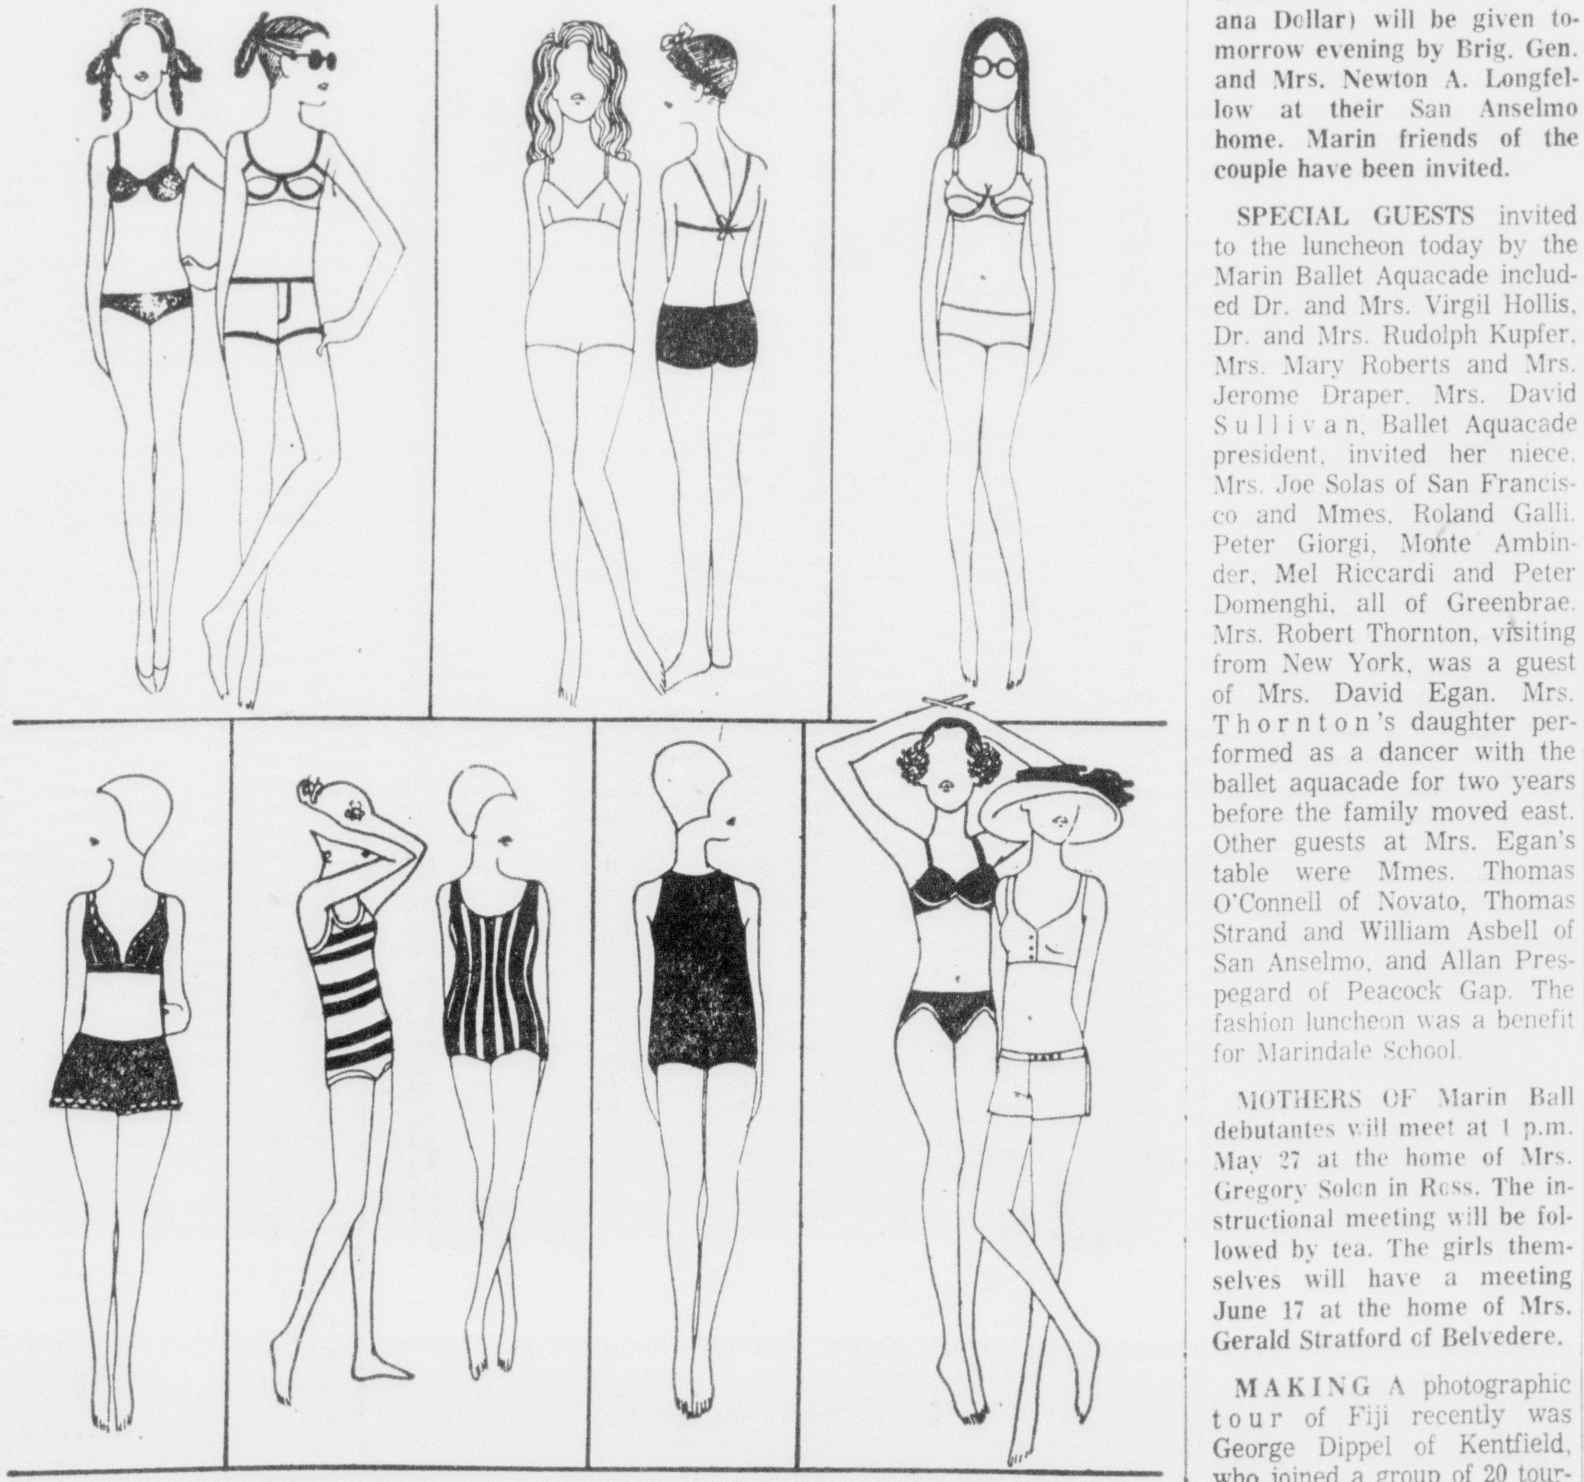
A COCKTAIL gathering to honor Mr. and Mrs. Gorham Knowles of San Francisco (Diana Dollar) will be given tomorrow evening by Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Newton A. Longfellow at their San Anselmo home. Marin friends of the couple have been invited.

SPECIAL GUESTS invited to the luncheon today by the Marin Ballet Aquacade included Dr. and Mrs. Virgil Hollis, Dr. and Mrs. Rudolph Kupfer, Mrs. Mary Roberts and Mrs. Jerome Draper. Mrs. David Sullivan, Ballet Aquacade president, invited her niece, Mrs. Joe Solas of San Francisco and Mmes. Roland Galli, Peter Giorgi, Monte Ambinder, Mel Riccardi and Peter Domenghi, all of Greenbrae. Mrs. Robert Thornton, visiting from New York, was a guest of Mrs. David Egan. Mrs. Thornton's daughter performed as a dancer with the ballet aquacade for two years before the family moved east. Other guests at Mrs. Egan's table were Mmes. Thomas O'Connell of Novato, Thomas Strand and William Asbell of San Anselmo, and Allan Prespegard of Peacock Gap. The fashion luncheon was a benefit for Marindale School.

MOTHERS OF Marin Ball debutantes will meet at 1 p.m. May 27 at the home of Mrs. Gregory Solen in Ross. The instructional meeting will be followed by tea. The girls themselves will have a meeting June 17 at the home of Mrs. Gerald Stratford of Belvedere.

MAKING A photographic tour of Fiji recently was George Dippel of Kentfield, who joined a group of 20 tourists who spent four days photographing at Yanuca Island, small islands and the coral gardens on the reef that surrounds Suva harbor.

RECENTLY MARRIED at the First Methodist Church in San Rafael were Mrs. Marjorie Anthony of Larkspur and Frank Jaros of Soldotna, on the Kenai Peninsula, Alaska. The bride's daughter, Nancy Anthony, was her attendant, and the bridegroom's brother, Clarence Jaros of San Mateo, served as best man. A reception followed in Kentfield.



SELECTING A SWIMSUIT?

Nearly everyone has figure problems when it comes to selecting the right swimming suit for summer. Guides to pick the most flattering: top left, long or short torso—cut body length of long torso with high-cut two-piece suit; add longer body line with barer suit; top center, big hips, a bikini if you're not too heavy, otherwise a one-piece smooth-fitting suit; top right, large bosom—bikini with softly constructed top or classic one-piece suit with natural top; lower left, heavy thighs—a two-piece suit with slim shorts; lower left center, too slim or heavy torso—a good maillot with horizontal stripes is thinning, a one-piece vertically striped if you're overweight; lower right center, thick waist—a loose fitting one-piece suit of dark color or small pattern; lower right, too long, too short legs—high cut suit makes short legs long, and vice versa.

Charlotte Fry Plans Summer Rite

The engagement of Charlotte E. Fry to William Jordan Barnsdale Jr. has been announced by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William A. Fry of San Rafael.

Charlotte is the sister of Richard Hewitt of Honolulu, Douglas Fry of the University of California at Davis, Mrs. Gilbert M. Dixon of Buena Park and Mrs. Richard A. Melcher of Fremont.

The bride-elect is a San Rafael High School graduate and attended the College of Marin. She is employed in the office of Lester Gorsline and Associates in Tiburon.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William Jordan Barnsdale. Mr. Barnsdale is stationed with the United States Embassy in Malawi, Africa. He is the grandson of Mrs. Marie Barnsdale of San Rafael.

He is a graduate of the American School in Rome and attended the University of California. He is attending U. S. Army Officer Candidate School at Ft. Belvoir, Va.

Late summer nuptials are planned.

HELEN HELP US!

Young Teen Complains After Altercation With Acquaintance

DEAR HELEN:

A certain girl accused me of something I didn't do and hadn't even thought of, so I denied the charge. She called me a liar plus a bunch of less printable names, made threats and, while I was sweet-talking her, she belts me in the right eye, breaking my glasses and cutting my cheek. I am getting mad, like I can taste it, and while I am clearing my face for action, she gets in four more blows and my left cheek gets scratched.

I am plenty riled and I go for her, movie fight style. I am winning when two husky adults pull us apart.

I claim self-defense, and she hollers I started it. I can't prove otherwise. So I get punished by my parents for conduct unbecoming to a young lady of 15, the least of the charges. I am even blamed for breaking my glasses.

I say I did not ask for these lumps, I did not want them, and I returned them with proper interest. How can I establish that I am innocent of wrong doing? — IRISH C

DEAR C:

I say parents who take an outsider's word against their own daughter's are either short on trust or they know your hot Irish temper better than I do. Or perhaps they figure a lady should walk away, no matter what the provocation.

Next time wait until a crowd gathers, before you make with the self-defense. — H.

P.S. And hope there won't be a next time.—H.

DEAR HELEN:

How do you know it's love?

My friends say love is if when you're with a boy your stomach tightens up and feels all funny with butterflies. Well, I was with him last night and this happened, but it was because I was hungry. I know it was.

I really like this boy a whole lot, but I worry because what if I thought I loved him and didn't?

My definition of love is when you trust each other and can talk about things that would embarrass you with others. It's when you want to help with problems and you are happy and content just being near him or her. And you're happy too, just thinking about him if you're not together.

Isn't this more likely love than a funny feeling in your stomach? — C.L.

DEAR C:

Certainly is! But why worry whether it's love or like? Either way, you're happy. — H.

DEAR HELEN:

I recently moved here from another state. The student council at the school I now attend passed a dress code which says that all clothes must be worn at decent length.

Where I came from, we wore our clothes fairly short, and most of my outfits are about six inches above the knee. Teachers here tell me if I wear them again, I'll be sent home. This cuts my wardrobe down to almost nothing as my clothes don't have hems. — MINI PROBLEMS

DEAR MINI:

Six inches above the knee is about average for tall girls' skirts these days. Let's hope they give an inch or two! — H.

LAURA GIFFIN

Lee-Giffin Engagement

The engagement of Laura Giffin to James T. Lee of Hamilton Air Force Base has been announced.

Laura is the daughter of Mrs. Frances K. Giffin of Terra Linda and Stanley E. Giffin of Honolulu. James S. Giffin of Terra Linda is her brother and Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Anderson of Terra Linda are Laura's grandparents.

A graduate of Terra Linda High School, she is attending the University of California at Davis.

James is the son of Lt. Col. James W. Lee of Hamilton Air Force Base and the late Betty T. Lee. He is the brother of Robert Lee and the grandson of Mrs. Frances Taylor and Mr. and Mrs. John T. Lee, all of San Francisco. James also was graduated from Terra Linda High School and is a student at College of Marin.

Esherick-Thurmond Nuptials On Sunday

The Unitarian Fellowship of Marin in San Rafael was the setting for the Sunday nuptials of Trylla Ann Thurmond of Morristown, N.J., and Peter Esherick of Kentfield. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Carl D. Thurmond of Morristown.

Josie Weg of North Hollywood was Trylla's maid of honor, and Daniel Li of Baldwin Park was Peter's best man. Craig A. Thurmond, brother of the bride, ushered.

A reception at the home of the bridegroom followed the wedding. The couple will live in Berkeley, where they are enrolled at the University of California. They will move to New Jersey for the summer and Peter will work for Bell Telephone Laboratories, Inc. In September he will enter Harvard Graduate School, where he has a National Science Foundation Fellowship. He was graduated from Redwood High School.

Mrs. Rebecca Wood Watkin of Kentfield and Joseph Esherick of San Francisco are parents of the bridegroom. He has a brother, Joseph E. Esherick, who lives in Taiwan with his wife and two children; and a sister, Lisa Esherick, of San Francisco.

Trylla is a graduate of Morristown High School. Her grandparents are the Rev. and Mrs. R. J. Thurmond of Richmond and Mr. and Mrs. Adolfe Henke of San Francisco.

Mrs. Peter Piazza Heads Point Reyes Circle 1018

Mrs. Peter Piazza of Inverness has been elected new chief companion of the Point Reyes Circle 1018, Companions of the Forest of America, which will mark its 59th anniversary with a dinner at 8 p.m. Thursday at Spiro's Red Vest restaurant in Novato.

Mrs. Piazza, whose husband is a dairy worker, has lived in Marin 13 years. They are parents of Kenneth and Joanne Smith and Jeffrey Piazza, and Mrs. Piazza is active in school events, Little League, as well as enjoying league bowling with her husband. She attended school in Salem, Ore.

Joanne Piazza has held several offices in the circle, of which she has been a member for seven years. The circle has planned a rummage sale, drill team work, collecting stamps for the Good Shepherd Home of the West, and raising funds for the Tomales High School scholarship fund.

After Mrs. Tormanen talks with them, the children are taken on a tour of the Humane Center, which includes the aviary, the quarters where pets that are lost are kept, those quarantined and also the adoptable pets.

The tour is conducted by three teen-age girls, Susan Reichert, Becky Kettenhoffen and Mary Anne Monestier, who are full time employees at the Humane Society, but they also have less glamorous jobs. They must also help to clean the kennels, stables and the aviary.

THE NATURAL feeling of youngsters for animals is no more apparent than in the handicapped that come to the center for tours, Mrs. Tormanen said. "Put a puppy into the arms of one of these youngsters who may be hard of hearing and whose sight may be impaired, and the child responds immediately and seems to come alive," she said.

The response to the education center has been so great that Mrs. Tormanen said they hope to form a junior Humane Society. "Children are asking for it and call and ask 'what can we do to help them?" Mrs. Tormanen said.

In this program, to be governed by the junior members and self supporting, they hope to train youngsters to be docents and also have a program for Boy Scouts and Girl Scouts to achieve merit badges.

MRS. TORMANEN is working with the schools, and placing books, films and material relating to animals. Her latest leaflet is entitled "Your Dog Should be a Dropout," and Virgil Hollis, county superintendent of schools, has requested more than 10,000 of them to be distributed to children in the schools.

A program for a vocational course of veteranarian technician is also planned as a joint effort by College of Marin and the Humane Society.

And does Mrs. Tormanen have any animals? Yes — Two Welsh Corgis, a a male and female; and two cats, a calico and a Siamese. Very adamant, she says both the female cat and dog are spayed.

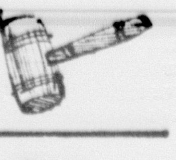
ON THE AGENDA



Husband-Wife Team Plan Pot-Pourri Of Music For Art Club

MILL VALLEY Outdoor Art Club members will hear a musical program by the Mill Valley husband-wife team, violist Lucien Mitchell and cellist Jean Mitchell, following the home day luncheon meeting Thursday at 12:30 p.m.

They will play viola-cello duets, viola and cello solos, accompanying each other at the piano. The program will be a pot-pourri of some of the world's best international music.

Born into an illustrious musical family, Mitchell started playing piano at age five and at 14 won a scholarship to the Peabody Conservatory of Music in Baltimore with his violin. A year later he won a scholarship to Curtis Institute of Music in Philadelphia and remained there until Pierre Monteux invited him to join the San Francisco Symphony Orchestra, where he still plays. He was principal violist of the San Francisco Opera orchestra 11 years.

Jean Mitchell received her entire training and education in the San Francisco Bay Area. She was one of the first winners of a Marin Music Chest scholarship and won a scholarship to Dominican College. She had been active in theater, television, radio and dance orchestras and played two years with the Houston Symphony.

Mrs. Richard Rider is luncheon chairman. She will be assisted by Mmes. Samuel Bagshaw, Thorpe De Lasaux, Blyth Adams, Russell Mills, Charles Gorrill, Henri Boussy and Lucille Rollison. Decorating the clubhouse will be Mrs. Frank Pompei, assisted by Mmes. J. M. Hahn and J. Paul Hurd.

NOVATO CHAPTER 609, order of Eastern Star will honor past matrons and patrons at its meeting Thursday at Druids Hall, Novato at 8 p.m.

Presiding will be Mrs. Thomas Wiggin, worthy matron and Mr. Wiggin, worthy patron.

Chairman for the evening will be Mrs. Murl Mahler, assisted by Mmes. Fred Meggers, George McDonald, W. O. Bird, William Moore and Mr. Mahler.

The program will be presented by the officers of the chapter.

THE UNITED Presbyterian Women's Association of the First Presbyterian Church of San Rafael will tour Cameron House in Chinatown, San Francisco, on Thursday. A bus will leave the church in San Rafael at 10:30 a.m.

Cameron House, a national mission supported by the church, serves the Chinatown community. The women will contribute baked goods and bazaar items to the Chinatown Presbyterian Church for its annual carnival on Saturday, with proceeds to benefit the mission's youth work. Tour reservations may be made at the church in San Rafael.

TIBURON PENINSULA Club will be the scene Friday for a swim team family party from 7:30 to 9 p.m.

Members who are considering the swimming program for children have been invited to attend the program.

A DAY AT the races will be sponsored by the Larkspur Guild of Sunny Hills on Thursday at Golden Gate Fields in Albany as the guild's major fund raising event.

Luncheon will be served at the Turf Club at noon. Post time is 1 p.m. Bus transportation will be provided. Reservations chairmen are Mmes. Harvie Freed and J. Norman Hendrick, co-chairmen for the day, and Mrs. Richard Basco, guild president.

FOR MOTHER'S Day the tots at Little Lambs Nursery School, Tiburon, are making ice cream and pudding to be served to their mothers this week. The youngsters will celebrate on Sunday by showing their arts and crafts, and singing and dancing.

THE REDWOOD International Student Exchange annual rummage sale and silent auction held last month raised nearly $1800.

The funds will help finance exchange programs between Redwood High School and schools around the world.

LEGAL SECRETARIES from throughout the state will meet in San Diego this weekend for the 35th annual convention of Legal Secretaries, Inc. of California. The San Diego Legal Secretaries Association will host the conclave.

Members of the Marin County association attending the meet are Mmes. Constance Mauk, June Brisbin, J. R. Robertson, Lola Holt, Margaret Day and Dorothy Hallett.

THE CONVENT of the Sacred Heart and Stuart Hall for Boys in San Francisco are looking for donations for their auction on Sunday Oct. 26. Donations, such as furniture, objects d'art antiques, etc., are tax deductible, and pick-up can be arranged by calling Mrs. Donald McNeil.

The auction will be held at the convent at 2222 Broadway beginning at 6 p.m. A preview and separate silent auction will be held the afternoon of Oct. 25.

MRS. MALCOLM FINLEY of San Rafael received the Continuing Service Award at the past 14th District California Congress of Parents and Teachers.

Mrs. Finley's P-TA and community activities have centered around Davidson Junior High School and San Rafael High School. She has served as vice president and president of the San Rafael Council P-TA. For the past 12 years she has held positions on the district level and was its president from 1960-62. Mrs. Finley was state mental health chairman for P-TA during 1966-68 and served on the district advisory board and the board of the Juvenile Hall Auxiliary.

19TH CENTURY CARTOON—Honore Daumier was a master of both caricature and the lithographic art. His cartoons like this, which show both skills are exhibited at the Musee D'Art International in San Rafael. (Musee d'Art Photo)

ART REVIEW

French Lithographs, Marin Show Linked

By LAURA DEVENDORF

Two current art exhibits, 19th Century French lithographs and contemporary Marin art, are not as far removed as they might seem — at least in their support of worthwhile causes.

Honore Daumier's humorous, often scathing satirical lithographs were aimed directly at educating man toward justice and human freedom. Indirectly, through their work donated to the KQED auction which benefits the area's educational television channel, Marin artists hope to support the same idea.

The Daumier exhibit through Saturday at the Musee d'Art International 507 Francisco Boulevard in San Rafael, has the most artistic substance. Each of Daumier's lithographs is finely drawn, in fact, exquisite. And while the subjects' dress may seem quaint and the situations curious, as character studies they are clear and current.

As cartoons they seem acid even now, irreverently attacking pomposity, arrogance or overstuffed senses of self-importance. They must have seemed even more devastating at the time for they earned Daumier some time in jail.

The Marin donations to the KQED auction, displayed between 10 a.m. and 7 p.m. through Sunday at the Tiburon Community Congregational Church, 145 Rockhill Road, makes no claim to such fiery provocation.

Instead, it's a gay, bright, widely diverse group of very nice work by some very competent Marin artists. The styles cover enough ground to suit most tastes and as a rule, the paintings are very representative of the artists who donated them.

After this local preview, the Marin group joins other art donations at auction, June 1, in a live KQED telecast from San Francisco's Palace of Fine Arts.

Previn To Give Up Houston Job

HOUSTON (AP) — Andre Previn's tenure as conductor of the Houston Symphony Orchestra will end with a concert May 16, says Maurice Hirsch, president of the Houston Symphony Society.

Previn, who also is principal conductor of the London Symphony, was named conductor-in-chief of the Houston Symphony in 1967. Hirsch said yesterday:

"When announcement was made earlier this year that Mr. Previn would be the Houston Symphony's music director for the 1969-70 and 1970-71 seasons, it was not realized how much of Mr. Previn's time would be required to fulfill his obligations to the London Symphony Orchestra and in connection with other activities to which he was committed."

Strawberry Cove Plans Draw Fire

A proposed development of 112 apartments units along Strawberry Cove, on the bay side of Seminary Drive, should be considered with other proposed projects in the entire cove, the Marin County Planning Commissioners decided yesterday.

Belvedere developer Leonard B. Fleischman and architect Allan Steinau presented a plan for one, two and three-story marina apartments on seven acres on the south side of Seminary Drive east of Ricardo Drive.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, recommended that the density be cut to 68 units, but the developer argued that this would be economically unfeasible.

"These are small units," said Steinau. "When we talk of 112 units, we are talking of small land coverage." He said the units will be arranged with open spaces in between to allow adequate waterfront view.

Jacques Reutlinger, developer of Villa Laguna Apartments, 202 units on 11 acres on the north side of Seminary Drive, objected to the Fleischman project, charging that three-story apartments on the waterfront would block the view with "a wall of concrete and stucco."

Unable to agree on density, the planning commissioners voted unanimously to consider a resort commercial zoning for all of Strawberry Cove, including De Silva Island, owned by Frances Belloc, and tidelands south of the Golden Gate Baptist Seminary property, owned by Clifford Peterson.

Oklahoma was part of the vast Louisiana Purchase the United States made from France in 1803.

Nursery School Hit By Neighbors' Stand

A proposed nursery school for 55 to 65 children, across the street from Bernard Hoffman School in Terra Linda, ran into neighborhood objection yesterday before the Marin County Planning Commission.

Commissioners decided to continue the matter until May 19 because the applicant, Harold Nichelini, did not appear to defend his nursery school proposal. It would be located on two-thirds of an acre at 1100 Las Gallinas Avenue.

Robert Brownne of 395 Orange Blossom Lane presented a petition signed by 53 residents, who oppose the nursery school. He said his home is on a hill above the Nichelini parcel, and noise from 50 or 60 children would depreciate property values and add to traffic congestion.

Brownne objected to a postponement of the hearing. "Everybody had the same notice, and by postponing, you are putting an extra burden on us," said Brownne.

Werner Von Gundell, chief of current planning, contacted Nichelini by telephone and reported that Nichelini had expected his real estate agent to appear for him at the hearing.

Marin County Planning Commission Also:

DAY CARE — Amended the county zoning ordinance, requiring a use permit for day care centers for six or more children in apartment areas. Under present ordinance, such child care centers require a use permit in single family and duplex zones, but not in apartment zones.

WATER DIVERSION — Asked Planning Director Paul C. Zucker to see if speakers can be arranged to discuss the effects on San Pablo Bay if the plan to divert Northern California water to Southern California is carried out. Commissioner Walter F. Freitas said he heard Rep. Jerome Waldie of Martinez argue that water diversion would damage the ecology of San Pablo Bay.

MEADOWSWEET — Dropped a hearing on Gilbert Allard's request to amend the Village Green master plan to increase the number of apartment units planned on five acres of land at Casa Buena Drive and Meadow Valley Lane in the Meadowsweet area of Corte Madera. Bella Aaron, attorney for Allard, asked that the request be withdrawn.

'World We Live In' Dates Set

"The World We Live In," a satire by Joseph and Karel Kapek, will be presented as the 52nd annual production of the Mountain Play at 2 p.m. Sundays May 18 and 25 at the outdoor theater on Mount Tamalpais.

Lead players will be Dave McCauley of Larkspur; Larry Smith of San Rafael; Merieka Brown of San Francisco, and Robin Jackson of Mill Valley.

Others in the cast include Bill Grace of Ross, Bob Deckelman of Novato; Karen Zide, Avinus Gartrell and Don Carroll of Larkspur; Betra Chambers of San Anselmo; Dick Maurice of Tiburon, and Paul Stoll and Carla Servis of Mill Valley.

Robin Jackson of the College of Marin drama department will direct the production.

High Schools Win Honors At Festival

The San Rafael High School Symphonic Band is the recipient of the Command Performance award for its performance at the Area I California Music Educators Association Band and Orchestra Music Festival, it was announced yesterday.

The honor was presented Saturday following competition with 34 elementary, junior high and high school bands at the festival at Sonoma State College.

It was the only band award to be given, and Terra Linda High School Orchestra won the only command performance award for orchestra.

A command performance is given only if all three performance judges vote their approval.

The band performed the march, "His Honor," by Henry Fillmore and "Symphony for Band" by Vincent Persichetti.

The San Rafael High School Symphonic Band and Stage Band will present its fourth annual Scholarship Concert at 8 p.m., May 16, in the San Rafael High School Auditorium, with proceeds financing $50 awards to band members.

Highlights of the program will be the San Rafael High School woodwind quintet and trombonist John Kendall from the University of the Pacific.

Weekend Musical At College Of Marin

"A Company of Wayward Saints," a musical play by George Herman, will be presented at 8:30 p.m. Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the Student Center at College of Marin. The production will be done in the round.

The play will be produced by Methodist Actors Serving the Church in cooperation with the Experimental College of Marin County and the Campus Ministry of the Marin County Council of Churches.

POLITICS AND STUDENTS — Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, tries to explain to College of Marin students why the complexities of life in the state make it hard to find quick answers to the students' plea for more money for the Kentfield campus. They drove yesterday to the state capital to present their plea. (AP Wirephoto)

Proposed Tax Hike Plans Are Dropped

A proposal for a one-year increase in property taxes in the Novato Unified School District for next fiscal year was quietly dropped last night from recommendations by a citizens finance advisory committee.

District trustees accepted the new report without the property tax hike request by a 5-0 vote.

Wayne Sartain, chairman of the citizens panel said the tax override was eliminated by the committee, because it was felt the district should continue to get the bulk of its money from the state and federal governments.

Further, Sartain said, the proposal was included only as a compromise gesture in the first place and there was little agreement on the committee on the proposal. A cool reaction given to the proposal by the school trustees also contributed to its elimination.

The two recommendations left in the committee's report called for increased efforts to get state and federal money and for an increase in the district's taxing limit if additional funds are not available from state and federal sources.

The unified district's present $5.15 per $100 assessed valuation is currently the lowest in the county and 25th among 29 districts with more than 100 employees in the Bay Area.

In proposing the one-year tax boost originally, the committee did not suggest a figure but school trustees talked in terms of a 50-cent hike.

Nor did the committee suggest what the tax limit should be raised to if that becomes necessary. It noted that the district's rate of $5.15 compares to a county average of $5.61, which would mean a 46-cent tax increase if Novato moved up to the average. Such an increase would require voter approval.

Home Owners Elect Downs

Vice president Kenneth Downs was elected president of the Lucas Valley Homeowners Association last night at the annual meeting of the homeowners at Lucas Valley Community Center.

Downs succeeds William B. Reiner, who did not seek reelection to the board. Larry Cahn will be the new vice president.

Elected to the board of directors were Gerald W. Hawes and Lyle G. Martin, both uncontested.

About 40 homeowners attended last night and asked the directors to take some action to cut down on vandalism in the recreational areas of the community center.

Directors asked Whitney Donaldson to head a committee to explore the possibility of better FM radio reception for Lucas Valley.

Collegians Learn Political Lessons

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

SACRAMENTO — More than 40 College of Marin students and teachers who came yesterday to plead a host of causes before their two state legislators got a pungent whiff of big politics.

Gathered on the hot steps of the Capitol, the group talked for almost an hour with Assemblyman William T. Bagley, R-San Rafael, about the need for more money to finance community colleges, bills to control campus disorder and the aging battle over flood control in Kentfield.

They also had 13 peppery minutes with Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, who became increasingly testy as several in the group pressed him to support a strong conservation bill to save the San Francisco Bay Conservation and Development Commission.

More than 200 persons had been expected to join the caravan, according to advance estimates by the student who organized it late last week, Ronald S. Burk of San Francisco. He was home sick yesterday with the flu.

Burk also had invited students from other Bay Area junior colleges to come along, but none came. David R. Garber, coordinator of student activities at the Kentfield campus, blamed the poor turnout on a campus rally yesterday to oppose the flood control project.

Bagley, who was on the Assembly floor when the group arrived at about 12:30 p.m., came out 20 minutes later and explained he could stay if someone could offer him some lunch. One of the pretty miniskirted girls promptly passed him a paper bag filled with rolls and salami.

"We have bread and butter, instead of martinis like the lobbying groups," said Mrs. Joan Jencks of San Francisco, a history teacher, "and pretty girls and sunshine."

To entreaties that colleges get more state money, Bagley contrasted the critical need for more money to help urban schools. "If you've only got so much money in the well, it's got to come to a question of priorities," he said.

"You're dealing with all the forces of society up here, and with some damned smart guys and some real dodderheads — and I'm talking about my colleagues — and you can't make changes overnight," he said.

"Under the present atmosphere and the fiat of the administration that there be no increase in overall taxes, more money from the present sources ain't in the cards," Bagley declared.

The answer is to "restructure the tax structure," he said, to shift the tax burden to the broader bases of sales and income taxes. "The property taxpayer isn't about to pony up more money," he said.

Some students, who mostly listened attentively and said little, interjected that "the corporations and churches have the coin — they're getting away with murder."

About half the group snickered when Bagley objected to this assertion. He dismissed suggestions that heavy new taxes be levied on businesses, saying "we're not constituted to do business that way."

Heavy taxation of businesses would "either drive them out of the state or into the ground," Bagley said. Also, heavy taxes would mean California businesses would not be able to compete with those in other states, he added.

When Bagley pressed one student to elaborate on his statement that "more and nore the corporate interests are taking over the smaller businesses," the student cited the disappearance of corner groceries as an example of monopolistic manipulation.

Discussing the hoard of bills to control campus disorder, Bagley said that "most of us are resisting the pressure from the public to react regressively — at least many of us, and I hope most."

Asked to seek a halt to the flood control project in Kentfield, Bagley said he could not promise to do anything "in all sincerity."

"Frnakly, sir, we'd rather have your insincere support instead of your sincere silence," said on student.

With a promise to inspect the construction soon, Bagley returned to the Capitol.

As soon as McCarthy appeared, a petition was thrust at him by Judy Gartman of Mill Valley, a communications teacher. The petition supported strong legislation to ensure permanent, tough controls on bay filling.

McCarthy, author of a bill conservationists assert would emasculate bay fill controls, hotly refused to sign the petition, saying it would "take land away" from tideland property owners.

"I'm very interested in conservation," he declared, adding that "without me" most of the state parks in Marin would not have been established.

"I'll vote to continue BCDC," he said, "but won't vote to give power to override local government."

Asked to help halt the flood control project, McCarthy said "I don't like to see concrete ditches, but I also do not want to see those houses in the area flooded again."

McCarthy bristled when several students disagreed with him about the creek project. "Wait a minute, don't get excited — I'll walk right out of here," he threatened.

Asked to discuss his views on how to raise more money for higher education, McCarthy said he favored "a basic tuition." This brought gasps from the group.

The brief meeting with McCarthy ended when a student asked him if he would not be "hurt financially if bay fill were prevented."

McCarthy, who last month told the Independent-Journal that his family owned business 1,000 underwater acres off San Rafael, denied the suggestion by the student, Ronald L. Davis of Fairfax.

"I don't know who has been spreading that propaganda," McCarthy declared, adding his family business had "fixed up" the Loch Lomond area which previously was "just a dumping ground for old tires."

"There's no conflict of interest, if that's what you're driving at," McCarthy said to Davis. "If anyone is putting that in your brain," McCarthy said in a rising voice, "you'd better wash it out of your brain."

Then he strode back into the Capitol.

The students, many of them at least as skeptical about politics as when they arrived, went home.

Session Reset By Park, Rec Panel

Marinwood Parks and Recreation commissioners did not meet last night because several members, including recreation director William A. Gordon, could not attend. Gordon is on vacation in Hawaii.

The next meeting will be held on Monday at 8 p.m. in the community center.

Novato Students Antidrug Policy Tentatively Voted

A drug policy that would permit the immediate suspension and possible ultimate expulsion of a student involved in the use, possession or sale of marijuana or other drugs was tentatively approved last night by the Novato Unified School District board.

Chairman Dan H. Barber voted against approval but only because he thought full approval should be given so school authorities would be sure of the district's guidelines in drug cases. Other trustees, however, agreed to the tentative plan which was sent back to a special drug study committee for its reaction.

The plan approved last night is not so strong as the citizens committee originally had recommended but which had been challenged by the American Civil Liberties Union and the North Marin Council Parent-Teacher Association, according to James G. Bunker, district superintendent.

The new plan limits the jurisdiction of school authorities to on-campus and school-sponsored functions at both elementary and secondary schools. The policy calls for a hearing of accusations by an administrative advisor committee, including on the elementary level, the student's teachers and school psychologist and on the secondary level, the vice principal, dean and the student's counselor.

The advisory committees could recommend anything from readmission to regular classes to expulsion, transfer to another school, assignment to continuation education or suspension for the student.

The final decision would have to be made by the school board and announced in public session.

The guidelines provide for the immediate suspension of a student involved in a drug case, until some other disposition has been made of the case.

Students accused of a drug violation would request an open or closed hearings and be represented by counsel.

The drug policy approved by the trustees last night was reviewed and declared legal by Asst. County Counsel Richard V. Godino.

Novato Unified School District Board Also:

MINIPARK — Again disapproved Novato Federated Women's Clubs proposals to install benches and a drinking fountain on Grant Avenue frontage of the Marion School grounds, denying that sale of the land for commercial development is imminent.

PAY — Approved a California School Employees Association request that all personnel working five or more hours at district schools be paid on a 12-month rather than 10-month basis.

SALARIES — Received for information purposes the CSEA requests for a 5 per cent cost of living increase in salaries and increases in health and welfare benefits from $10.54 to $20.54. Also received a CSEA request for initiation of a professional growth program for classified personnel which would provide professional improvement increments of $60 per year every five years.

MONEY — Approved an application for $20,300 in federal funds for a mentally retarded project and $23,732 for an expanded speech and language programs for kindergartners. Also approved a request for $16,455 grant from the Babcock Fund for a health education program to be conducted by the district's nurses.

CONTRACTS — Approved renewal of the district's contract with KQED for $3,200 and authorized school officials to renegotiate a contract with Indian Valley Golf Club for the use of its golf course by high school teams.

RESOLUTION — Aprroved granting two telephone easements in connection with the widening of Wilson Avenue.

PERSONNEL — Approve hiring for the 1969-70 school year of Sharon Acton, physical education teacher, San Marin High at a salary of $9,095; Drew Hall, fourth grade, Pleasant Valley School at $8,740, and Elaine Wells, San Ramon School at $7,021. Resignations were accepted from Douglas Briggs, Rancho School; Dorothy Fong, Loma Verde School; Catherine Detweiler, Sinaloa School; Noah Kennedy, Novato High School, and Betty Kirby, Park School. Four leaves of absence were granted and tenure was granted to 62 teachers.

NEGOTIATIONS — Met in closed session to give instructions to the board's salary negotiators.

Fair-Marin To Rent Temporary Office Space

Fair-Marin directors, who just hired a $16,000-a-year manager, will rent temporary offices at Northgate Industrial Park and hire a secretary within the next few days.

The directors, headed by Harold Stockstad, voted to rent an office for six months at $128 per month including utilities.

Stockstad announced he will make a report on May 19, giving an estimate of what buildings will be needed in addition to the veterans memorial auditorium, the costs involved, and the revenues expected.

Fair-Marin has committed itself to raising $455,000 to provide movable seats and stage fixtures in the auditorium, and the county's capital improvement program for the next six years provides for a total outlay of $505,000 for landscaping and parking in the 80-acre fairgrounds area.

Woman Fair From Overdose Of Pills

A 30-year-old Fairfax woman was reported in fair condition and improving today in Marin General Hospital after taking an overdose of pills Thursday.

The victim, Marcia W. Newland of 351 Olema Road, had been brought to the hospital from a San Rafael area motel in serious condition.

Alto Sanitary Panelist Quits

Alto Sanitary District board secretary Robert Black last night announced his resignation from the board because he is moving out of the district, director Carl A. Heynen Jr. reported.

Heynen said the board is now accepting applications to fill the vacancy.

Directors also approved the Mill Valley master sewer plan in principle, Heynen said.

The First 120 Days— Assessment Of New Board

Political pundits have been busy of late assessing the first 100 days of President Richard M. Nixon's administration.

Marin's three new county supervisors have been in office a little longer than the President, having been seated Jan. 7. As they reach the end of their first 120 days, perhaps assessment is in order here too.

Having a brand-new majority on the board of supervisors is an unusual experience for Marin. However, the new board has taken no giant step in its first 120 days.

Let's look at what the new members have done, taking them alphabetically:

PETER R. ARRIGONI JR.'S first action was to urge legislation to eliminate the June primary for county offices when there are only two candidates. His fellow members agreed.

On Feb. 18, Arrigoni and another of the new members, Michael Wornum, tried unsuccessfully to block the 1.15-per-acre density pattern for West Marin. They wanted it lowered.

Arrigoni's motion on March 18 brought unanimous vote to condemn 24 Bolinas Lagoon tideland acres for county park use. He got unanimous support March 25 for asking the Bay Area Transportation Study Committee to recommend freeing gasoline tax funds for financing public transit.

On April 15, the board passed an interim ban on new logging operations renewed by Arrigoni after he had tried unsuccessfully a week earlier.

On March 18, Arrigoni tried with no support to revive the once-rejected proposal that the county put up the money to place Tamalpais Creek drainage in an underground channel.

On April 29, he moved that the county halt Army Corps of Engineers work on Tamalpais Creek, despite warning by chairman John F. McInnis that this would make the county liable for $175,000 and maybe more as a contract breaker.

LOUIS H. BAAR on his first day in office won unanimous approval for a $2,000 appropriation to clean up Waldo Point rubbish, coupled with a week's notice to residents to do their share.

He had no luck with a Jan. 16 proposal that the supervisors be furnished photographs of those applying for welfare aid. On Jan. 21, he fought unsuccessfully against large pay raises for court reporters, and having lost that fight, moved a larger pay raise for the court commissioner.

It was Baar who moved the 1.15 density for West Marin. But he failed in March to win approval of his proposal to add two public members of the county team negotiating with employee unions.

It was on Baar's motions that the board approved a $97,534 program, (mostly federally financed) to improve police-community relations, and that it asked legislation to put Bolinas Lagoon under county control.

Baar suffered a major defeat April 18 in his attempt to oust Paul C. Zucker as planning director, when veteran William A. Gnoss joined the other two new supervisors in voting to retain Zucker.

MICHAEL WORNUM hit the headlines Jan. 21 with his proposal, approved unanimously, putting the county on record against ABM sites in Southern Marin. On Feb. 18, he succeeded in getting the board to rescind a permit it had granted three weeks earlier for a 224-foot pier with a house on the end in Tomales Bay.

It was Wornum who moved on April 22 that the board ask that pay for its members, the county auditor and district attorney be raised by the legislature. He got no dissent on that.

A week later, he joined Arrigoni in voting to stop work on Tamalpais Creek, despite county contractual responsibility. Baar and the two veteran members scotched that.

Wornum has missed three sessions of the board during his first 120 days — on Jan. 28, March 11, and April 8. Arrigoni was absent on March 11. Baar missed part of the Jan. 28 session.

The Nixon administration has been criticized by some of those pundits for its slow progress. Compared to the new Marin County Board of Supervisors, it looks rather speedy.

McCarthy Bill Would Create New Bureaucracy—Of Builders

By PAUL E. PETERZELL

Some awful gaudy turkeys get dressed up each year as legislation. Sen. John F. McCarthy, R-San Rafael, has one that would tax a huge chunk of California's citizenry to promote the housing industry.

His bill (SB 819) would create a California Residential Building Board of Trustees composed of nine members elected entirely by builders throughout the state. There would be no members to represent the public.

The board would be empowered to levy an "assessment" of .1 of one per cent of the value of "the construction or improvement of all residential buildings." This would include any building used as a dwelling by one or more families.

McCARTHY'S BILL declares that "the efficient production and improvement of housing is vital and necessary to meet California housing needs."

The powers of the board include a provision that it could undertake any "activities which the board may determine appropriate for the maintenance and expansion of present markets or the creation of new and larger markets for residential buildings."

The lobbyist who wrote the bill and had McCarthy introduce it insisted that the tax "would be a cost of doing business." Technically, it would be a fee paid by the builders, not the consumers. But he conceded it was likely the cost would be passed on to the consumers.

THE LOBBYIST, Paul N. McCarron, executive vice president and general counsel of the California Builders Council, said the proposed board would pool information on housing needs so builders would know where the markets were for their products.

The present lack of reliable housing statistics, he said, "creates hazards to investors in the business." But just whom the statistics would benefit is not clear, since the bill states that "all information obtained by the board from local agencies shall be confidential and shall not be disclosed, except when required in a judicial proceeding."

Asked why the building industry could not form its own association without using the state's power, McCarron said "some would not participate without the state's blessing on it."

WHILE ON the subject of what's good for people, we should take note of a report by a government scientist that sonic booms from supersonic aircraft are good for houses.

J. H. Wiggins Jr., who led government tests of the booms, said they actually lowered the rate at which structural defects show up in houses. He said the most likely explanation was that the shaking relieves accumulating stress.

He did not say what the booms do for the occupants of the invigorated houses.

WHAT OUR READERS SAY

Let's Go All-Out Against Moths

We have lived in Sausalito since 1943. When we came here thousands of filthy bees swarmed over our flowers, stealing the nectar and being a dangerous nuisance. The Independent-Journal ran several items on this horrible situation, especially about our elite and aristocratic yacht owners, who alleged that the hippy-happy bees polluted their rarified atmosphere and deposited huge amounts of bee guano upon their sacred catamarans. Fortunately, our city All-Fathers reacted promptly and passed a memorable ukase forever banishing nasty bees from the environs of our fair hamlet. . . .

In 1943 we were infested with as many as six squirrels, 30 quail, screech owls, hoot owls and other varmints. Local peace officers even shot squirrels and screech owls out of trees to protect and preserve the peace and quiet of us lower animals. The all-wise A.F.'s also banished mules and goats, creating a vacuum which was quickly filled with blue jays, pigeons, dogs and hippies.

Recently the Independent-Journal ran a picture of another vacuum filler — oak moths — which appear to have survived their natural enemies which we lower animals have destroyed. So, prodigious amounts of insecticides (oak-moth selective, of course) will now be sprayed on a few oak trees, but only on city streets.

The present plan is discriminatory, in that only a relatively few oak trees would benefit. Treatment that is good for one oak tree is, obviously, good for all oak trees. Therefore, I suggest a comprehensive plan to include all oak trees and every square inch of Marin County in one massive attack on Lower Animal's perpetual enemies. By buying a thousand times the present quota of "selective" oak moth insecticides, a huge saving would surely result. Maybe even triple stamps as a bonus?

I further respectfully suggest that one all-purpose insecticide dispenser be permanently installed on the silly elephant in our happy-hippy narcesis fun park and operate automatically—around the clock.

In case this mild treatment doesn't produce the desired results, another even more economical method has been peromical method has been perfected. According to reports there may be excess amounts of so-called "nerve gas" stored in Utah and other "selective" hiding places. It is reputed to be effective on sheep. It might be the answer to the yellow jacket-oak moth problem. Maybe there will be a surplus sale?

Early one morning during the recent duck migration season, I noticed about 500 filthy ducks flying over Lower Animal's Bay. They were immediately followed by at least five other flights. This is outrageous! I dread to think of the results to the upper-crust Lower Animal catamarans anchored right in the line of flight. Bad scene, Dad!

Letters to "What Our Readers Say" are welcomed. Only letters with signatures and addresses will be considered. Please keep them under 200 words. We reserve the right to cut letters.

Drastic measures must, and shall, be taken.

Will Of People —And Power Plays

I recently sat through a session of the Marin County Board of Supervisors (April 29) and listened to a conglomerate of quite nattily dressed "establishment" people, fuzzy-haired hippies and some ordinary college kids, all of whom said they represented "the will of the people." What they wanted was for the board to tell the Corps of Engineers that the contract for flood-control work on Tamalpais Creek in Kent Woodlands should be breached.

Now, this contract was entered into only after many and lengthy public hearings. The work to be done was approved by the county, and a legal and binding agreement had been signed. Nevertheless, the conglomerate, not satisfied with the results of the full democratic process, had sought to impose its contrary will by conducting a sit-in at the creek. Several were arrested. Then they went, not once but twice on the same day, to the board of supervisors. They weren't on the agenda — they just walked in and started making demands.

Fortunately, three of the five supervisors (Chairman McInnis, Supervisor Baar and Supervisor Gnoss) recognized the situation for what it was — another in the rather tiresome series of power-plays we have all been witnessing or reading about during the past few years — and stood their ground. The pressure play failed, and the conglomerate left the room, muttering that "the will of the people" had been frustrated.

I didn't think so. My will certainly hadn't been frustrated. In fact, I was glad that a majority of the supervisors had shown they had the courage to say that a legal contract would be honored, that an agreement once reached would not be breached, and that the presumptions of a small group (or a group of any size, for that matter) would not be construed as a mandate from the rest of the citizenry . . .

Some of us still appreciate and approve of honoring our commitments, the most vociferous among us are not necessarily the most representative, and we like our elected officials to act in accordance with their conscience and best judgment rather than in response to the clamor of a crowd.

TRY AND STOP ME

By BENNETT CERF

A DEAR LITTLE old lady entered a suburban bungalow and found a lad of four in sole possession, playing with the usual replicas of lethal weapons. "You don't know me," beamed the old lady, "but I'm your grandmother — on your father's side." Without looking up from his arsenal, the lad replied, "I'll tell you right now: you're on the wrong side."

A celebrated Parisian doctor named Flambeau once invited novelist Alexandre Dumas to dinner, then asked him to autograph his copy of "The Three Musketeers." "But of course," agreed Dumas, and began his inscription. "Since the famous Dr. Flambeau began practicing medicine in this section of Paris they have demolished the hospital . . ." "You are too kind," beamed the doctor. Then Dumas added, ". . . and on its site created a cemetery."

New Chief Justice Must Suit Dirksen

By ROY McGHEE

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In the next few weeks President Nixon will make what may be the most significant appointment of his Presidency: the new Chief Justice of the United States.

Chief Justice Earl Warren has announced his intention of retiring at the end of the current term of court in June.

Warren's earlier plans to retire went awry when President Johnson's nomination of his close friend Abe Fortas to the post ran into obdurate Republican and southern Democratic opposition in the Senate.

Senate veterans credit much of that opposition with Johnson's failure to observe one of the fundamentals of executive-legislative protocol: checking to make sure a nominee will not encounter insurmountable opposition either in a Senate committee or on the floor.

ONE OF THE key men President Nixon is almost certain to check with before sending a nominee for chief justice to Capitol Hill is Everett M. Dirksen of Ollinois, GOP leader in the Senate.

Dirksen has emerged as the apparent power on appointments and undoubtedly will be consulted before any choice is made for Warren's successor. So far his claimed track record in getting his way is unbeatable.

Consider:

President Nixon forced the resignation of Clifford L. Alexander, the young Harvard-trained chairman of the Equal Employment Opportunity Commission, after Dirksen only threatened to get him fired.

William J. Driver resigned as head of the Veterans Administration even though he had some assurances from the Nixon Administration he would be retained. The reason: Dirksen claimed he found Driver playing politics with the VA and demanded his scalp.

Dirksen let the White House know he opposed the appointment of Dr. Franklin Long as director of the National Science Foundation because the Nixon "team" is for deployment of an antiballistic missile system and "Long was against the team" on the issue. Nixon withdrew the offer, then reversed himself but Long finally turned it down.

Appointment of Dr. John Knowles of Massachusetts as assistant secretary of Health, Education and Welfare has been held up and perhaps blocked for good because of Dirksen's opposition.

THERE ARE THOSE who doubt Dirksen's opposition was the sole reason some of these nominations failed to be made, but he undoubtedly was a factor.

Dirksen's influence is not all negative. He also successfully promoted a Chicago constituent, Robert A. Podesta, as assistant secretary of Commerce. And if Otto Otepka is eventually confirmed as a member of the Subversive Activities Control Board, it will in large measure be because of Dirksen's insistence.

That influence may well be paramount in the nomination of a new chief justice. Dirksen is the ranking Republican member of the Senate Judiciary Committee.

If Johnson failed to consult with Sen. James O. Eastland, D-Miss., chairman of the committee, before nominating Fortas, it's almost a dead cinch Nixon will consult Dirksen before nominating Warren's successor.

Echo Of Middle Ages In Troubles Of Ulster

By PHIL NEWSOM
UPI Foreign News Analyst

The story belonged to the Middle Ages but the time was now.

It could be told in terms of the poverty of the six counties of Northern Ireland and the indifference of the British parliament.

It could be told in terms of deep religious differences between Ulster's Protestant majority and the Roman Catholic minority.

It also could be told in the words of its participants.

IN BRITAIN'S House of Commons, a 21-year-old Irish redhead, Bernadette Devlin, rose to deliver her maiden speech.

"There is no place for us, the ordinary peasant, in Northern Ireland because we are the have nots and they, the society of landlords are the haves," she said.

Commons, which has turned its back on problems of the north since the division of Ireland in 1921, cheered when she concluded.

"A speech for human freedom," declared a British Broadcasting Co. commentator.

"Unconstructive," said a portion of the British press.

IN BELFAST, a disheartened Capt. Terence O'Neill announced his resignation as Ulster's prime minister.

"I have no regrets for six years in which I have tried to break the chains of ancient hatred," he said. And he told his supporters, "Do not be dismayed. What you and I were trying to do together is right."

What he had tried to do was to push through the North Ireland parliament reforms ending discrimination against Roman Catholics in matters of jobs and housing, and political gerrymandering which permitted Protestants to retain control even in districts with a heavy Catholic majority.

Militant extremists in his own party, the Unionist, brought him down.

OF NORTHERN Ireland's 1.5 million inhabitants, two thirds are Protestant and make up the backbone of the Unionist party which has ruled ever since the northern counties elected to stay within the United Kingdom.

Critics declare that it has used religious differences to keep a few aristocrats in power.

Poverty lends further urgency for action to which Bernadette Devlin was trying to stir the British parliament. In Northern Ireland the average weekly wage is $45 compared with $55 in England. Unemployment is 6.7 per cent against 2.2 per cent.

O'Neill's resignation means that the reforms he sought—even that of one man, one vote—are further away than ever.

Bernadette Devlin declares that "the one common point among all Ulstermen is that they don't like Englishmen telling them what to do."

But she sees no hope in the North Irish parliament and even she believes now it is time for Britain to take over.

WORTH SAYING AGAIN

I have found some of the best reasons I ever had for remaining at the bottom simply by looking at the men at the top.—Frank Moore Colby.

ART BUCHWALD: It's Easy To Understand High Arms Prices

WASHINGTON — One of the reasons the Military-Industrial Complex is catching it from everybody is that there seems to be a certain amount of skepticism regarding the price tags they put on our military hardware. Just the other day it was revealed that Lockheed promised to build 120 big air transports for a total cost of $2.9 billion. But now it turns out that the planes are going to cost $5.2 billion. And even for an apathetic taxpayer like myself, that seems like a lot of money.

I was shocked when I read the news, but that was because I have no idea how the military purchasing system works. Fortunately, I have a friend who deals with the government, and he explained it to me.

"YOU SHOULDN'T come to conclusions just because the C-5A transport cost almost twice as much as everyone thought it would. Anyone can make a $2 billion mistake. Nobody's perfect."

"I still don't understand it."

"Let me explain it to you. As you know, we build grommets for the military.

"Suppose they come to us and say, 'We understand the Soviets have a new grommet, so we have to have a new grommet, too.' Well, we tell them it won't be any trouble developing a new grommet. As a matter of fact, we've been doing research on new grommets and we already have one on the drawing boards which will make every other grommet obsolete.

"So they give us a contract to deliver 1 million grommets to them at 34 cents apiece, plus retooling costs, advertising, executive bonuses and a fair profit. This brings the grommets up to $1.50 each.

WE START with a prototype which has to be tested. Unfortunately, in the tests it turns out that the grommet expands when someone breathes on it. So we send it back to Research and Development. While they're trying to work the bugs out of it, we have to pay our workers to stand by the production line and this adds to the cost of the grommet. We inform the military the grommets will cost $5.50 each. They approve it, and finally we get what we consider an excellent grommet.

"We start production but when we send the first batch off, an Air Force general requests an extra grove in the grommet. We inform him that we will have to retool the entire factory and he okays it. The grommets now cost $19 each.

"SINCE THIS GROMMET is supposed to be used for the Navy as well, the Navy Research people scream that for their purposes the grommet has to have one less groove on it rather than one more. So we have to retool two production lines, which sends the cost of the grommet up to $30.

"With the new specifications, our engineers discover that the Air Force grommet screws on too tightly and the Navy grommet can't be screwed on at all. So we have to develop a special screwdriver to be issued with each grommet, which brings our costs before we take in a labor strike, to $103.30."

"That's a lot of money for a grommet."

"Not necessarily. Any defense contractor will tell you there is no price you can put on gromeets when the national security of the United States is at stake."

I-J REPORTER'S NOTEBOOK

By LARRY D. HATFIELD

In Marin One Gets Involved Even In Sex Life Of Equisetum

Consider the sex life of the equisetum. Or lack of it.

A Stinon Beach wild flower type made an innocent remark the other day that equisetum conducted their sex life under water.

This reporter, being very innocent about such things, innocently reported the fact. After all, we had only been introduced to the equisetum — which always before we'd called a horsetail — and knew virtually nothing of its private life.

The result has been a minor botanical brouhaha among the flora experts of Marin County, the number and varieties of which are as many as the number and variety of wild flowers (including horsetails, which are ferns, not flowers) in the county.

FIRST, WE WERE informed by a fellow worker — who usually knows about these things — that the equisetum is homosporous and asexual. This sent us scurrying to the dictionary and as nearly as we can translate Webster that means the horsetail reproduces by dropping spores and is, indeed, asexual.

We were staisfied to leave it at that until Katherine Cuneo, a San Rafael teaching consultant in the natural sciences, called to say not only were we wrong in saying the equisetum's reproduction was done under water ("a splash would suffice"), we were wrong in identifying two different looking equisetums as a boy horsetail and a girl horsetail.

She agreed with our earlier informant that the horsetail was asexual and reproduced by spores (sporadically?).

She explained that what we called a girl horsetail was a sterile vegetative branch and the one we called a boy was a fertile branch of the same generation. This latter, Mrs. Cuneo explained as she quoted from Haupt's "Plant Morphology," produces spores asexually through cell division. They fall off and germinate into tiny plants called gametophytes.

This is where the water comes in. The gametophytes produce sperm and eggs and the water — a little or a lot — carries the sperm to the egg, making a new plant grow, thereby creating the second plant in a single life cycle.

INTRIGUED NOW because this latter seemed to fit our family life education's definition of a sex act, we tooled on over to the library to do more research.

The San Rafael Library is a wonderful place but the information we found was not entirely adequate.

Hylander's "The World of Plant Life," for example, said that equisetums mingled in Paleozoic forests with Lepidodendrons and Sigilarias but added nothing further about their social lives.

Botanist Anthony Huxley, whose book we looked at because of the name of the author more than the title "Mountain Flowers," also had nothing to say except that they were spore bearing.

THIS LED US to call a friend and well-known botanist at the University of California at Berkeley who first put us off by pleading, "Please don't get me involved in one of your Marin County nature arguments. Everybody over there knows too much."

Pressing — and promising not to reveal his name or his further opinions on the degree of knowledge of Marin nature experts — we got him to say of Mrs. Cuneo's observations: "Morphologically speaking, she is right, of course, up to a point."

As our sinking feeling grew that we had gone in over our heads even if the equisetum doesn't, he continued: "The fertilization of the egg by the sperm in gametophyte is certainly a sexual experience."

He added that if we wanted to really split hairs — or spores — we might build at least a case that would satisfy the ordinary nature watchers like this reporter that there were also boy equisetum and girl equisetums.

We didn't. "It can get even more involved than that," he was saying as we hung up.

St. Raphael's Gift Shop Is Looted Of Items

Five burglaries were reported during the weekend, San Rafael police said yesterday.

Burglars took $4 in change and 20 barbell chains from the St. Raphael's Gift Shop, 1104 Fifth Street, between 5 p.m. Saturday and 9 a.m. Sunday.

Ramona Cora Wayland of 304 Mission Avenue, said burglars took antiques, silverware, jewelry and money, valued at more than $1,000, from her home between 1:30 and 9:30 p.m. Sunday.

After drinking a glass of wine and eating some potato chips, burglars took a six pack of beer from the L'Europe Restaurant, 2214 Fourth Street, between midnight and 2:30 Saturday.

A radio telephone, valued at $400, was taken from a boat owned by Edward R. McClellan, 368 Corte Madera Avenue, Corte Madera, moored behind Chanel Boat Sales, 115 Third Street, between 5 p.m. Thursday and 8 a.m. Friday.

Burglars took $149 in receipts from Baskin-Robbins 31 Ice Cream Stores, 909 B Street, between 10:30 p.m. Friday and 10:30 a.m. Saturday.

The first student newspaper in America appeared in 1777 in the William Penn Charter school in Philadelphia. Called "The Students' Gazette," it was started by some boys without the help of a teacher and ran through 60 issues.

Work Program Confab Thursday

A meeting of the black community, to discuss the Bay Area Construction Opportunity Program, will be held Thursday from 7 to 9 p.m. at the Manzanita Center in Marin City.

The Independent-Journal reported in error last Friday that the meeting would be on Wednesday (tomorrow).

The gathering is intended to acquaint the entire black community with the program, and is not limited to young people who may wish to apply for apprenticeships, stressed Ray White of San Rafael, Marin chairman for the program. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

Health Care Sharing Is Asked By Reagan

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—Gov. Ronald Reagan wants some of the patients receiving publicly financed medical care to pay part of their health care costs.

The Republican governor yesterday sent a special message to the Legislature urging its approval of measures designed to clamp the lid on the rising costs of public medical care programs.

He called for passage of legislation by Sen. John L. Harmer, R-Glendale, to require recipients of health care services to pay up to 20 per cent of the cost if they have cash assets exceeding $300.

"Such cost sharing will tend to reduce unnecessary use of health care services, saving both money and manpower," Reagan said.

Part of the Harmer legislation is a resolution asking Robert H. Finch, secretary of health, education and welfare, to adopt regulations allowing states to implement the cost sharing of health care expenses.

In outlining his health and welfare program to the Legislature, Reagan described goals of the program this way: "Life preparation for the potentially self-sufficient and life protection for the permanently dependent, the aged and the disabled."

He asked the Legislature to approve a bill by Sen. Robert S. Stevens, R-Los Angeles, which would require families with large incomes to contribute to support of their disabled children. He estimated the bill would save $7.8 million a year.

The governor also backed the so-called lien law which he said would save $30 million a year by providing that aid paid to adults be considered a lien against any property owned by them.

More Tear Gas Uses To Senate

SACRAMENTO (UPI)—The Assembly yesterday voted to permit more law enforcement officers to use tear gas and require all of them to be trained in its use.

The lower house, on a 67-1 vote, approved a bill by Assemblyman W. Craig Biddle, R-Riverside, which also restricts the types of tear gas that can be used in California.

The measure, which was sent to the Senate, expands the group presently authorized to use tear gas to include the state police, reserve auxiliary officers, marshals, constables, narcotics agents, fish and game deputies and others.

Present law also gives such authorization to full-time police and sheriff's deputies, highway patrolmen and Department of Corrections personnel.

When a stork lands on the rooftop of an European home, it is considered a good luck omen.

SACRAMENTO SUMMARY

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Senate Passed

Texts—Deletes requirement that the series of textbooks adopted by the state Board of Education for use throughout the state be uniform (SCA11—Rodda, D-Sacramento. 30-3. To Assembly).

Children—Revises total monthly income permitted for admission to a children's center from $463 to $510 where one parent with one child is the sole wage earner and from $648 to $713 where both parents with one child are working. (SB39—Carrell, D-San Fernando, 21-14. To Assembly).

Transit—Provides that if bonds for a rapid transit district require voter approval of other than 66 2-3 per cent, that percentage shall also apply for special benefit district bonds. (SB621—Mills, D-San Diego. 25-6. To Assembly).

Organs—Permits relatives of a deceased person to grant use of his organs for transplantation by telephone or telegraph rather than only by a written document. (SB526—Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. 33-0. To Assembly).

Guns—Includes frame or receiver of pistol, revolver and firearm capable of being concealed upon the person within definition of such firearm for regulatory purposes. (SB650—Beilenson, D-Beverly Hills. 29-2. To Assembly).

Sausalito Council To Discuss Noise

Discussion of neighbors' complaints of excessive noise from A. G. Schoonmaker Co. will be continued when the Sausalito City Council meets at 8 p.m. today in City Hall.

The council also will hold a public hearing on proposed prezoning of the American Distillery property outside the city limits.

Four Hearings Scheduled By Novato Planners

The Novato Planning Commission has set four public hearings for 8 p.m. May 12 at the community building to consider various use permit and variance requests.

One request, from Robert M. Nave, asks for a use permit for a new delicatessen and meat market in the Nave Shopping Center on the west side of South Novato Boulevard, south of Centerroad.

Ben Cantarutti is requesting a use permit for erection of a concrete building in the Novato Auto Mart subdivision on Highway 101 to be used as an electrical contractor's shop and electrical fixture wholesale house.

Dotson Builders, Inc. is asking for a variance for an excavation behind a proposed convalescent hospital at Hill and Indian Valley roads.

The fourth public hearing will be on the proposed amendment of the Novato zoning ordinance to change the zoning for the Los Robles Mobile Home Park on Bel Marin Keys Boulevard from mobile home park to planned residential.

$6,000-A-DAY FINE ADVANCES ON POLLUTION

SACRAMENTO (UPI) — A bill imposing a fine for $6,000 a day on persons who violate water pollution regulations was unanimously approved by the Assembly yesterday and sent to the Senate.

The bill by Assemblyman Carley V. Porter, D-Compton, also permits the attorney general to initiate action against polluters and prosecute violators.

It is supported by Gov. Ronald Reagan and the conservationist Sierra Club.

Water Board Review Of Salaries, Benefits

The North Marin County Water District board will review salaries and employee benefits at a meeting at the district office in Novato at 8 p.m. today.

The board also will review an engineering report on the development of Cypress Point and the proposed Stafford Lake county park plan.

Marijuana Case Probation Set

Nicholas Robert Miles, 32, of Mill Valley yesterday was placed on one year probation and sentenced to 20 days in jail for marijuana possession.

Judge Harold J. Haley of Marin Superior Court also declared the offense to be a misdemeanor.

Miles was arrested alongside Shoreline Highway March 17 when honking horns and backed up traffic led deputies to his stopped car. He allegedly told the deputies that he had lots of marijuana at his home, where officers later found two pounds of the drug.

Shoreline Schools Instruction Study

The 1969-70 instructional program for Shoreline Unified School District will be studied by district trustees at the school board's 8 p.m. meeting tomorrow in the district administration office at Tomales.

The board also will adopt the 1969-70 school calendar for the district and consider employment of personnel and extra duty positions and salaries.

The Board of Supervisors of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District do ordain as follows:

SECTION 1. CORTE MADERA CREEK ENCROACHMENTS

Sub-Section 1.01 — Permits
Sub-Section 1.02 — Application Conditions
Sub-Section 1.03 — Removal of Encroachments
Sub-section 1.04 — Supervision
Sub-Section 1.05 — Maintenance and Repair
Sub-Section 1.06 — Abutting Owners
Sub-section 1.07 — Design Standards
Sub-section 1.08 — Existing Facilities
Sub-Section 1.09 — Other Permits

1.01 — PERMITS: The Director of Public Works may, upon filing of an application therefor and payment of a $10.00 fee, issue written permits authorizing a permittee to do any of the following acts within or upon the lands of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District adjacent to Corte Madera Creek:

a) Installation of piers, catwalks, or docks;
b) Installation of floats;
c) Installation of gangways;
d) Storage of water craft;
e) Surface improvements such as lawns, parking or landscaping;
f) Building overhangs or balconies;
g) Bridge crossings;
h) Utilities
i) Other improvements which can be shown to the satisfaction of the Director of Public Works, as not interfering with the use of the channel rights of way for flood control purposes.

No encroachments shall be allowed unless a permit is secured as provided herein, except that the $10.00 fee may be waived for a public agency.

1.02 — APPLICATION CONDITIONS: The provisions of this ordinance shall apply to the lands, easements and rights of way of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District adjacent to Corte Madera Creek along the following channel reaches:

1) CHANNEL REACH ONE includes the reach of Corte Madera Creek from Corps of Engineers' Station 166+00 (approximately 4,000 feet easterly of Highway 101) to the Bon Air Road Bridge.
2) CHANNEL REACH TWO includes the reach of Corte Madera Creek from the Bon Air Road Bridge to Corps of Engineers' Station 318+50 (the Stilling Basin).

The exact location of Corps of Engineers' stations along the channel and theoretical channel cross sections, shall be determined by the Flood Control Section of the Marin County Department of Public Works.

If the applicant's property or the proposed encroachment lies within the boundaries of any incorporated city, the applicant must secure the written approval of that city before the encroachment permit will become effective. The Director of Public Works will not issue any encroachment permit until the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, San Francisco District, has approved such encroachment, in writing.

Any permit issued pursuant to this chapter shall require that the permittee pay the entire expense of replacing existing facilities, if required, and may impose such other conditions regarding the location and the manner in which the work is to be accomplished as the Director of Public Works deems necessary for the protection of Flood Control, the navigable waters of Corte Madera Creek or related public purposes.

1.03 — REMOVAL OF ENCROACHMENTS: All permits shall require that whenever future improvement or maintenance of Corte Madera Creek necessitates the relocation or partial removal of an encroachment, the permittee will remove or relocate the same at his sole expense. In such cases, the County Director of Public Works shall serve a written demand upon the permittee, by mail, addressed to the permittee at the address shown on the permit, specifying the location of the encroachment to be removed or relocated and fixing a reasonable time within which the work of removal or relocation must be completed.

All permits are revocable upon thirty (30) days' notice and the encroachment must thereafter be removed or relocated as specified by the Director of Public Works.

Should the owner of said encroachment fail, or refuse, to remove it within the time required by the Director of Public Works, it may be removed at the order of the Director at the expense of the owner.

Should the Marin County Director of Public Works determine at any time that an emergency exists the Director may, without notice, remove or have removed any encroachments deemed necessary to alleviate the emergency condition.

1.04 — SUPERVISION: The Director of Public Works may, but is not required to, supervise any work done under a permit issued under the provisions of this ordinance. In appropriate cases, as determined by the Director, a bond may be required to insure completion of said work.

1.05 — MAINTENANCE AND REPAIR: The permittee shall be responsible for maintenance and repair of any works for which a permit was issued. Should any work constructed under the permit become defective through lack of proper maintenance, or any other reason, such defects shall be considered as sufficient reason for revocation of the permit.

1.06 — ABUTTING OWNERS: Only those applicants whose property abuts, or public utility companies and other public agencies, whose easements intersect, District land bordering Corte Madera Creek may be entitled to a permit. No other person, firm, or corporation, shall be issued a permit encompassing said applicant's water frontage.

1.07 — DESIGN STANDARDS: Applicants shall submit detailed drawings to scale, as required by the Director of Public Works, showing the nature and extent of the proposed encroachment. Said drawings shall show plan, side and end views.

All encroachments shall be designed and constructed in conformance with sound engineering practice and shall be subject to the following criteria:

I. WATERWAY ENCROACHMENTS

A. PIERS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than forty (40) pounds per square foot.

B. GANGWAYS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than thirty (30) pounds per square foot.

C. FLOATS
1) Minimum width shall be sufficient to allow two people to pass abreast.
2) Live load design shall be not less than twenty (20) pounds per square foot.

D. ANCHORAGE
1) All waterway encroachments shall be securely anchored by piling, stays or a combination thereof.

II. LAND ENCROACHMENTS

A. SURFACE IMPROVEMENTS
1) In CHANNEL REACH ONE all surface improvements shall be located at or below the theoretical cross-section grades of the flood control channel.
2) In CHANNEL REACH TWO no surface improvements shall be allowed inside the right of way lines unless the applicant can adequately demonstrate to the Director of Public Works and the Corps of Engineers that such encroachment will not interfere with the flood control channel or the maintenance of said channel.

B. BUILDING FOUNDATIONS
1) No building foundations of any kind shall be allowed within the right of way.

C. BUILDING OVERHANGS
1) In CHANNEL REACH ONE building overhangs and balconies will be allowed within a 12 foot wide strip adjacent and parallel to the right of way lines provided that a minimum vertical clearance to elevation +18.0 feet MSL is maintained.
2) In CHANNEL REACH TWO no building overhangs or balconies will be allowed to encroach on the right of way.

D. BRIDGES
1) Bridge crossings must meet all Corps of Engineers' flood control requirements, Coast Guard navigation requirements, as certified by those agencies in writing.

E. UNDERGROUND UTILITIES
1) Pipe lines and other underground works must be a minimum of three feet below the theoretical cross-section grades.

F. OVERHEAD UTILITIES
1) Overhead lines, if allowed, such as electrical and telephone, must meet the State Public Utilities Commission and State Division of Highways clearance and construction standards, as certified by those agencies in writing.

1.08 — EXISTING FACILITIES: All existing facilities within the right of way lines, which were installed prior to issuance of a permit hereunder shall conform to the requirements of this chapter within one year from the effective date hereof. Facilities which are determined to constitute a hazard to navigation, flood control, or maintenance of the channel, by the Board of Supervisors or fail to comply with this chapter shall be removed upon order of said Board.

1.09 — OTHER PERMITS: Issuance of a permit under this chapter shall not relieve the applicant of the responsibility of acquiring permits from other agencies, including, but not limited to:

a) City or County zoning, use permits, building permits, variances, etc.
b) Coast Guard bridge permits from Bon Air Bridge and downstream thereof.
c) Corps of Engineers' navigation permits for all other work from Bon Air Bridge and downstream thereof (as differentiated from required Corps of Engineers' flood control letters of approval of all work, including bridges, proposed within the entire reach of the flood control project).
d) Public Utilities Commission permits.
e) Encroachment permits or easements from other public agencies or private interests.

SECTION II

If any section, subsection, clause, or phrase of this ordinance is for any reason held by a court of competent jurisdiction to be invalid, such decision shall not affect the validity of the remaining portions of this ordinance. The Board of Supervisors hereby declares that it would have passed this ordinance and each section, subsection, sentence, clause, and phrase thereof, irrespective of the fact that any one or more sections, subsections, sentences, clauses or phrases be declared invalid.

SECTION III

This ordinance shall be published once before the expiration of fifteen (15) days after its passage, with the names of the supervisors voting for and against the same, in the Independent-Journal, a newspaper of general circulation in said County of Marin.

PASSED AND ADOPTED at a regular meeting of the Board of Supervisors of the Marin County Flood Control and Water Conservation District, State of California, held on the 29th day of April, 1969, by the following vote:

AYES: SUPERVISORS — William A. Gnoss, L. H. Baar, Peter R. Arrigoni, Michael Wornum, John F. McInnis

NOES SUPERVISORS— None.

ABSENT: SUPERVISORS — None.

Pulitzer To Los Angeles Times For Public Service

NEW YORK (AP) — For the third time in 27 years the Los Angeles Times has won a Pulitzer Prize for public service.

The 1969 award, announced yesterday, was for an expose of corruption which led to a shakeup of the Los Angeles city government and three convictions for bribery.

William Tuohy, 43, a Times correspondent, won the prize in international reporting for combat coverage in Vietnam—bringing the newspaper's total of Pulitzers through the years to seven, including three since 1966.

The prize for news photography went to Edward T. Adams, 35, of the Associated Press for his picture of Brig. Gen. Nguyen Ngoc Loan, the South Vietnamese national police chief, shooting a Viet Cong captive in the head with a pistol. It was the 23rd Pulitzer Prize for Associated Press staffers.

The fiction prize was won by N. Scott Momaday, 35, a Kiowa Indian, for his book "House Made of Dawn." Momaday is the first known member of his race to win a Pulitzer.

Playwright Howard Sackler, 39, won the drama prize for his Broadway play "The Great White Hope," based on the life of onetime heavyweight boxing champion Jack Johnson.

Norman Mailer, previously best known for his novel "The Naked and the Dead," shared honors in the general nonfiction category with Dr. Rene Jules Dubos, Rockefeller University microbiologist. Mailer was honored for "The Armies of the Night" and Dubos for "So Human an Animal."

All individual winners, including co-winners, receive $1,000 apiece. The Los Angeles Times award is a gold medal.

Pulitzer winners are selected by the trustees of Columbia University with the help of an advisory board.

Journalism winners for 1969 included:

Local reporting—John Fetterman, 49, of the Louisville (Ky.) Times and Courier-Journal, for the story of the return of a Vietnam veteran's body to Hindman, Ky.

Local reporting, special—Albert L DeLugach, 43, and Denny Walsh, 33, for investigative reporting in the St. Louis Globe-Democrat of fraud in a steamfitters union.

National reporting—Robert Cahn, 52, Washington reporter of Boston's Christian Science Monitor, for a series on national parks.

Editorial writing (over a period of time)—Paul Greenberg, 32, Pine Bluff (Ark.,) Commercial.

Cartooning (over a period of time — John Fischetti, Chicago Daily News.

Swim School Appeal Lost In 2-2 Vote

A controversial swimming school in a residential area of Glenwood lost out last night when the San Rafael City Council deadlocked 2-2 on an appeal. (Another San Rafael City Council story, page 1)

Their non-decision after a two-hour public hearing, in effect left standing planning commission denial of a use permit for Mrs. John Del Prete to give lessons at her home pool at 46 Brentwood Avenue.

Councilmen Frederick C. Robbins Jr. and John A. Miskimen voted to deny Mrs. Del Prete's appeal of the planning commission denial, but Councilmen HarryA. Barbier and Fred E. Jensen voted against denial.

With Mayor C. Paul Bettini absent, the council was deadlocked and attorney James M. Fletcher asked that the appeal be considered by the full council, but to no avail.

City Atty. David Menary Jr. explained that three votes were needed for action, and therefore the planning commission decision stands.

The hearing, mainly a rerun of last month's hearing before the planning commission, found some close neighbors and homeowners associations objecting, and many residents backing the school.

There were three petitions, bearing 340 signatures, and nine speakers backing Mrs. Del Prete's school.

Opposition came from the directors of the Glenwood Homeowners Association, Loch Lomond Himeowners, and five neighbors, including City Planner Herbert G. Hotchner, who sat in the audience during the hearing rather than his seat alongside the council table.

The Golden Hind Project: London Negotiations

LONDON (AP) — A San Francisco businessman arrived in England yesterday to negotiate with a British shipyard for construction of a full-scale replica of the Golden Hind, the ship used by Sir Francis Drake for his round-the-world voyage in 1577.

Arb Blum, of Mill Valley, who heads a San Francisco public relations firm, said the ship would be sailed to America for display as a tourist attraction in San Francisco.

Blum, who has formed the Golden Hind Corp. in partnership with Albert Elledge, a San Francisco shipping executive, is negotiating with the J. Hicks and Son Shipyard for construction of the Golden Hind. Hinks recently built for Hudson's Bay Co. a replica of their first trading ship.

Blum said the Golden Hind would cost about $500,000 to build.

Thomas T. Storer, San Rafael attorney and former Marin County supervisor, who was one of the original promoters of the Golden Hind project, said yesterday that he had sold his interest in it.

Panel To Study Safety Barrier

San Anselmo School District trustees will hear a request from Mrs. Gerald F. Burroni of 5 Grove Hill Avenue that a safety barrier — rather than three iron posts — be erected at Sonoma Avenue and Sir Francis Drake Boulevard near Isabel Cook School.

The trustees, meeting at 7:30 p.m. today in Red Hill Intermediate School, will also hear a report on expected income and expenditures for 1969-70 and a request from Max Eastman for two added tennis courts at Hidden Valley School.

Teen Dance Set

A dance for teen-agers over 15 will be held at the Church in Ignacio from 8 p.m. to 11:30 p.m. Friday. The dance will feature the rock bands Pyewacket and Kindergarten and a light show by the Light Factory.

Service Citations To Chiesa, Brusatori

San Rafael City Council last night voted special commendation to Police Chief Charles J. Chiesa and Deputy Chief Joseph J. Brusatori for 30 years service with the police department.

Chiesea has been chief since 1959 when he was elected to the post, defeating his former boss, Frank Kelly. He will complete 30 years service May 18.

Brusatori, former juvenile officer, was named assistant chief by Chiesa in 1959. He will complete 30 years of service Thursday.

The San Rafael City Council also:

INSURANCE OFFICE — Gave first approval to rezoning of 1.89 acres on Northgate Drive, west of Faith Lutheran Church, from unclassified to administrative-professional for central offices of Western Travelers Life Insurance Co.

Celtics Remain On Top Of Basketball World

LOS ANGELES (AP) — The reign of the Boston Celtics continues in the National Basketball Association and frustration remained the key word for the Los Angeles Lakers today.

The well-balanced Celtics defeated the Lakers, 108-106, in the seventh and deciding game of the series last night. They did it on the friendly home court of the Lakers at the Forum before a record Forum crowd of 17,568.

It marked the 11th time in the past 13 years that Boston carried off the NBA championship, and the sixth time the Lakers came up short against Boston.

Capt. Elgin Baylor of the Lakers summed it up very well when he said, "It becomes very discouraging the way Boston seems to tantalize us and then always come through in the clutch. They outplayed us in the third quarter and took the game away from us."

Player-coach Bill Russell of the winners, having made this his 11th winning season, took it all calmly—but happily.

"Comradeship, friendship, teamwork—that is the Celtics," said Russell.

Boston's John Havlicek put his team in front in the opening seconds and the Celtics were never behind from there on. Los Angeles tied it at 2-2 and then 4-4 on shots by Jerry West and Wilt Chamberlain.

Boston led by as much as 14 points in the first quarter but Los Angeles kept clawing back and trailed by only 59-56 at the half.

One minute 50 seconds into the third period Keith Erickson's free throw tied it up at 60-60 and it appeared the Lakers might roll on.

The hope evaporated as Havlicek, Don Nelson and Sam Jones, the latter playing his final game, put 11 points on the scoreboard in a matter of minutes and cruised out in front, 71-60.

"I think the turning point, came at this point," said Havlicek. "They came on strong but we put together 10 or 15 points."

Going into the fourth quarter, it was Boston, 91-76.

"We had opportunities all over the place," said Laker coach Bill van Breda Kolff, "but we just couldn't do it. I really thought we had a chance to win it in the beginning of the third period because we were getting good shots, but the game just turned around instead. The ball just appeared to bounce their way."

But the Lakers weren't dead as ol' Sam Jones said later, "They just kept coming back."

West, apparently not bothered by a pulled hamstring in his left leg, accounted for 14 points in about five minutes to narrow the Celtic margin to 103-100.

But Larry Siegfried, Nelson and the awesome Havlicek stormed back to put the game really out of reach, 108-102, with less than 24 seconds remaining.

West won the Sport Magazine award—a Dodge R-T car — as the outstanding player of the series. His 556 points in the prolonged NBA playoffs bettered the 521 set by Rick Barry, then of San Francisco's Warriors, three years ago.

Said West, "The award should have gone to a player on the winning team."

The consensus: Havlicek.

JIM GILMARTIN

Hector Shows He Can Still Run Fast Race

FAST GENERATION? — Willie Hector of the Tamalpais High School faculty is one teacher who can keep up with the present fast generation. In fact, he's a step or two faster. No Willie Nilly is Willie.

The head football coach at the Mill Valley school recently was challenged to a 600-yard foot race by a speedy sophomore student named Pat Gibson, who had been clocked over the distance at 1 minute, 27 seconds.

The very athletic Willie, a former professional grid star, readily accepted the challenge but asked for a week's training time. "Actually," he explained, "I wanted to lose some weight and figured this was a good way. I weighed 232 pounds when I started training and got down to 217 the day of the race."

Crowd Of Students On Hand

At the appointed hour, Hector and young Gibson met on the school track and were slightly amazed that a crowd of between 400 and 500 students turned out for the event. Official track meets don't draw that well, let alone a dual race. "There must have been a lot of wagering doing on to draw a crowd like that," laughed Hector.

Anyhoo, at the bark of the starter's gun young Gibson got off to an early lead and held it most of the way. But Hector, the "old man" carrying the honors of the teaching profession, turned on a burst of speed at the homestretch to win it. He was clocked at 1:21.5, Gibson at 1:23.

All I can say is that youngsters who challenge their teachers might end up losing their faculties.

Jogging Club In San Rafael

FEEL THE NEED for exercise? The San Rafael Parks and Recreation Department has organized a jogging club for men and women which meets daily, noon to 1 p.m. at Albert Park. Locker and shower facilities are available to those who would sacrifice their martini lunches for a bit of picking 'em up and putting 'em down.

HERE IS one 49er fan who thinks of everything. The San Francisco team's ticket manager, Pete Giannini, says he received a letter for season tickets which requested: "Please switch my seats to row 50 or lower. By the time the beer salesman reaches row 63 he's run out."

How true, how true, I said dryly.

Mrs. DiGrazia Wins Golf Tourney

Mrs. Ned DeGrazia took the putting title in the Oakview Rovers Ladies' Golf Club's medal play tournament at Peacock Gap Course in San Rafael yesterday with 33 putts.

Class A — Mesdames Bo Johnson, 102-27—75; Ned DiGrazia, 108-32—76.

Class B — Mmes. Ted Steiger, 112-36—76; Cliff Christison, 116-36—80.

Skating Club Comes Of Age

By GARY TISCHLER

The Marin Figure Skating Club, united in a sort of booster marriage to the Raydine Ice Skating rink in Corte Madera, appears to have come of age.

Saturday, the club will host its first competition and it won't be a game of tiddledywinks.

The Marin Figure Skating Club will host the Central California Inter-Club Figure Skating Championships at Raydine Ice Skating in a meet that will have some 130 entries from seven different clubs. It will begin early (7:30 a.m.) in the morning with compulsory figures and stretch through the late evening with free skating, which starts at 1 p.m. Competition will range from pre-juveniles to second test level. Clubs represented will be the Marin Figure Skating Club, the St. Moritz Club of Berkeley, the Crystal Springs Club of Belmont, and clubs from Walnut Creek, Burlingame, Sunnyvale, and Santa Rosa.

MEMBERS

Ray and Nadine Schramm, who own and operate Raydine's are members of the Marin Figure Skating Club but hold no office in it due to their special business status in relation to the club. As Schramm pointed out, "Without a cooperative rink management, the club could not survive" in any meaningful sense.

The club has used the Raydine rink since its opening in May of 1967 and before that was housed in the Schramm's San Anselmo rink in which Schramm says it would have been "impossible" to hold competition of this size.

The Schramms, in fact, gave the club its initial economic boost to help get it started and carry it through its infancy stage.

Nadine and Ray first became self-employed in 1954 after a long and rewarding career as members of the Ice Follies and Ice Capades, a career they "enjoyed tremendously."

"It was great fun while we were young and before children," Schramm said. "But it was show business — you were always on the road, your friends were of the moment. We much prefer the life we have now. We have solid roots, someplace to call ours.

McCovey, Bonds In S.F. Lineup

ST. LOUIS (AP) — The San Francisco Giants are hoping that Bobby Bonds and Willie McCovey can take the field tonight and help them break out of a three-game losing streak.

Bonds and McCovey left the lineup when the Giants were tied for first in the National League Western Division — McCovey with a bone chip in his hip and Bonds with a bruised forearm.

Now the Giants are 15-10 for the year and two games behind Atlanta.

Ray Sadecki, 2-2, should be especially pleased to have McCovey back as he faces St. Louis' Bob Gibson, 2-2.

McCovey has eight homers and 22 runs batted in and was voted the league's player of the month for April.

"I sure hope that Willie and Bobby will be able to play tonight," said Giants' Manager Clyde King.

"Willie says his hip is feeling better, that the cortison shots have taken hold, and Bobby — well, he felt so good yesterday morning that we decided to send him to a St. Louis doctor for additional x-rays on his forearm.

"Both Willie and Bobby will be written into the starting lineup. And I guess you understand why. You've seen us play without them."

Chub Feeney, Giants' vice president, was due in St. Louis to consult with King over who should be sent to Phoenix of the Pacific Coast League.

Kenny Henderson will come off the disabled list, putting the Giants one man over the active player limit of 25.

Three Tars On Baseball Star Team

Three College of Marin players were named yesterday to the Camino Norte Conference all-star baseball team, with another Tar making the second team roster.

Coaches of the conference met yesterday at De Anza College in Cupertino and picked the team, which included Marin outfielder Kevin Wilson, pitcher Mike Terry and catcher John Sjoblom. Third baseman Steve LeBeck of Marin made the second team.

Marin, runner-up to DeAnza in the baseball race, tied the Dons in number of players on the first team. LeBeck ended up as the Tars' leading hitter with a .339 average. Wilson batted .300 and Sjoblom was the home run leader with three. Terry had an 8-2 record and 2.96 earned run average.

Smart Attorney Saves Golf From Bulldozer

There are certain things in nature not meant to earn money—a brother-in-law, the railroad, the Post Office, minor league baseball. And a golf course.

Rich men keep golf courses the same way they do chorus girls. Historically, golf has been the most uneconomic use to which real estate could be put. Developers drool when they look at 200 sylvan acres in or near a metropolitan complex and its only utilization is a one-story game. They close their eyes, and they can see soaring apartment high rises with 20,000 people paying $500-a-month or condominium levies where you pay as much for a quarter of a floor as some people pay for a quarter of an acre.

THE PUBLIC links player has no chance in this equation. Even though golf club memberships currently sell for about the price of a castle in Wales, there is a wait-list. The public player can set his alarm for 4 a.m. on a weekend morning and motor out to the municipal course where he gets a place in line which may let him tee off by noon. If he is a "registered" player, he can dial his way through hours of busy signals and get his weekend starting time. Trouble is, there are 29,000 REGISTERED municipal players and capacity is 3,000 a day on a muni course.

GOLF IS running out of real estate faster than Mussolini did in 1945. The national average is one golf course to every 20,000 people. In Los Angeles, it's one golf course to every 220,000 people. Golf is going the way of wooden ships or knighthood. The bulldozer is birdie-ing all the holes.

INTO THIS situation fell William W. (Bill) Saunders, a 48-year-old Hawaiian-born Air Force (35 missions over Germany) veteran whose father, a doctor, took over the Sonoma Golf Club as part of a fee back in 1944. Cost of that 177-acre tract at that time: $55,000.

It was run hapazardly like all golf courses which traditionally have been modeled on the leisurely British medthods of gentlemen's clubs. It was run by part-time committees, and you all know the story that a camel was a horse made by committee.

BILL SAUNDERS, an attorney in Oahu then, was called in to take the financial humps out of the family camel. He found out two things: 1) That a golf course can be run to make money as a golf course, provided it is not run by the customers but by the owner; 2) golf is a mass market which is tapping only the top 10 per cent of its potential.

He began to set out to make golf courses as available as Howard Johnson's. His success attracted two golf course operators in Portland. Next, real estate developers, who put in golf courses as show windows, the way builders used to put in swan lakes, began to approach him to take over the headache of managing what they intended to be as self-tending as a sunset or view of the Grand Canyon.

SAUNDERS SET up a golf course management firm where he took a 25-year contract and 3 per cent of the gross, or 10 per cent of the net. Golf courses can be run in chains like Hilton Hotels, he contends, and his string now includes, besides Sonoma, Colwood and Meriweather in Portland; San Geronimo in Marin County; Whitney Ranch near Sacramento; San Ramon near Oakland; and the Corona National, Ontario National and Pomona National near Los Angeles.

THEY ARE geared to the semi-private player — the guy who has enough money to pay as he plays and support the peripheral operations of banquets and pro shops, but cannot set aside the cost of a home for the privilege. The idea of Mr. Richbricks holding up play for three fairways back while he, and his valet, scoured the rough for a cut-rate (and cut) ball did not appeal to Bill Saunders.

NEITHER DID the idea of a truck driver doing same. A few tricks of the greens suffice to speed up play: The opening hole has to be an easy par 4 ("Once you get the players off the first green, the flow is rapid, and they play faster when they play better.") Sandtraps are to catch only the good shooters, not the topped shots. Employees are given incentives from pro to waiter. The kitchen is made an easy par-4 to the dining room, too. Custard pie is not spilled all over the floor.

SAUNDERS, WHO bought nearly 1,000 tons of fertilizer last year, to say nothing of 150,000 pounds of seed and over 10,000 gallons of chemicals, envisions a nationwide chain of courses that will make a round of golf as easy to get as a hamburger. The nice part about it for the owner is, he still owns the land. And golfers can be as profitable as a herd of milk cows and a crop you don't have to hire migrant workers to pick clean.

Palmer Closing In On Berth For U.S. Ryder Cup Team

PALM BEACH GARDENS, Fla. (UPI)—Arnold Palmer is closing in on a Ryder Cup berth, a position that could make him forget his failure to win a major golf tournament this year.

The 10-man United States Ryder Cup team will face Britain in the celebrated international golf matches at Southport, England, Sept. 18-20.

At the latest count, Palmer has 119.50 points and is 12th on the list of leaders through the Byron Nelson Classic. The Latrobe, Pa., golfer picked up 33.50 points for finishing eighth in the Nelson tournament and third in the Tournament of Champions.

Jack Nicklaus leads the point parade at 293.03. Lee Trevino at 289.34; Billy Casper, 249.84; Gene Littler, 238.30 and Miller Barber, 202.84 round out the top five.

In the sixth through 10th places are Dan Sikes, 188.28; Ray Floyd 170.68; Ken Still, 165.20; Julius Boros, 146.99, and Dale Douglass, 143.95. Juan Rodriguez is 11th at 132.00.

Some 2,000 fans, in addition to ABC Television's Wide World of Sports, were on hand Friday night to cheer on the contestants and saw Duane (Tiny) Benedict of Livermore retain his title as the heavyweight world champion by defeating Larry Finley of Cotati in the finals. Ruth's Record To Stay At 714

NEW YORK (UPI)—Babe Ruth's all-time record home-run total was officially certified yesterday as 714 — the figure which has stood on the books since the former New York Yankee slugger retired in 1935.

A special Baseball Records Committee, which previously announced that a 715th home run by Ruth had been found by researchers, reversed itself and "restored" the mark to 714.

The homer in question, hit on July 8, 1918, was recorded as a triple because it knocked in a runner from first base with the winning run in the last half of the final inning. In those days, a player hitting a ball into the stands was credited with only the number of bases required to drive in the winning run in the last half of the final inning.

Oaks Dump Pacers, Take 3-1 Series Lead

INDIANAPOLIS (AP) — Oakland moved only one victory away from the American Basketball Association champin ship last night with a 144-117 triumph over the Indiana Pacers at Indianapolis.

The win gave the Oaks a 3-1 lead in the best-of-7 playoff series. he fifth game is scheduled tomorrow night in Oakland.

Warren Armstrong led Oakland's attack with 30 points, 18 in the third quarter. The Oaks outscored the Pacers 41-21 in the third period to clinch the game.

Oakland's Doug Moe was second scorer for the team with 27 points, Gary Bradds scored 26 and Lenry Logan 19.

John Fairchild led the Pacers with 18, followed by Mel Daniels and Bob Netolicky with 17 each.

Indiana Coach Bobby Leonard used his reserves most of the second half, holding down the normally high-scoring Daniels and Netolicky.

Power Boaters At Berkeley Y.C.

Several Northern California yacht clubs will have power boats competing in the Chester W. Nimitz Perpetual Trophy race Saturday at the Berkeley Yacht Club.

The event is the third of a series of seven races scheduled by the Northern California Predicted Log Racing Association.

Among other scheduled races on the slate for the power boaters include ones sponsored by Sausalito Cruising Club Sept. 27; Petaluma Y.C., Oct. 11, and Corinthian Y.C., Tiburon, Oct. 25

The New York Mets last season turned in eight shutouts in games where they used two or more pitchers.

French Sailor Reaches Tokyo

TOKYO (AP) — A 24-year-old Frenchman sailing a 9-meter sloop finished second in the 6,000-mile solo trans-Pacific race yesterday — 10 days behind the winner—and blamed "five days of windless weather" for the delay.

"I expected towin the race," Jean-Yves Terlain told a telephone interviewer today after finishing the race from San Francisco to Jogashima Island, south of Tokyo yesterday. "But five days of weather without any winds prevented me from sailing as planned.

NO WIND

"What could I do with no wind?" he asked. "I thought I like Eric Tabarly had it planned."

Tabarly carried out his prediction and won the race April 25. His yacht Pen Duck V had an official time of 39 days, 15 hours and 44 minutes for the crossing. Terlain's time in Blue Arpege was 50 days, 10 hours and 43 minutes.

Five yachts—each carrying just one man—started the race in San Francisco March 15. The yachts piloted by Belgian Rene Hauwaert and German Claus Hehner had not been sighted by today, a spokesman for the Art-Life Association of Japan, a race co-sponsor reported.

GOT SICK

American Jerry Cartwright, skipper of the fifth yacht, withdrew at Honolulu when he became sick.

"The voyage was excellent," Terlain said. "Aside from five days without any wind, the weather was very good . . . no storms at all during the 50-day voyage."

He said during the cruise he sighted about 15 ships which passed by without noticing his yacht.

DIARY

Asked if he felt any loneliness, Terlain, who placed 10th in the 1968 singlehanded trans-Atlantic race, said, "Not at all, I listened to music on my portable radio. But most of the time I spent writing a detailed daily account in my diary."

He said he hopes to have the book on the solo trans-Pacific yacht race published later.

The race for yachts 35 feet or shorter, was open to any person of any nationality—amateur or professionally—provided they were over 21 years of age and had previous singlehanded sailing experience over a distance exceeding 300 miles.

Tam Golfers Tighten Hold On 1st Place

Tamalpais High School's golf team tightened its grip on the Marin County Athletic League lead by blistering Meadow Club golf course in Fairfax with a 198 total to down Marin Catholic, 197-218 and push its league record to 9-0.

Meanwhile, second-place Novato lost its second in a row, 208-215, to Redwood, also at Meadow Club, and Marin Catholic, involved in a double dual meet, also lost to Drake, 213-218.

Top score of the day went to Marin Catholic's Glenn Campagna, who shot a one-over-par 37.

The results:

Tamalpais 197, Marin Catholic 218
Drake 213, Marin Catholic 218

Tamalpais Scoring — Steve Goldfien 38, Wayne Smith 39, Craig Smith 39, Jeff DeVoto 40, Dean Rider 41. FISH AND GAME

By AL GIDDINGS

Trout Season Opener Proves A Big Blowout

Trout fishing season opened Saturday with the heaviest winds ever for an opening day. Kent Lake for instance, was so windy that some anglers didn't get a hit even fishing at last year's hot spots. Some of the lakes that are difficult to reach in the National Seashore produced almost nothing.

Catches at Lagunitas and Phoenix lakes and Rodeo Lagoon were good early in the morning. I got up Phoenix and Lagunitas when the winds were howling and both parking areas were regular dust bowls, with some limbs off the trees falling around me.

I DID check two kids at Phoenix, Brad Herbert, a 14-year-old, who had a pip of a limit all about 12 inches long. He caught most of his fish casting a roostertail, which isn't what it sounds like exactly, but is a fairly new lure. Mike Alexander, his buddy, had nine beauties too, but was being wind blown out before getting his 10th fish. He said he used everything he had in the tackle box.

SOME FELLOW named Gary Morgan from Tiburon called me and said he had a 20-inch trout that weighed three pounds. He caught it, so he says, at Rodeo Lagoon. Now as I didn't see this fish, and most fishermen are you-know-what, so maybe the size of this monster was stretched a little. But just a little!

On the creeks, Simon Delena of Point Reyes Station was one of the few fellows I checked with a limit. Not bad fish, as he released some small ones to make his limit look respectable, but even his fish could stand a little stretching. Which I'm sure will be the case by the day after tomorrow.

DAVID DAUNELL and Scott Foster of Woodacre came home to the Foster residence with 5 trout from one of the small creeks at Woodacre. The fish were nice nine inch fish and the kids, who are both about eight years old, were highly elated.

Now Papa Enos Foster, a guy who can't pass up a good thing either hunting or fishing when he sees these little gems, turns to me and says, "Do you think the neighbors would laugh at me if I went fishing up that little creek with the kids?" I asked him if he had a license and it turns out he had forgotten to get the trout stamp needed for creek fishing. You never saw such a sad face, but I think those kids had better hurry back up there, or it may be all over by tomorrow.

OVER AT Stafford Lake, which is located on the Novato-Point Reyes Road, some surprises were in store for everyone. This is a North Marin Water District lake in which a Black Bass and Blue Gill fishery has been developed. It opened with the trout season. At the time of checking, with the help of the keepers there, we estimated that there were 520 anglers out. They had taken about 100 black bass, some to four pounds. About 500 blue gill were also taken and an estimated 150 catfish, some up to 12 and 14 inches long were also caught. In some of the coves, night crawlers were the best baits and in others, regular black bass lures. How did the catfish get there? It beats me! The limit on these in Marin County would be 20 per angler per day.

AS FAR AS other things go, it would be safe to bet that striped bass, sturgeon and salmon fishing was almost nil in the bay and the ocean. One thing, though, two of the Wardens did check an abalone bed and actually checked 17 limits. It's hard to believe with the ocean so rough!

PHOENIX AND Lagunitas lakes were planted each with 10,000 big trout and Rodeo Lagoon with 2,000. A Department of Fish and Game release today said that they will be stocked again this week, so with this windy weather keeping the catches down over this weekend, it looks like this week coming up should be excellent. Don't forget the limit is 10 fish and your license must have both stamps at these trout planted waters.

I THINK I will get that Enos Foster fellow and take him up to Lagunitas. With ten or fifteen thousand fish up there staring him in the face I bet he comes up with that extra two bucks for the trout stamps.

A's Take On Senators In Coliseum

OAKLAND (AP) — The Oakland Athletics, holding down second place in the American League Western Division, tonight meet the Eastern Division's second-place team, Washington.

Jim Hunter, 1-2, will pitch for the A's while Jim Hannan, 2-1, handles the Senators' mound chores.

Concerned about sagging attendance in the Oakland Arena, the A's hope the appearance of new Washington manager Ted Williams will help fill the Coliseum seats during the two-game series.

EXHIBITION

While all major league teams had an open date yesterday, the A's took on the University of California baseball team in an exhibition.

The A's won, 10-0, with 13 hits against seven Cal pitchers.

Jim Roland picked up the victory and Tom McAlone, the U.C. ace hurler, got the loss. The A's scored six runs against McAlone in the second inning, including a bases-empty homer by Sal Bando.

HOMERS

Rick Monday whacked another homer in the third and Reggie Jackson hit a round-tripper in the fourth, both solo blasts off Tony Murray. Monday and Jackson were two-for-three on the day.

Joe Nossek tripled in a run in the seventh and singled in another in the ninth.

Roland replaced Eddie Sprague for the A's in the fourth and John Wyatt moved to the mound in the seventh.

Attendance was 2,200.

Ex-Star Retzlaff Named Eagles' General Manager

PETE RETZLAFF
Succeeds Kuharich

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Pete Retzlaff, one of the all-time great pass receivers in National Football League history, is the new vice president and general manager of the Philadelphia Eagles.

The Eagles made it official at a news conference at 11 a.m. EDT, today, when they announced Retzlaff would work under a three-year contract in attempting to rebuild a team which has had four losing seasons in the last five

COACH NEEDED

The 37-year-old Retzlaff succeeds the recently fired Joe Kuharich as general manager.

His first job will be to name Kuharich's successor as coach, expected to be Jerry Williams, a one-time Eagles' star now coaching Calgary in the Canadian Football League, or Charley Gauer, a former Eagles' assistant coach.

Kuharich's 10 years remaining on a 15-year contract as general manager-coach, were bought out by new Eagles' owner Leonard Tose, Norristown, Pa. trucking executive.

Tose, who purchased the Eagles last week from Jerry Wolman for $16,155,000, is turning full operation of the Eagles over to Retzlaff, the former tight end.

The Associated Press learned Retzlaff favors Williams for the coaching job, but Calgary's board of directors has refused the Eagles permission to talk to Williams.

The board says Williams should abide by his four-year contract and remain with the Stampeders.

GAUER

If Retzlaff is unable to get Williams, the prime candidate for the position is Gauer, an offensive coach with the Eagles' 1960 title team.

A two-way end for the Eagles for three years after graduating from Colgate in 1942, Gauer returned as an assistant coach in 1954 and remained through 1963.

Retzlaff has been a television sportscaster here since retiring as a player two years ago.

Retzlaff was purchased by the Eagles in 1956 for the then $100 waiver price from the Detroit Lions.

He was a fullback at South Dakota State College before being drafted by the Lions, who converted him into an end.

Aqueduct Remains Closed

NEW YORK (AP) — A state legislator has suggested that the state government consider operating New York race tracks as Aqueduct remained closed today for the ninth straight day.

Horsemen are boycotting the track until there is action or sign of action on a bill that would have permitted four extra racing days in New York with the proceeds going to a pension fund for backstretch employes.

ATTACK

The legislator, Senate Majority Leader Earl W. Brydges, unleashed a strong attack on the strike yesterday in a statement at Albany, N.Y. He criticized the New York Racing Commission for what he said was its failure to take steps to end the boycott.

"Certainly there are measures which the NYRA could have taken up to this point and has not done. Nor has the NYRA given any firm indication that it intends to act."

Brydges said he thinks "that perhaps the NYRA has outlived its usefulness."

Aqueduct's closing is costing the state about $500,000 a day in tax revenue, it is estimated.

Brydges said he was concerned about this loss of state revenue and asserted the "demands of the horsemen amounted to blackmail and cannot be met."

'Long Hair' Discussion Is Put Off

Tamalpais High School District trustees did not discuss its policy on the length of athletes' hair last night since none of the interested parties seeking the change appeared at the board meeting.

Administrative Asst. Edward J. Neumeier said today that the subject was discussed yesterday morning by Gordon W. Pusser and Dr. William J. Filante, who seek the change.

They met with Robert Troppmann, director of athletics, and Donald Kreps, principal, both of Redwood High School, and County Counsel Richard V. Godino and announced afterwards that they might be able to work out the problems.

Neumeir said they agreed to meed again and asked the board to hold up any action on the Pusser and Filante letter.

Win Tight Game

Stan Pottinger hurled a three-hit shut-out to give the Harding Gophers a 1-0 squeaker over Cliff's Chevron in slow pitch action of the San Rafael Recreation Department Softball League at Albert Field.

The winner got only one hit. In another slow pitch game, Cal's Steakhouse topped Wright's Richfield 4-3 while the Refactory bombed Marin Supply in a C-II Division game, battering the losers for three homers.

SPORTS SHORTS

McCovey Wins Honors

CINCINNATI (AP) — Willie McCovey, the San Francisco Giants' power hitting first baseman was named the National League's player-of-the-month for April yesterday by a panel of baseball writers and broadcasters.

McCovey hit .315 during the month with eight home runs and 22 runs batted in. He was named on 37 of the 60 ballots.

Cleon Jones of the New York Mets, who hit .414 in April, was second with seven votes.

TENNIS

LISBON, Portugal — Manuel-Santana and Manuel Orantes of Spain defeated Frank and Allan Salomon of Rhodesia, 6-3, 6-3, 6-4 in doubles to give Spain an easy 3-0 first-round victory in the Davis Cup European Zone tennis competition.

BRIDGETOWN, Barbados — Rafael Osuna and Vicente Zarazua of Mexico beat Richard Russell and Alan Price of British Caribbean, 6-4, 9-7, 8-6 in doubles — to give Mexico a 2-1 lead in the North American Zone first round of the Davis Cup competition.

FOOTBAL

NEW YORK — Weeb Ewbank signed his third three-year contract, estimated at $5,000 as coach and general manager of the New York Jets of the American Football League.

BOWLING

MIAMI, Fla. — Mike Parznosky of Hialeah, Fla., led the men's qualifiers for $65,000 All-Star Bowling Tourney with a total of 3,878 for 18 games while Dotty Fothergill of North Attleboro, Mass., topped the women with 2,538 for 12 games.

HORSE RACING

ALBANY — Galea Pass, $8.60, led all the way to win the $7,000 Bayview Scholarship Fund Purse at Golden Gate Fields.

PRO-YOUTH CLASSIC

Marin Golfers Invited To Tournament

Junior golfers from eight Northern California counties, including Marin and Sonoma, are eligible to compete at Napa's Silverado Golf and Country Club Monday, June 16, to qualify for a unique new national tournament — the Big "I" American Pro-Youth Golf Classic.

Entries for the event, which teams 60 boys 17 years old or younger with 20 top PGA touring pros in final rounds of the Proxy-Pro Classic in the Detroit area, Aug. 6-10, were invited today by Napa insurance agent Phil Harris, area tournament chairman.

Sponsored by the Napa County Independent Insurance Agents Association, the Silverado tournament is one of eight 18-hole qualifying events to be held throughout the state during the first three weeks of June. The 19 lowest scorers from each qualifying for the 36-hole, two-day State Finals in San Luis Obispo in mid-July, from which three winners will emerge to represent California in the 72-hole national championship.

Alcan Golfer of the Year and former Masters champion Gay Brewer Jr. has been named national professional director for the tournament, which offers $50,000 prize money to the pros and USGA-approved trophies, national recognition and unforgettable experience to the young amateurs.

"No other tournament in the world offers a boy the experience this one does," says Brewer. "A pro can win as much as $15,000 for playing 36 holes in the Pro-Youth Classic, but that's not important. What is important is the million dollars worth of satisfaction we professionals will get teaming with these great kids."

Chairman Harris points out that the Napa tournament is open to male amateurs who will not reach their 18th birthday by midnight, Aug. 31, and who are residents of one of the following eight counties: Del Norte, Humboldt, Lake, Marin, Mendocino, Napa, Solano and Sonoma.

Deadline for entering the Napa tournament is Monday, June 2, Harris warned, and a $2 entry fee has been set. Entry blanks are now being distributed to golf clubs, pro shops and schools throughout the area.

Marin Figure Skating Club To Host Meet Saturday

"The thing about show business is that you have to know when to get out. Most people who've been on the road wind up in stocks, insurance or real estate. You learn to put some money away for the day you quit."

The Schramms started out in Mill Valley and since then their rink operations have undergone three displacement,, from Mill Valley to San Anselmo to Corte Madera, as well as seven additions and enlargements.

With each addition to facilities, interest in skating has hiked upwards. Today, the Marin Figure Skating Club counts 68 members. From the beginnings of one junior hockey club, there are now three — bantam, peewee and beginners teams.

SELLING ICE

"We're in the business of selling ice," Schramm said. Not in chunks but in terms of space and rentals. Part of this is "public" ice, part of it private in terms of instructional uses.

"Interest in figure skating has to be pretty much of an educating process," Schramm said. "We had a nucleus of people from the East who were naturally interested. The rest, well, once they started, they just came back."

The Club runs the gamut of vocations and backgrounds, although among the adults, persons with medical backgrounds seem to have a special interest. But in the membership are also janitors, executives, postmen, a fire chief and white and blue collar workers alike.

"Skating is one of the cheapest sports a person can take up," Schramm said. "Of course, the expense goes up with the amount of time taken up by the sport."

For members of the Marin Figure Skating Club and their children, the first set of skates can be the beginning of stages of progress, learning and competition, which comes out to hours of work, needed parental encouragement, and a certain amount of fame.

"One of the primary values to a youngster who takes up the sport is that he learns to be a busy person." Schramm says. "He has to.

"Sometimes I don't know how some of these kids do it. They come here to practice, sometimes twice a day, three to six times a week, go to school, make excellent grades, do their homework and still find time for whatever else interests them."

To the children for whom skating becomes a matter of talent and drive, certain factors are at work.

"First of all, you have to have parental backing," Schramm explained. "It shouldn't be just a matter of dumping the kids off at the rink and getting rid of them. A parent should approve, come see them, compliment them. There's a fine line there. It doesn't involve pushing to an extreme.

"A child has to have talent of some sort, of course. And there should be a good student-instructor relationship. The student believes in the coach and vice versa."

SUCCESSFUL INVESTING

Comeback Seen For Gerber Products

By ROGER E. SPEAR

Q. In 1965 we purchased Gerber Products for the future schooling of our 4-year-old. Should it be held or sold at a loss? — W. L.

A. With a baby boom predicted for the 1970s, sale of Gerber would be ill-advised now. The company has certainly been hurt by the declining birth rate of recent years but has made several moves to counteract its somewhat static sales figures since 1964. These moves include expansion of its line of junior foods, acquisition of an infant apparel maker and entry into insurance. A major interest has also been purchased in a baby-sitter service. In an effort to control costs Gerber began packing its own meats in 1966, and will soon pack its own juices.

Q. Last year I bought Automatic Sprinkler at 55. It looked like a good growth stock, but unfortunately it kept dropping to new lows. Should I take the loss or hold for possible recovery? — R. A.

A. In 1967 Automatic earned $1.43; last year net was 10 cents a share on a 7.6 per cent gain in sales. The sharp decline was in large part due to nonrecurring problems: write-offs because of unexpected high costs on a contract, strikes at two divisions and development expenses at another division. Sizable backlogs in several divisions, a new president and emphasis on cost control will probably reverse the 1968 downtrend. I see no advantage in taking a loss at this time; however, full recovery may not be seen this year.

Valle Is Renamed Exchange President

The Marin Builders Exchange has re-elected Louis Della Valle, manager of Shamrock Materials, Inc., San Rafael, as president for the 1969-70 term.

Michael Brown of Tawns Electric Co. was elected vice president and H. C. (Jack) Jackson of Jackson's Hardware was named secretary-treasurer.

Heavy Trading Marks Wall Street Optimism

NEW YORK (UPI)—Stock market turnover swelled to more than 14,000,000 shares today as traders continued to run the list into higher grounds on hopes Vietnam peace negotiators in Paris were inching towards some constructive bargaining.

The UPI stock market indicator, measuring all stocks traded, was up 0.24 per cent on 1,575 issues on the tape. There were 755 advances and 587 declines.

IBM and National Cash Register added a few points among the electronics, but Motorola tended easier following an unfavorable earnings report.

RCA traded in a narrow range, mostly on the plus side. The company told stockholders at their annual meeting it expects record sales and earnings both for the first-half and full year.

Atchison, Topeka was a firmer rail, but Northwest Industries worked lower. American and KLM moved ahead in the mixed Airlines. Aircrafts also followed an irregular pattern.

Oils were mixed, although several issues picked up a point or better, extending yesterday's gains.

Steel Scrap Up?

CHICAGO (UPI) — Prices of steel scrap at Chicago have taken their biggest climb in 10 years, rising an average of $5 a ton. The spurt was attributed to special conditions at two local mills and was not expected to indicate a trend in the industry.

Court Postpones Stockholder Meeting

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — A federal appeals court had ordered a postponement of the Allis-Chalmers Manufacturing Co. stockholders meeting set for May 14.

The action was taken to give the court additional time to consider an appeal by Allis against the refusal of a lower court to ban White Consolidated Industries Inc. from buying additional Allis stock. White already has about a third of Allis' common but Allis claims its intention to buy more violates antitrust laws.

Dividend Set

EVANSTON, Ill. (BW) — Directors of American Hospital Supply Corp. have voted a regular quarterly dividend of 5.5 cents per share on the company's common stock payable June 23 to stockholders of record at the close of business May 30.

Sales Down

KANSAS CITY, Mo. (BW) — Sales for the fiscal first quarter ended Feb. 29 for Stuart Hall Co., Inc., amounted to $1,287,741, compared with $1,134,396 for the similar period the previous year, according to Charles G. Hanson, president.

$11 Million Home Development Partnership Is Announced

A partnership for the construction and sale of a $11.2 million, 320-home development on Tennessee Valley Road in Southern Marin has been formed by Allan Associates, Inc. of Mill Valley and Builders Resources Corp., headquartered in Los Angeles.

The development will be called Marin View and will feature two, three and four bedroom homes, many with outlooks on the bay. They will be planned by Fisher-Friedman Associates, will have natural wood exteriors, wood decks and patios and large window areas. In charge of planning and engineering is Kenneth A. Frost of Belvedere. Marin builder George C. Goheen will serve as consultant. Model homes are expected to be completed this summer.

Allan and Associates is located at 131 Camino Alto, Mill Valley and is headed by Alan R. Allan, who formed his building firm 15 years ago. He has completed residential tracts, commercial and institutional buildings, housing projects and subdivisions in several parts of the state.

Builders Resources Corp. was organized last year and has a regional office in San Mateo as well as in other areas. It is capitalized by eight corporations and provides up to 80 per cent of the equity capital for a project in return for a share of the profits.

ROBERT C. OEFINGER of Terra Linda has been appointed assistant vice president at the home office of Fireman's Fund American Insurance Companies in San Francisco. He is head of the technical services division in the management information services department. He joined American at Newark, N.J., in 1958 and came to the San Francisco office in 1965.

Pollack

Weerts

SOLOMON L. POLLACK of Tiburon, vice president of Information Management, Inc., San Francisco, has been named general chairman of the 1969 Association for Computer Machinery Conference and Exposition to be held in San Francisco in August.

REAL ESTATE. David R. Weertz of Sausalito, on a leave of absence for the past 18 months from the Home and Land Co. Mill Valley office, has returned to work. He would have stayed away a year longer but his ketch caught fire off the coast of Mexico and was completely gutted ... Grubb and Ellis Co. has opened a residential sales office in San Francisco at 2204 Union Street.

ADVERTISING ARTIST Syl Colla of San Rafael has opened offices at 425 Bush Street, San Francisco—moved from 325 Sacramento Street.

GEORGINA PRATT, technician for several years at Bay Histology Service, Northgate Industrial Park, has been appointed secretary-treasurer, replacing Elizabeth K. Lalor, who is leaving after eight years with the company.

Rolfs

Bassett

JOHN R. ROLFS of Sausalito, controller and office manager of Lennen and Newell Pacific, San Francisco, has been appointed a vice president of the parent corporation, Lennen and Newell, Inc. Before joining the company last Nobember he was a vice president and business manager of Dancer-Fitzgerald-Sample.

GLENN C. BASSET JR., senior vice president of Wells Fargo Bank, has been named a member of the national planning council of the National Planning Association. Before joining Wells Fargo he was with the William Wrigley Jr. Co. and the Chase Manhattan Bank.

To Build Plant

RALEIGH, N. C. (UPI) — Allied Chemical Corp. has obtained a 370-acre site at Moncure, N. C., for a new polyester fiber plant with an annual capacity of 80-million pounds. The plant will employ more than 600.

ARE YOU A PATSY FOR BURGLARS?
DON'T BE

DON'T leave keys under welcome mat, atop ledges, etc.

DON'T leave house in darkness. Use night lights.

DON'T neglect to report suspicious strangers in neighborhood.

DON'T forget to change locks when moving to new premises or after loss of keys.

DON'T forget to notify police when going on vacation.

DO ask for household inventory booklet from your local independent insurance agent, list household contents and you won't have to trust to memory if burglary occurs.

YOUR Independent Insurance AGENT SERVES YOU FIRST

Your Marin County Independent Insurance Agent is listed on Page 265 of the Yellow Pages.

ATTORNEYS
– you be the judge

The case: legal notices in the I-J vs those in any other publication in Marin.
The evidence: in the I-J an attorney's firm name goes into 45,000 homes daily. His name is seen, noted, remembered. In other publications his name is seen by but a fraction of the families who subscribe to the I-J.
The question: if you wanted your firm name to become familiar, to be REALLY known, which publication would you choose?
The judgment: "Are you kidding?" All of which demonstrates that a legal notice in the I-J is also a legal notice of YOU multiplied by 45,000. And that's kinda nice!
